PREFACE

Volume III is written as though it were a part of Volumes I and II.

The text of Volume III may be classified into two categories:

1. References to relatives identified in Volume I or II.
2. References to relatives identified only in Volume III.

Category 1 consists of corrections of or additions to information pertinent to the relatives mentioned in Volumes I and II. Each reference to any one or group of these relatives is preceded by a sentence in parentheses providing pertinent instructions or descriptions applying to the corrections or additions. This category requires that Volume III be read simultaneously with Volumes I and/or II.

Category 2 references are exclusive to Volume III. This information is independent of Volumes I and II. The page numbers in parentheses refer to the position the history would have had in Volume I and/or II if it had been a part of those volumes when they were published.

The page numbers of Volume III which begin with 1800 are referred to in the INDEX for Volume III. The page numbers less than 1800, whether with or without parentheses, refer to pages in Volumes I and II but are presented with revisions in the sequence of the same page or paragraph numbers in parentheses in Volume III.

The list of contributors of information for this volume of our family history is a long one. My lack of confidence in my pertinent records is reason enough for me to ask that you accept this general acknowledgement with my sincere thanks. I do thank my son, WILLIAM MESSERVE MAYNARD, for his generous share in meeting the cost of the donation of this volume to about 170 libraries nationwide. My interest in our genealogy gives me great pleasure from the renewal of contacts with relatives I've known in the past as well as joy in meeting, telephoning, or corresponding with newly discovered family members, no matter how ancient our nearest common ancestors may be.

Work continues on Volume IV of our family history. Any contribution from each of you related to corrections, additions or extensions of your family branches to the present time will be received with gratitude.

WILLIAM BENZ MAYNARD

DOUBLE DATING

Double dating is illustrated in the revised family table on page 1689 and 1690 in Volume III. The marriage date between Jonathan Cobb and Hope Chipman is written 1 March 1682/3; the dates of birth and death for Samuel Cobb are written 10 March 1662/3 and 8 January 1742/3 respectively.

The practice of doubling the year began in 1582 when the Calendar of the day was corrected by Pope Gregory XIII in an attempt to match seasons with constant annual dates. The change was adopted immediately by all of the Roman Catholic countries but it was not adopted by England until 1752.

The New Style year was to begin on 1 January, whereas the Old Style began on 25 March. The difference was given some attention in England and the American Colonies from 1652 to 1752 by the use of the double dating between 1 January and 25 March in each of those 100 years. Taking one of the examples above, 1 March 1682/3, according to the Old Style the year would be 1682 because the year did not close until 25 March. In the New Style, however, 1683 had already commenced on 1 January.

Another correction of the Calendar accommodated the error induced by the Julian year which then consisted of 365 days and 6 hours, and every fourth year of 366 days, a fraction too long. This caused one season to creep gradually into the next. In order to bring the Vernal Equinox on the 21st of March, the Pope struck out 11 days from September 1582 by calling 3 September the 14th. In order to perpetuate this position of the Equinox, the year was established at 365 days with a leap year of 366 days occurring every fourth year, but omitting this additional day 3 times in 400 years. This is accomplished by omitting a leap year on the turn of the century years not divisible by 400 rather than by 4.

The family number for the NETTER family is 51. The family number 201 for ANNA, derived from her husband, HANS STORZ, would regularly be discarded, but, since both wives of MARTIN NETTER are our direct ancestors, family number 402 and related numbers and progressions therefrom, derived from ANNA, are assigned to the MEYER family.

A rigger is defined in the dictionary as one who fits a ship with sails, shrouds and other rigging.

Among the records at Trinity Church, New York City, are the following:

"Lydia Franklin married John Williams on 27 February 1802 LYDIA FRANKLIN married JEDEDIAH MAYNARD on 21 November 1802."

Since the wedding date entered in the MAYNARD family Bible is 27 February 1802, the church entries appear to be transposed.

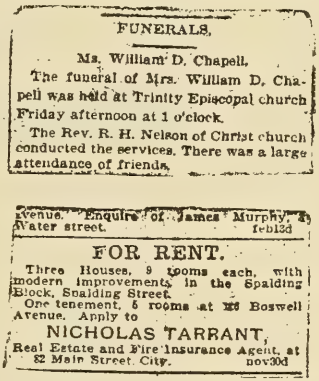
In response to an inquiry, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitten, Quaker Hill, CT, genealogist, provided us with some information about Lucinda and William in her letter dated 16 April 1985:

> "Regarding clipping of Mrs. William D. Chapel, the streets on the reverse are definately Norwich. In 1872 Norwich directory is a W. D. Chapell, boatman, 13 Asylum St. Neither are in Norwich Cemetery records (or surrounding towns). The marriage is not in Norwich Vital Records."

The clipping, including the reverse side, reproduced at the right, was found in a scrap-book compiled by Julia Barron Maynard.



FUNERALS.

Ms. William D. Chapell.

The funeral of Mrs. William D. Chapell was held at Trinity Episcopal church Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The Rev. R. H. Nelson of Christ church conducted the services. There was a large attendance of friends.

IN LOVING MEMORY 1920-1991

ARTHUR F. MAYNARD

Senior instructor Arthur F. Maynard began teaching at The Barn in February of 1949. He teaches the creative use of universal principles of painting. A graduate of Princeton with a masters degree from Harvard, his teacher was Frank Vincent DuMond, NA. During the last forty-plus years, Arthur has taught thousands of students, many of whom have gone on to become instructors themselves. They have won over 30 national awards and countless state and regional prizes. Arthur is an Honorary Life Member of the A.A.P.L., and a Life Member of the Art Students League of NY, where he taught for several years. His awards include a Gold Tercentenary Medallion from the State of New Jersey, the first Purchase Prize of the proposed Bergen Museum, awards at the National Arts Club, and, most recently, the DuMond Memorial Award in the Hudson Valley Show in 1989. Arthur's efforts have not been confined to teaching, however. In 1952 he originated the concept of the Sponsors Show and nurtured it to its present importance as the major source of financial support for the Institute. In 1958, he instigated, designed and was the major financial contributor in the construction of the West Studio and Gallery. In the fifties, Arthur also started the first young people's classes at The Barn. Children had not been admitted before this time. At present, he is trying to bring another 20-year dream to fruition with definitive plans of action — a new studio and much-needed office are under way.

ANNE HVAM

Anne Hvam will continue her class for teenagers on Saturday mornings. The class will explore the Prismatic flow of light in still life, portraiture, landscape and drawing. Born in Oslo, Norway, Anne attended the Rhode Island School of Design and has studied with Arthur Maynard at The Barn since 1980. She has been a free-lance illustrator for many years, and has received much recognition for her paintings as well, including the Best in Show Award, Englewood Cliffs Chamber of Commerce Show, 1982; The A.A.P.L. Graphics Award in the Grand National Exhibition, 1985; Best in Show, R.A.I. Regional Jury Show in 1986; the Windsor Newton Award in the R.A.I. Jury Show in 1987; and the Best in Oil Award in the N.J.A.A.P.L. Show in 1990. She is a Life Member of the Ridgewood Art Institute; a member of the American Artists Professional League; The Hudson Valley Art Association, the Miniature Art Society of N.J. and the National Museum of Women in the Arts. She has served on the Board of Trustees at The Barn since 1986. Her work is exhibited in collections in the United States, Canada and Europe.

United States of America.

Be it Remembered, That at a Court of Common Pleas, held at Allentown, in the County of Lehigh, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the United States of America, on the Eighth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred, and eighty seven Andrew Maurer exhibited a petition, praying to be admitted to become a Citizen of the United States, and it appearing to the said Court that he had declared on oath before the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of Northampton Pa. on the Seventh day of May Anno Domini 1885 that it was bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty whatsoever, and particularly to the Emperor of Germany of whom he was at that time a subject and the said Andrew Maurer having on his solemn oath declared, and also made proof thereof by competent testimony of John Waerner and Charles H. Frary citizens of the United States, that he had resided one year and upwards within the State of Pennsylvania, and within the United States of America, upwards of five years immediately preceding his application: and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court, that during that time he had behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same, and having on his solemn oath before the said Court declared that he would support the Constitution of the United States, and he did absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state and sovereignty whatsoever, and particularly to the Emperor of Germany of whom he was a subject

Whereupon the Court admitted the said Andrew Maurer to become a citizen of the United States, and ordered all the proceedings aforesaid to be recorded by the Prothonotary of the said Court: and which was done accordingly.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the said Court, at Allentown, the Eighth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty seven and of the Sovereignty and Independence of the United States, the One hundred and twelfth.

The account of the wedding between ANDREW and LYDIA cut from an unidentified newspaper reads as follows:

"A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH 5
ABELE, No.425 Turner Street, Allentown, at 8 oclock last even- 6
ing, when their daughter, Miss LYDIA A.ABELE, was united in marriage to ANDREW MAURER, Jr., of Bethlehem. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. C. Moyer, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical Church, in the presence of the parents and immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The newly married couple will reside at No. 24 Cedar Street, this place. The groom is employed as an electrician at the Bethlehem Steel Works."

JOSEPH ABELE MAURER
IN MEMORIAM

The world of classics suffered a great loss when Professor Emeritus Joseph A. Maurer passed away on April 1. An influential member of CAAS for more than a quarter century, he served the organization in many official capacities. His influence on the association as well as on the editorial desk of The Classical World will be felt for many years to come. He was the mainstay of the Department of Classics at Lehigh University for thirty years; he chaired the department from 1956 to 1975, when he was appointed associate dean for languages and chairman of the modern foreign language department. He was my friend since 1963 when he hired me as the first woman with faculty rank at Lehigh, thus according the department the distinction of being the first integrated department in its history.

Joe was born in the shadow of Nisky Hill in Bethlehem. As he liked to put it, he was born in Nisky Hill cemetery on September 29, 1911. Actually, he first saw the light in the caretaker's house, now demolished, that stood within the precinct. Perhaps this early antiquarian exposure gave him his first interest in inscriptions. After attending local schools, he made his baccalaureate at Moravian College (1928), earned his Master's at Lehigh (1936), and the Ph.D. in Classical Studies at the University of Pennsylvania (1948). His dissertation, A Critical Commentary on Suetonius' Life of Caligula, was published the year following. His colleagues often teased him about his choice of one of the more unsavory Roman emperors as his topic; Joe's reply was that the emperor Gaius' reputation suffered unduly over the years, and that, like Nero, his early years were not devoid of merit.

Early in his career, Joe served as Latin master at the Princeton Day School. He often spoke of the pedagogical value of this experience, particularly in that it taught him to realize the importance of giving students a sense of achievement. Consequently, when he came to Lehigh in 1949, he was already an experienced and superb teacher. Previously, he had been on the Moravian College faculty, and lecturer in New Testament Greek at the Academy of the New Church, Bryn Athyn, Pennsylvania. He succeeded the late Professor Earl Crum as chairman of the department at Lehigh, and carried out his administrative duties with great aplomb: he not only did things well, but he did everything on time. He soon became a Lehigh legend as the only chairman who cleared his desk every day before leaving the office. Somehow, he even managed to do this while editing and reading proof for The Classicial World. From 1968-71, while Joe was editor-in-chief, every issue of Volumes 62-64 appeared on schedule.

In CAAS, Joe held office from 1957 on: as regional representative from 57-60; as secretary-treasurer from 60-63. He organized the CAAS Placement Service and served as director pro tem from 63-64 while also vice-president; he became CAAS president in 64-65. During this period his accomplishments were legion. He saw to it that the Association was incorporated as a non-profit organization so as to ensure tax exempt status. This was done in New York State, and a permanent office was set up at Houghton College, Houghton, N.Y. Secondly, he insisted that the secretary-treasurer be bonded; this has been standard procedure ever since. Third, he instituted new, more rational accounting procedures with the assistance of Professor Francis M. Brady, Jr., of Lehigh's College of Business. Last, but not least, he arranged to have a CPA audit the treasurer's records at the end of each fiscal year.

Joe's record was equally distinguished in the Lehigh Valley. He organized a local classical league that acted as liaison between secondary schools and colleges, ran an annual contest for high school students and on-campus colloquia that served to give the department greater visibility. From 1959-63 he was a member of the Advanced Placement Latin Examination Committee; this body set the examinations used by CEEB in its advanced placement program. Several CAAS members will recall with pleasure the CAAS Latin Workshop at Lehigh in the summer of 1966; this was a successful and well-organized program under Joe Maurer's direction.

Joe had many strings to his bow, and his concern for excellence ranged beyond the field of classics. Historian, antiquary, numismatist, Latinist, yes, but also a music-lover and organist, an Isaak Walton, a gourmet cook with special expertise in ancient Roman cooking. He published articles in The American Organist, Music Journal, and American Guild of Organists Quarterly in addition to articles and reviews in classicial journals. He gave talks on and off campus on such topics as, "Ancient Science: How Ancient?", "Old Angles in Angling", "Sources of the Clitumnus".

One of Joe's colleagues called him a "polytropic personality", but of all his talents, he will be remembered best as an inspired and inspiring teacher. His courses in ancient history, always well attended, soon became a Lehigh tradition, especially the musical parody known as his "annual Christmas message", delivered to his Greek History class before the holiday break. In one of these, as I recall, he gave the ingredients for an unmentionable concoction known as "Spartan broth".

Lehigh University recognized his achievement in 1973 with the Senior Lindback Award for "distinguished teaching", and in 1977 honored his outstanding service to his college and university with the prestigious Hillman Award. After being elected an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa, Joe Maurer served as secretary-treasurer for the Lehigh chapter, and later in the same capacity for the entire Middle Atlantic District of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa (1970-76). He was an active promoter of the national classics honorary society, Eta Sigma Phi, a member of the American Philological Association, American Historical Association, Pennsylvania Classical Association, American Classical League and the American Association of University Professors.

Those of us who knew him and worked with him will remember him for his generosity, his kindness, his meticulous scholarship, his unfailing sense of decorum, and his keen sense of the comic. His contributions to classical studies accord him a reputation, as Horace would say, aere perennius. We owe him much, and we shall miss him.

A detailed account of the untimely death of Johann Georg, referred to as George, is copied from the front page article in "The Paterson Guardian" dated Friday Evening, December 11, 1903:

"GEORGE BENZ KILLED BY GAS

Family Returned From Musicale Found Him Dead

DUE TO AN ACCIDENT

Believed He Upset Gas Stove In His Room, Was Stunned and Escaping Gas Caused His Death—Other Members of the Family Had Spent Happy Evening at Piano Recital and Were Shocked at the Discovery.

After conducting a successful musicale at Orpheus hall last night, George Benz, Jr., and the members of his family returned to their home in Haledon to find the head of the household, George Benz, Sr., lying dead on the floor. 1

Early in the evening Mr. Benz told the family that he was not feeling well and would be unable to attend the musicale. His condition was not serious, however, and he urged the other members of the family not to remain at home on his account. He retired early, and it is believed that he awoke during the evening and unconsciously knocked over the gas stove and falling on the floor was stunned. The gas had been turned on and the connection was broken by the overturning of the stove. Mr. Benz was asphyxiated.

The discovery of the body was a severe shock to the family. Mr. Benz was engaged in the silk business in New York and was well known among silk manufacturers and silk workers throughout the East.

His son is a music teacher and organist of St. Mary church, Haledon." 1

The funeral notice in the same issue of "The Paterson Guardian" gives the residence of Johann Georg (George) and Marie (Mary) as Clinton and Barbour Streets, Haledon, NJ.

Almost a year later, on Saturday, 1 October 1904, Marie died at the age of forty-six and was buried in Laurel Grove Cemetery. Her obituary published in "The Paterson Guardian" on Wednesday, 5 October, mentioned that she was a member of the Germania Chapter, order of the Eastern Star.

In the obituary for Emily published in the Paterson Morning Call on 16 January 1948, it is stated that she was a resident of Haledon since 1887 and that she died at her home on 409 Roe Street, following a brief illness. Emilie was a charter member of the Haledon Memorial Unit No. 267, American Legion Auxiliary.

About two months later, Leonhardt died on 18 March at age 81. In his obituary published in the Paterson Morning Call on 19 March 1948, it is stated that he was born in Germany, but that he resided in Haledon since 1888, soon after his marriage to Emilie. He was well known among old time German singing societies in this area and was a member of the Exempt Firemen of Haledon.

According to her obituary published in the Paterson Morning Call on 21 July 1964, Matilda died at the Paterson General Hospital, and that, except for her birth in Germany and her short residence in Totowa, she lived most of her life in Haledon. Her home at the time of her death was at the old family homestead at 282 Belmont Avenue.

Less than four months later, John died at the Little Sisters of the Poor House in Paterson, NJ. According to his obituary, published in the Paterson Morning Call on 8 December 1964, John was born in Germany, emigrated to this country when he was fourteen years of age and remained in the Paterson area thereafter. He was a silk worker for Harris Brothers Silk Company until his retirement "12 years ago". (1952).

In the column entitled "Twenty-Five Years Ago" published in one of the newspapers of Paterson, NJ, on Friday, 15 January 1937, is the following reference to Otto for the date of 15 January 1912:

"Oil paintings by Otto Benz of North Haledon ---- were among the features of a hobby exhibit at Cedar Cliff Methodist Church in Haledon."

Two years later, in May 1953, the following excerpt from an article by Eric Opel was published in one of the Paterson newspapers:

"The pursuit of beauty has been a life-long sport with Otto and Marie Benz who have captured much of it on canvas and have also inspired their children to an appreciation of art.

They speak of beauty as a hunter speaks of hunting, and they go after it with the same enthusiasm, spending every spare minute searching out some otherwise unnoticed grace of form or color to be captured and shared with others.

Most of their output is in paintings which he does, but total credit must go to both, since she is his critic. She does more than criticize. He attributes to her his incentive to continue. She also designs the frames to enhance his pictures. Ceramic art and delicate pastels are her specialty.

The result has been scores of realistic scenes with occasionally a bit of skillful "editing" to emphasize the points of greatest value, as in the stringing of a clothesline, the placing of a tree where they don't actually exist.

There is no ugliness in their pictures. The sublimity hidden in common things is made to shine. They both love the outdoors. They have no car, nor do they need one. They have numerous friends who gladly exchange transportation for lessons in art and the appreciation of beauty. Besides, she is sure he would forget he was driving if he passed some interesting scenery.

They don't have to wait for the reward of their efforts. That starts when he sets up the easel, which draws a gathering of the curious, who quickly become friends of the Benzs through polite answers to questions and, on one occasion, the invitation to a little girl to swing a brush on a real oil painting.

Material rewards come too. Their work has won many prizes in exhibits and once in a while somebody buys a painting. The buyer has to be the salesman in those cases, because the Benzs do not like to part with the paintings and even keep them in removable frames to make improvements handier. If someone is determined to possess one they set a price they believe will scare him off. They lose some good pictures that way. Otto Benz is one of the three persons in this area listed in Who's Who in American Art.

Their conversation, although they are grandparents, has a youthful quality that keeps a visitor hopping mentally in the flow of ideas, which are seasoned with a sprightly humor. Lightly spoken, but sincere compliments pass quickly between them in the course of a conversation.

Both are self-taught in art. He was born in Paterson in 1882, grew up when artists were considered wild libertines, so he became a textile and wallpaper designer, which is still his livelihood. He has no artistic look. Wearing a neutral gray suit, a large collar and figured tie and high shoes, he looks more like a thin, cheerful bookkeeper. Time has etched only smile wrinkles on his face.

She has no wrinkles. Matronly of face and figure, she wears a wreath of thick, curly gray hair."

Additional history is found in his obituary published in the Paterson Morning Call on 9 February 1962:

"Otto Benz, 80, of 55 Gionti Place, North Haledon, nationally known artist, died Thursday at his home after a brief illness.

A native Patersonian, he ---- lived in Haledon until moving to North Haledon about 34 years ago. He was the husband of the former Marie Urweider.

Mr. Benz, widely known in this area and throughout the country for his art work, recently had paintings on display in the Smithsonian Institute. He was listed in the "Who's Who of Art" and the "Who's Who in The East."

He was an active lecturer in art and recently presented a painting of the famous "High Mountain" to the new High Mountain School in North Haledon.

He did much of the art work for the area historical books and had a great interest in archaeology and astronomy.

Mr. Benz was a member of J.O. of U.A.M., Council 261, and held memberships in numerous art groups and societies. ----"

Among family papers given to us by Hildegard Meili Van Deusen 11 was the following address recorded on a piece of scrap paper, probably written by Louise Benz, but without dates or explanation: 9

"Paul Benz, 802 South Whittle Avenue, Olney, Ill."

Further history of Paul is found in his obituary published in the Paterson Morning Call on 15 February 1930 from which we quote in part:

"Paul Frederick Benz, aged thirty-seven years, youngest son of the late Mr. & Mrs. Frederick Benz passed away at his late home, 2,3 282 Belmont Avenue, yesterday morning after an illness extending over a period of three months. The deceased was secretary of the Century Throwing Company and was well known in the silk trade. Mr. Benz was a graduate of Lehigh University where he received the degree of Chemical Engineer, class of 1922, and also held the degrees, bachelor of commercial science and master of business administration from New York University. He was an honorary member of Delta Mu Delta of New York University."

The notice of his death identifies his wife as the former Clara Wensel and informs us that they had one son but neither his age 13 nor name is given. It also stated that Paul was a member of the American Chemical Society.

We were informed by Dorothy Marder during a telephone conversa- 12 tion on 24 July 1987, that Paul and Clara had an almond ranch in California. She added that Paul's illness was cancer.

Among papers related to the estate of Louise Benz in the hand- 9 writing of NATHALIA ELIZABETH BENZ is a list of addresses con- 7
taining the entry:

"Mrs Paul Benz (Mrs Claire Bohney
4161 Wilson Lane
Concord
California"

The reference to California in both previous paragraphs suggests that Clara (Claire) married, second, a man named Bohney, in that State.

Additional detail of Arthur's life and character is selected from his obituary published in newspapers of Paterson, NJ.:

"Arthur J. Harris, the vice-president and treasurer of the Harris Brothers Silk Company, passed into life eternal at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, following an illness at his home, 11 Linden road, this city, since last July. While his family and numerous friends felt that his illness was serious there was the hope that the physicians called to his bedside would find the means to overcome the conditions that caused grave alarm for the past three months. ----

The announcement of the death of Arthur Harris touches many well known interests in connection with the community, and the charitable work in which he has taken part for many years. Indeed, the deceased citizen concerned himself with welfare programs since his boyhood, and his concern for the success of community projects was pronounced. The passing away of Mr. Harris is a serious loss to the local organizations where the welfare of boyhood and young men is concerned.

Arthur Harris was born in this city, and spent his lifetime in Paterson. ---- His education, and his religious training , were carefully supervised by his parents, and his family background influenced him during his entire lifetime. The fact that the great grandmother of the departed citizen was a member of John Wesley's classes, imparted within the younger man a love for the Methodist denomination, and it was not surprising that his boyhood teaching was centered in the Grace Methodist Episcopal church.

The deceased has been actively associated with the Young Men's Christian association since his youth, having part in the programs of the Boys Department early in life, enjoying the activities that were planned for the training and enjoyment of the younger life, and when he reached the years of responsibility himself, joining in the ranks of the leaders, amd doing his part in promoting the welfare of the members of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Harris was the president of the Boy Scout Council also. When there were any special plans made by the Young Men's Christian association Arthur Harris always joined the ranks of the workers, and he labored diligently in the various campaigns until success was in sight. Mr. Harris was also greatly concerned over the success of plans carried out by the Boy Scouts of America.

The deceased was also a member of the Rotary club, and served on all the important committees of that organization. Mr. Harris was also a member of the Chamber of Commerce and interested in the success of industrial plans made by that organization.

Mr. Harris was a member of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association. He was the chairman of the recent membership campaign that proved successful a few weeks ago.----

The deceased citizen was a man of exemplary character, interested in the best things of life. He was not only concerned in the in the success of the training of boys and young men and in good citizenship, but he also took pleasure in supporting programs of art and music. He was a member of the Church of the Covenant, and an honored member of the consistry of the Reformed Church of America.

He enjoyed the esteem of all classes of society. The passing away of Arthur J. Harris is a loss to the Community."

Another article publishes a statement by the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A.:

"The passing from our midst of Arthur J. Harris has brought to the directors of the Paterson Young Men's Christian association an irreparable loss. For five years he has served very actively on the Board of Directors and as chairman of the Membership committee. His leadership and direction were felt throughout the association.

Mr. Harris from his boyhood days was interested in the Young Men's Christian association, first as a Wawayanda camper and more recently as a committee member and director.

He exerted a profound influence upon the membership and endorsed himself by his exemplary life. He was an inspiration to the workers in our recent membership campaign and was responsible in no small way for its success.

We, therefore, express to his bereaved family our sincere sympathy in the untimely loss they have sustained and record in the minutes this memorial to an outstanding Christian gentleman."

Portions of the newspaper report of the 55th wedding anniversary of Timothy and Emily on 14 July 1961 are quoted as follows:

Timothy Gengs Wed 55 Years

"The 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy L. Geng of 409 Roe St., Haledon, was celebrated Sunday at an outdoors reception for their family and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Geng are life-long residents of Haledon. They were married on July 14, 1906 by the Rev. Guglumor of the Evangelist Lutheran Church, Paterson. ----

Mr. and Mrs. Geng are enjoying good health. Mr. Geng was a handmade cigar manufacturer and insurance agent. Mrs. Geng is a well-known pianist, having headed a band of her own, the first to play over the first radio station in Paterson. She is a member of the American Legion Auxiliary of Haledon."

Additional history is found in the obituary for Emily published in the Paterson Evening News on 22 January 1974:

"Mrs. Emily Buchmann Geng, former piano teacher and band musician, died Sunday in Greater Paterson General Hospital after a long illness. She was 85 years old and lived at 409 Roe Street.

Mrs. Geng taught piano for many years. She also was an organizer of the seven piece Cedar Cliff Orchestra which played at social affairs and clubs in the area. The band had its own program on Paterson's pioneer radio station, WODA. A life-long resident of Haledon, Mrs Geng was a member of the Cedar Cliff United Methodist Church, a past president of the women's auxiliary of the American Legion, Post 267, a past vice-president of the senior citizen club and a former member of the Volunteer Ambulance corps. She was also active in Borough politics.

Leonard Buchmann 3;4-3( ),3(6),2(4) Margaret Alice Gladwin

It was probably in the late 1930s that Leonard and I met for the first time when he made a business call at National Woven Label Company but almost fifty years passed by before we met again on 23 October 1984, when, after some correspondence, he visited with us at our home. We are indebted to him for many of the newly acquired vital statistics for his branch of our family and for the history which follows. 7

Accompanying his letter to me of 4 September 1985, was a "story" of part of (his) life" written by Leonhard as an assignment for a course in Creative Writing he was taking from the University of Kentucky. It is presented here as written but he states, "Names have been changed, but I am "John" in the story."

Obviously, although not so stated in his letter, "Josephine Shelton" is the pseudonym for his wife, Margaret; "Lenore" for their daughter, Margaret Lenore; "Robert" for their son Leonard Robert and "Thomas" for their second son, Thomas:

"THE RAILROAD INCIDENT

After John and his mother had attended Sunday School and church service, they started to walk back to their home, two miles away. They walked down the hill to the railroad crossing. While crossing the tracks, John's foot became wedged between the track and the adjacent plank. His mother, after numerous attempts, was unable to dislodge the foot. The gates were lowered and the train, with its whistle blowing, approached the crossing. The gate tender, observing the dilemma, rushed to the scene and was able to release the foot and pull John to safety. 1 a,b c

As they continued their walk, they discussed his narrow escape. It was decided that John, from then on, would go to the Sunday School just a block from his home. No one could foresee what that decision would bring into John's life. He was only nine years old. d

John started to attend the Methodist Sunday School, and as the years passed, he realized that the teachers were interested in guiding the students toward lives which were built on a sure foundation. One of the teachers knew how to interest the boys. She often invited them to her home for a "taffy pull". How the boys enjoyed not only the "pull", but the end product as well.

After one session of the school, the pastor issued an invitation to accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. John was among those who responded affirmatively. He was now fourteen years of age.

John became a member of the choir at age seventeen. He enjoyed singing the praises of God. He was asked to teach a class. He consented, only to find that the class consisted of girls about his own age. He asked for a different class, which was given. It became known as the "Busy Bees Class," a fine working group.

One spring at a lawn festival, John was asked what plans he had for the summer. Having none, he asked the reason for the question. The answer was,"I'd like to have you work for me." John liked the idea and entered the textile field. The man was not only the Sunday School superintendent, but also the manager of the plant. e

As his leadership in the Sunday School grew, John became assistant superintendent, and later superintendent. Later, he again assumed the duties of assistant superintendent to enable the school to have a new worker with John's support behind him. At the age of twenty-four John became the leader of the Young Peoples Society (Epworth League). As leader, he thought it would be fine to send the Sunday School superintendent to a convention that was to be held in Kansas City. Since funds would be needed to make this possible, it was planned to present a play for two nights. One of John's friends, a fine elocutionist, was asked to give a few recitations during the intermission, which she was happy to do. On the first night of the play, she brought a friend with her who was introduced to John. On the second night, a different friend came with her. There having been no introduction, John asked for one, and learned her name was Josephine Shelton. The play was very successful, and was enjoyed by all.

Some days later, John received some mail from this second night's guest, which contained a donation for the cause. At its next meeting, the society passed a motion that John extend thanks to her. He did this by telephone. During the conversation, Josephine invited him to visit her society, adding that he might get some ideas for his own society. He accepted the invitation and he got many ideas; one was that he made a date that eventually led to their marriage, which lasted twenty-four days short of sixty years.

We return to the decision that was made by John's mother at the time of the railroad incident; that a change would be made to a new Sunday School, and its effect on John's life. 1

THE FIRST FACT

A fine foundation was laid for a good life. This was the result of fine teaching, the evidence of applying truth to daily living and motivating a life that considered other people and how their lives might be enriched. One can recognize the possibility of conflict by questioning, "How can you think of others when you are busy with providing the necessities of your own life and that of your family?"

Learned men often spoke in a language not understood by others in what is called a parable; the taking of natural things to instruct others in the knowledge of spiritual things. There being a difference between natural and spiritual things, we can grasp the meaning of "Having ears and hear not", and, "Eyes have they but see not." There must be a rebirth of a new life from the old so that old things have passed away and all things become new. This makes possible the laying of a fine foundation for a life that takes in the other person.

A NEW LIFE

When John responded to the invitation to accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior at the afternoon session of the Sunday School on the second Sunday of June, 1912, a new life was begun. To a young adolescent, many questions needed to be answered. One of the most important was the question, "Why should a person feel the need of a Savior?" As time passed, the reading of the Bible and prayer, the many references to the natural state of mankind after the disobedience in the Garden of Eden, which separated man from God (which was sin), there appeared the need of providing a way that could bring about the restoration of fellowship with God. This provision was brought about by God's love for mankind. The need of man was met in the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem. A virgin, Mary became his mother by the Holy Ghost. Not only did Jesus grow up in the fear and wisdom of God: but He lived a sinless life and went about doing good. His sacrifice on the cross for our sins, became the lamb offered for the remission of sin. It was a finished work for it provided, for all time, the taking of our sin upon Himself that would bring freedom to each person who put faith and trust in Him. He was the only one who could do this. The surrendering of our wills to that of our heavenly Father will bring joy to all who trust and obey Him by accepting Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior.

A VOCATION FOR LIFE

The question of "What are your plans for summer?" at the lawn festival led to entering the textile field. As John went about his duties at a tapestry plant, especially the taking of the previous day's production from each loom, his interest in the many patterns was aroused. In one area of the plant, a beautiful Japanese garden was depicted. A woman, strolling through the garden, carried an umbrella of many colors. This tapestry made a deep impression on John.

As John went about, he observed an open Bible at one of the looms. One day, John missed seeing the Bible and its owner. Upon reaching the office, he inquired, "What happened to Mr. Merritt?" He was told that he left to go to Africa as a missionary. Later, John wrote a letter to the missionary telling him of the open Bible and its influence on his life. Months later, the letter was returned unopened, the envelope having been postmarked at different places in Africa, not having found him. The local paper later carried his obituary. He died in the Johannesburg area.

Being employed at this plant brought the opportunity of traveling to New York with goods that were being manufactured. On one of these trips, a payroll was entrusted to John. Arriving at the station, he boarded a train to take him home. When the conductor took the ticket he said, "You are on the wrong train." John should have taken the train at the next platform. Both trains had the same departure time. He got off the train at the next station and proceeded to walk to the station a few miles away, where he caught the train that would take him to the station nearest the plant. Upon arriving, he found the employees waiting for their pay. He told them about the train mix up. What an experience!

John applied himself to the study of the various machines and the processes that were necessary to the manufacture of goods. Later, the experience that was gained in this and other plants led John to suggest starting a family plant of their own. The family joined in this thought and began building. Machinery was purchased and the business started operations. John not only managed the business, but sold the output and even worked as an employee. The business was sold after more than twenty years. Ten years of plant management for others continued until the plant was sold. He became assistant manager of one of the world's most important plants that sold the product all over the world. He retired from active participation at the age of seventy-five. g

A BEAUTIFUL MARRIED LIFE

After a honeymoon at Atlantic City, they began life together at Lancaster, Pennsylvania. They planned to start their married life together with the desire to include worship. They attended the Olivet Baptist Church. The preacher, Reverend John W. Bradbury, a man short in stature, was known as a man with a powerful voice. His wife was a member of the choir and encouraged John and his wife to join. They did and became good friends. The choir was having a party at the parsonage and during the evening the pastor's wife had baked a cake. She could be heard coming from the kitchen and upon entering the room was observed rolling the cake which had been overbaked along the floor like a hoop. This brought much laughter. John and his wife enjoyed the church people very much and were sorry to leave when business called them elsewhere. They again took membership at the Broadway Baptist Church where a former pastor had married them. Both became very active in its work for the Lord.

A daughter was born into the family. She was named Lenore after a character in Zane Grey's "Desert of Wheat". Again, business took them away. At Red Hill, Pennsylvania, a son, Robert, was born. With the uncertainty of business and family needs, they returned to assume the leading of the family business. It was in this period that another son, Thomas, was born. 2 3 4

The ensuing years brought many changes to their lives, including the "pulling up of the family roots" as changes came. These changes, while hard, brought many new friends into their lives. These have always been appreciated. All of the children were married and had a family. Looking back, the couple could say our lives have been happy with some hard times included. The mother went to be with her Lord at the age of eighty-two.

A LIFE OF SERVICE

As one thinks of life, great lessons can be learned that can be summed up in the word "observation". The looking about as we journey the pathway of life and really see the things about us. We learn so much in the early part of our lives. Family means so much. Working together, visitors coming into the home, picnics, and going to singing contests. One experience that John recalls, was the receipt of a "Morris Chair" from the Larkin Company. His mother was a secretary for many years, and had h 1 g- Maryland Ribbon Co. (Offray & Son), Hagerstown, MD. Previously with Century Ribbon Mills (Coronet Ribbon Co.), Newport News, Va. for 10 years as plant manager.

h- In response to an inquiry, Leonhard explained that his mother did not work for the Larkin Company of Buffalo, NY, but was secretary for Larkin Clubs. These clubs were composed of a number of persons who met monthly at various homes. They would place orders to the Larkin Company of household products.

chosen this chair as her premium. His dad was assembling the chair when a visitor came to the home. A friendly discussion arose as to who was to sit in the completed chair. The work of assembling completed, Dad took possession. As he leaned back and said goodnight, the chair continued to go back, finally putting him in the position with his head on the floor and his feet in the air. There had been a mistake in the method of assembling the chair. Great laughter followed as the visitor thought of what would have happened had she won the discussion. 5

John was asked to assume a place of service by his pastor at a place called "Hope Dell". He often went to this home where elderly and sick persons lived. Persons who were able would come to the chapel, pick out hymns that they liked, hear a short message, and then go back to their room. These visits lasted over five years. He found many persons who were lonely. Members of their family were not visiting, evidently thinking that someone else could take care of them.

At present, John visits two hospitals and calls at nursing homes to help meet the needs he sees. How often do we find that as we seek to share our lives with others when blessings come to them and then these blessings come back to us in greater measure. How true that blessings come to them who serve!

John has never been alone since his life partner went home to be with her Lord, because of the indwelling Spirit. He remains active though in his late eighties, and is enjoying life. He still lives with the thought of "giving himself away"."

Leonard was more specific in his letter of 4 September 1985:

"I have been very busy. Continuing the weekly calls at the Nursing Homes and Hospitals; co-ordinator of our State Convention program in October; a member of the "Ways and Means" committee of the Good Samaritan House. The purpose is to provide a place where cancer patients and family members from out of our area could stay without much cost."

In an earlier letter, Leonard reported on his trip to Europe in July 1984 with Peg, Bob and "our Bob". Leaving New York on 2 July, they flew to London and visited the usual tourist sites such as Westminster, Tower of London and St. Paul's Cathedral but added a walk across Tower Bridge. On 5 July, they enjoyed a more unusual experience: 2,6,3

"---- took the Queen Elizabeth boat down the Thames River to the "Barrier", a wonderful engineering feat. Built to prevent the flooding of London. I had written them to see if pictures could be taken. I received a fine letter saying yes and at the same time telling about the center. When reaching it, Bob and I were waiting to see the movie about the construction of the Barrier. I had written of my approaching birthday hoping I would have the joy of seeing this wonder. I had spoken to someone while awaiting the opening of the theatre. As the door opened, I saw a man approaching me who asked me to follow him. I was escorted to a chair that had been placed there for me. This man was the manager of the theatre. He told me that David Whitfield knew that I was there and would see me when the picture 3 was finished. He, and the chief engineer approached me and said that something special would be done in relation to my upcoming birthday. To celebrate it, he presented a solid nickel and silver medalion of the dedication of the Barrier in May of this year. There were only 3000 medallions cast and what an honor it is to have one."

Before leaving England for Calais, France, they visited Kensington Gardens and Palace and The Transportation Museum. From Calais, they toured north through Belgium to Amsterdam where they enjoyed a canal trip. Their second week began with a visit to the Cologne Cathedral followed by a two-hour cruise on the Rhine from Boppard to Oberwesel. On following days they visited medieval Rothenberg and then Munich where they:

"visited the Science Museum, saw the home of Mozart and went to the Hofbräu to see the program. This was out of my regular custom for there was much drinking."

After a stop at Salzburg and a visit to Hellbrun Castle, they went to Vienna with visits to the Straus Music Center and Schoenbrunn Castle. Leonard comments:

"This is a beautiful castle. It also has beautiful gardens. I have an inspiration and have started to weave a wall hanging of one of the gardens. We walked around town, visited a number of stores, took a city tour. Visited the Opera House where we saw them preparing the scenery for a program that would take place on Monday. Then went over to the large ferris wheel from which we had a fine view. Could see the Danube in the distance. In the evening we took a special trip to a fine eating place where we had a wonderful time singing with music accompany. This was at Ginzling."

The trip continued during their third week to Innsbruck and then, via Arlburg Pass and Liechtenstein, to Luzerne from where they:

"Went to Mount Pilatus, seven thousand feet high, boarded a tram and went to the top. Then went down on a cogwheel car that had a forty-eight degree pitch. What a fine experience!"

On Wednesday, they went to Basel, Switzerland, where they rented a car to travel into Germany. Their first destination was Lörrach, W. Ger., where:

"we visited the factory, Koechlin, Baumgartner and Cie (K.B.C.), where both of my parents had worked in the 1880's. I had written them when the Mayor's secretary answered my earlier letter and told me that the plant was still running and was the largest plant of its kind in Europe, cloth printing. What a fine welcome and tour we had here. They employ 1700 people. 1.

Then we went to Schopheim where Rudolph Kilchling, a descendent of a niece of mother's lives. Located his home, pushed the bell button and when the door opened, I told him who was there. I had no chance to write him prior to the visit, so it was a total surprise. How pleased we were to find him looking so well. He had had a serious heart condition in 1978-79. We were invited into his music room where we saw many awards that had been presented to him during his musical years. He played two numbers of 8,

Bach on the piano not knowing that both Peg and Bob love Bach music. As Rudolph played the second number, Peg sang along with him. What a beautiful time! Wish it could have been longer. 2,6

We left for Hilzingen where my father was born. Found the home that my father was born in and naturally tears came to my eyes. Visited the Church where he was baptized in 1866." 5

In answer to an inquiry, Leonhard stated that he did not record the name of the church but said, "It was a Catholic Church. I was in it and it is beautiful." We return to his letter:

"We also went to Island Park located in Lake Konstanz, a beautiful flora area with facilities where children can play.

On Friday, after a visit to the Rhine Falls, we went to Zurich from where we took the train to Paris. On Saturday we enjoyed a Cityrama tour of Paris. On Sunday, son Bob and I flew to New York; Peg and Bob to Los Angeles a day later." 3 2,6

Frederick G. Fisher, 68; Was a McCarthy Target

By ALFONSO A. NARVAEZ

Frederick G. Fisher, a Boston lawyer who in 1954 became a target of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy at a dramatic turning point in hearings involving the Senator and the Army, died of a heart attack Thursday in Tel Aviv, Israel. Mr. Fisher, 68 years old, was at a lecture sponsored by the Israeli bar.

Mr. Fisher was a senior partner in the Boston firm of Hale & Dorr, which he joined shortly after his graduation from Harvard Law School. He had recently moved to Sagamore Beach, Mass., from West Newton, Mass.

Senator McCarthy, a Wisconsin Republican, achieved wide publicity in the early 1950's by charging that a number of public officials, military officers and prominent private citizens had Communist affiliations. The 1954 hearings before Senator McCarthy's investigations subcommittee grew out of a dispute between the Senator and Army officials, whom Mr. McCarthy had accused of "coddling Fifth Amendmnent Communists."

A special counsel for the Army at the hearings was Joseph N. Welch, a partner in Hale & Dorr, the firm in which Mr. Fisher was an associate. In a heated exchange with Mr. Welch, Senator McCarthy charged that Mr. Fisher, briefly a member of Mr. Welch's team of lawyers for the hearing, had been a member of the National Lawyers Guild "long after it had been exposed as the legal arm of the Communist Party."

'Have You No Decency, Sir?'

Mr. Welch, close to tears, retorted:

"Until this moment, Senator, I think I never really gauged your cruelty or your recklessness. Fred Fisher is starting what looks to be a brilliant career ,with us. I fear he shall always bear a scar, needlessly inflicted by you."

"Have you no decency, sir?" he said, as the exchange continued.

Mr. Fisher had told the firm when he was hired that he had been a member of the lawyers guild while at Harvard "and for a period of months after." The guild was not on the Attorney General's list of subversive groups, but it had been cited as a "Communist front" by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Historians consider the McCarthy-Welch exchange a pivotal point in turning public opinion against the Senator, who was subsequently censured by his colleagues.

Mr. Fisher went on to become a partner at the firm in 1958 and later organized its commercial law department. He also served as president of the Massachusetts Bar Association and as chairman of many committees of the American and Boston bar associations.

He was a former trustee of the National Institute of Trial Advocacy and chairman of the Franklin N. Flaschner Foundation in Waban, Mass.

Timothy L. Geng 3;4-3( ),3(6),2(1),1(7) Nancy

The following article appeared on the front page of the Paterson Evening News on Monday, 24 January 1977:

"MAHWAH - A Haledon man died Sunday night in Good Samaritan Hospital, Suffern, N.Y., several hours after his car ran off Campgaw Road and struck trees and a utility pole, snapping it off and bringing down a transformer.

Township police were notified that Timothy Geng, Jr., died of a massive head injury after being transported by Fire Company, No. 4, ambulance. Patrolman Gerald Maxwell said the accident occurred between Youngs Road and Pond Lane and darkened Fardale area homes for about four hours until Rockland Electric workmen replaced the pole and transformer. Police said Geng had been heading south on Campgaw Road when his car left the road."

During our telephone conversation on 9 June 1986, Walter Mullin 5
Abele fondly recalled a story his father used to tell him of his 6 grandfather, then an itinerant preacher:

> "When grandfather harnessed up his horse and buggy to drive to one of many small rural churches in out-of-the-way places in Lehigh and adjoining counties, he often insisted that my father 6 > accompany him. My father hated to go. His father preached in German and he couldn't understand the sermons. He just had to sit without squirming and wait them through.
> Afterward, though, and this father did enjoy, there was usually a big feed; a bounteous table of wholesome country German food prepared by the ladies of the church, and for grandfather, probably the only "pay" he would receive for his services."

In his obituary from the Allentown Morning Call, 24 January 1911, JOSEPH's residence at the time of his death is given as 323 North Law Street and Ebenezer Evangelical Church, the location of the funeral service.

Charles J. Abele 4;3-2( ),2(1) Jenny L. Seislove (1)
Clara V. German (2)
Bess Worman (3)

On marriage license No. 6933, Charles is listed as a cooper (barrel-maker) and Jenny is identified as the daughter of Henry Seislove and his wife, Catharine. The marriage was performed by Charles' father. 1

On license application No. 12207, for his second marriage, Charles is referred to as an insurance agent and Clara as a forelady.

We have not found a record of Charle's marriage to Besse Worman. The dates of their deaths and the photograph of their tombstones, were sent to us by Carl L. Rehrig, Secretary of Green Mount Cemetery Association, Bath, PA.

Mary (Mamie) E. Abele 4;3-2( ),2(2) John B. Cleaver

Mary's occupation recorded on their marriage license application No. 14519, is silk weaver and John's is telegrapher.

The bits of history in this paragraph of John and Mary were obtained from Myron Albert Cleaver by telephone on 26 July 1985. John is the son of Mahlon Cleaver and his wife, Catharine, of Boyertown, PA. At the time of his marriage to Mary, she was a resident at 425 Turner Street, Allentown, PA. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Bohner. Afterward, the couple left for Crescent, WY, where John is employed as a railroad telegrapher. Mary was referred to in one article quoted by Myron as: 1

> "one of Allentown's most charming young ladies, esteemed by many acquaintences."

The photograph from a post card of the railroad station in Fort Hancock, TX, is one of many location where John was assigned as a telegrapher.

According to Mary's obituary, she was a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Allentown.

A record of the marriage of JACOB and DEBORAH is found in "Abstracts of Revolutionary War Pension Applications" published in "National Genealogical Society Quarterly", Volume 30, 1941:

"DEBORAH B. CREEMER m. JACOB MESSERVE, New York, by Rev. Dr. Moore of New York, March 6, 1813"

Although we do not know the exact date of DEBORAH's move from the farm, she is identified as a parishioner of St. Paul's Church, Jersey City, NJ, in May 1861, according to records presented by Paulus Hook Chapter, DAR, 1940-42. We have no other news of DEBORAH for nearly six years except for the brief reference in the letter from ROBERT JOHNSON MAYNARD written at Atlanta, GA, on 17 February 1861 to JOHN JACOB MESSERVE: 19 14

"AMANDA wrote to Mar yesterday" 9

(Page 366: Delete the 4th and 5th paragraphs beginning "So far" it was" and "Inexplicably, the interment" respectively. Replace with the following two paragraphs:)

"So far" it was. In his letter written from New York City dated 17 September 1870, to JOHN JACOB MESSERVE, John William Pirsson 32 expresses his regrets for being unable to attend the funeral of DEBORAH, so her death must have occurred very soon after the departure day visit by AMANDA - on 12 September if AMANDA's "2 9 weeks" can be considered a precise statement. Presumably, the five day intervening days would allow sufficient time for John 32
William to be informed of DEBORAH's death and the receipt of his letter of record. The MAYNARD family in Savannah received the news on 10 December 1870 according to the letter from Julia Barron Maynard to JULIA CLELAND: 25 16

"I heard the sad news this afternoon I can't realize can't believe that Grandmother is gone that I will never see her again in this world I did not think when ROBBIE started with 27
Papa's dinner what sad news he would bring when he came back" 19

DEBORAH was buried in Bay View Cemetery, Jersey City, NJ, next to her oldest son, Abraham. Inexplicably, the interment date recorded at the cemetery office is 18 December 1870. 3

The location of William's farm in Ridgewood, NJ, is described as follows by the deeds for his purchase and sale of the property from notes taken by Robert Wynfield Maynard on 9 May 1986 at the Bergen County Registry of Deeds, Hackensack, NJ. From modern references, the farm would be more readily located as in the northwest corner of Ackerman Avenue and Broad Street west of the railroad.

"Deed to William E. Messerve dated March 14, 1868, Book V6 p.112, From Adolphus D. Shuart, $2,050, 4.1 acres, $1,000 mortgage. Premises lying between ... and being in the Township of Franklin beginning on the north side of the public road leading from Godwinville to Hackensack in the line of lands of David R. Ackerman."

"Deed from William E. Messerve Estate dated November 24, 1893, Book 372, p.180, To Cornelie Van de Weet. Land in the Township of Ridgewood on the public road leading from Godwinville to Hackensack. Bordered by land of David R. Ackerman running south to land of Garret D. Ackerman, north to land of John D. Marinus, then to land of Garret I. Hopper, then to land of David I. Ackerman and then back to land of David R. Ackerman. (The Hopper deed X6-331 speaks of the public road from Ridgewood Station to Godwinville.)"

A Chance for All Wage Earners.

To Make a Little-at-a-time Money, giving him a Permanent and Profitable Income.

MOTHER NATURE assures profits in the business of cattle raising large enough to open the eyes of skeptics.

THE B. L. & C. CO. presents to business men, book keepers, investors—large and small—a proposition well worth the time taken to investigate it and demonstrate its truth.

A CO-OPERATIVE business is safer and more profitable than any individual or stock operation. One large stock company in cattle business guarantees the payment of $1,218.00 on an investment of $720.00 paid in monthly payments during a ten year period. They pay $498.00 interest of profits to the investor and are getting rich on the balance. In the B. L. & C. Co. plan all these profits are divided Amongst the Members.

THE MANAGERS of the B. L. & C. Co are experienced and successful cattle men themselves. Their character is an absolute guarantee of economical, careful and honest management.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS—elected by members—direct and control all its business for the sole welfare of each and every member of the B. L. & C. Co.

A GREAT CHANCE is offered to invest in a safe and profitable business—grow a bank account, compound your interest, make ample provisions for the future, by taking stock in the B. L. & C. Co., which is safer and more profitable than any other investment.

STOCK can be purchased on monthly payments of 50 cents per month if desired.

Fireproof

This is another in a series of editorials on historic, unusual, exotic, beautiful, or just plain interesting buildings and places in North Jersey.

The letters on the facade spell out "Paterson Parchment Paper Co.," though the building is in Passaic. It's one of the few factories spared by the Labor Day fire that devastated Passaic's lower Dundee district. Architecturally, it is one of the most interesting in North Jersey.

Paterson Parchment Paper was founded at the turn of the century by the Leonard family, which owned a Totowa candle-making plant. One day a member of the family noticed that drippings from some of the candles had fireproofed the paper that lay beneath them. After further experiments confirmed the original evidence, the family built a factory to turn out fireproof paper at 35 Eighth Street in Passaic about 1902.

The original paper plant was a complex of several three-story brick buildings. The administration building was distinguished by its stepped Dutch gable roof, an unusual decorative touch in an otherwise ordinary factory grouping. Further enhancing the roof line is the detailed brick fenestration.

The building has had a checkered history. It remained in the hands of the Leonards and their relatives, the Brunners and the Davises, until * 1951, when the parchment-paper firm moved to Bristol, Pa. The complex was bought by Raymond Baldecchi, who has since rented space to a variety of small manufacturers. The present occupants are small textile firms — dyeing, printing, appliquéing, knitting.

Carl Peterson, now 94, was chauffeur to the Brunner family. When the elder Brunner died in 1948, he left his Cadillac to Mr. Peterson, whose son is chief of the Passaic fire department that spent all of Labor Day battling the big blaze.

* 1931 is the year of the move.

From parish records in Degerloch, Johann is identified as a citizen of Degerloch and Schenkwirth, now part of Stuttgart, and a Wachtmeister (Sergeant) in IV, Reiter Regiment (Cavalry). According to a letter from Evangelishe Gesamtkirchegemeinde dated 27 September 1978, to Emmy Agnes Steimle, there is no record of Johann's death in Degerloch. 1

Anna Margarete was the daughter of Margarete Bühr, an unmarried daughter of Johannes Bühr, weaver in Mergelstetten. Johann Georg Schwenk of Schopfloch is referred to in parish records as "pretended father".
Mergelstetten is about 50 km west of Stuttgart.

According to information provided by Edward Meier, Charlotte married, as his third wife, Conrad, a native of Zurich, Switzerland. He is referred to as a journeyman silk dyer of Basel. Conrad's first wife was Maria Elisabetha Stahelin who died 10 February 1870 and second, Verena Luscher, whose death date has not been determined. The date of Conrad's marriage to Verena is 28 July 1870. 6

We acknowledge with thanks to Margarete Agnes Marie RÖll and to Renate Steimle Funk, the original source, for a copy of the letter dated 20 February 1914 written in German by Charlotte, from Paterson, NJ, to her brother, Gottlieb, in Germany. The translation following the German copy was obtained by Edward Meier. Unfortunately, part of the letter is missing. 7 8 9 6

Charlotte's statement in the first paragraph of her letter, "we will write to him" is confusing. Their father, CHRISTIAN ALBRECHT STEIMLE, died on 5 January 1895. Her remark in the second paragraph, "I heared that you was very sick" foretold of Gottlieb's death a few months later on 17 August 1914. The letter and English translation begins below and is presented on the next three pages. 10 9

Charlotte's obituary was published in the Paterson Guardian:

"MEIER - In Paterson, on Thursday August 2, 1917, Charlotte, widow of the late Conrad Meier, aged 60 years. Funeral on Saturday, August 4, from her late residence 501 East Twenty-Sixth Street. Interment at Laurel Grove at convenience of family."

Dear brother 9

I guess my writting is not very good to read, because I have it unlearned and I make a lot of mistakes. I don't know how to spell it, but I try as good as I can, if you can just read it. Dear brother, Luise was here some days ago and she showed me the letter 1 from your father and we will write him. 10

I heard that you was very sick, also I, dear brother was sick for many years and the wet winter gives me a catarrh, yes we get old and how long it takes it again and we can go home to our loves. I'm glad to dy, although I never had it so good like now. I have 11 two sons Herman and Will. Herman is 25 years old and Will 20 years. 12
Herman works in the silks. Will is electrician and they are very nice, they give me all what they make and they don't know what great's they do for me, then my husband dyed 5 years ago. I and Luise meet each other every week and we are very happy together, 1
-- her children and grandchildren, I love them like my own children. Oh my dear brother, it would be so nice if you could come once to us, we have such nice flowers in the summer. I and Luise like to take out some of our flowers. How are you all, write me from you and write a lot. Please dear brother write where Hermann 13 is and write his address. He wrote once and I answered but have never heard again from him. I and Luise talk a lot from you and from our dear mother, we are joung together, crying and laughing together and we have just one idea, one could the other ----"

In her letter from Oberndorf am Neckar, West Germany, dated 27 March 1987, Margarete Röll Fischer reflects current history in her reference to Karl and Renate: 1 2

"It's a very long-time age, I saw Renate and Karl Heinz for the last time. I visited Suhl in 1946 and Renate and her brother were still little children. Later on we could not travel into the D.D.R. any more. Now both are nearly 50 years old."

Karl is referred to briefly in the letter from Margarete dated 3 December 1989: 1

"from Renate's brother we got no news,----" 2

Our first history of Renate is recorded in the first quotation in the history of her brother from the letter dated 27 March 1987, written by Margarete Röll Fischer. Margarete provides an update in current history in her direct reference to Renate in her letter dated 3 December 1989:

"Renate ---- sent us a nutcracker as a Christmas gift. We sent the yearly package with coffee and chocolate and dried fruits and other things they can't get there. We hope the borders will soon open and then we will visit Suhl in Thüringen were my parents, but also I and my brother were born. We could not see this Part of Germany since 1945. About 10 years ago we visited West-Berlin and had a short trip to East-Berlin. That was very disappointing. Renate is not able to voyage because her old mother is very sick. ---- I hope this situation of top secret will lift more and more. ----" 3,,

In his obituary published in the Allentown Morning Call, 15 October 1903, Henry is referred to as one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the First Ward. His death was caused by consumption. Henry kept a grocery store for twelve years at 3rd and Chew Streets and previously was a bricklayer. For a short period, he was a substitute teacher in First Ward schools. He was a private in Company D, 128th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers and participated in the battles of Bull Run, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg and the Wilderness and was honorably discharged in 1864, the year he married Abigail. He was a member of the Yeager Post No. 13, G.A.R. A sister, Mrs. Reuben Bower of Baltimore, mentioned in the obituary, has not been identified.

His second wife, Maria Repp, is the widow of Hamersley whose given name has not been found.

James' marriage to Mrs. Marie Hamersley, according to the Allentown morning Call, 28 December 1898, was performed the previous day at the home of the bride at No. 115 North 3rd Street, Allentown.

It is stated by Roberts in his "History of Lehigh County" that James had been retired from business since 1903.

Rosetta's obituary in the Allentown Morning Call, 18 April 1898, states that she died of consumption. Her age at death is printed as 62 years, 7 months and 2 days, possibly in error. She is referred to as a devout member of the Evangelical Church and her residence is listed as 302 North 2nd Street, Allentown. She is identified in Lehigh County records as the daughter of George White and his wife Esther.

"He attended the public schools, and when his education was completed he entered the employ of F. W. Windt, of Catasauqua and learned the carpenter and wood-working trade. By close application to his work he became the foreman, holding this position for thirteen years. He then removed to Allentown and entered the employ of Schneck & Bear, being their superintendent for ten years. At the end of this term he became foreman for his brother-in-law, Jacob Nagle, contractor and builder. In 1909 Mr. Donecker went into the business on his own account. (Page 898: Begin as second paragraph the following additional history of Jacob and Minnie.)

Roberts' "History of Lehigh County" identifies Minnie's mother as Agnes Womelsdorf and provides the following additional history:

"Jacob A. Nagle ---- was born Sept. 30, 1872, in an old stone house on the present site of the Arbogast & Bastian's packing house at the foot of Hamilton street, Allentown. He was educated in the public schools of Allentown and when his text books were laid aside he learned the trade of bricklayer and plasterer. In 1892 he became his father's partner in the contracting and building business. The partnership continued until the father's retirement in 1903; and the business has been continued by the son up to the present time. Many of the fine residences of Allentown were erected under the supervision of Jacob A. Nagle. His reputation as a reliable builder extended beyond the confines of his own city and county and he was honored with many contracts from different sections of the state. The splendid apartment house on South Twelfth street, named "Grandview," recently erected by him, will be regarded as a fitting monument to his archtectural skill. In politics he is a Republican, and his fraternal connections are with the following orders: K.G.E.; K. of F.; Knights of Mystic Chain; and the Foresters of America. He is also a prominent member of the Ebenezer Evangelical Association, which he has served officially for many years. 1

The notice of their marriage from the Allentown Morning Call, identifies Minnie as the daughter of the late George Bollman and states:

"The wedding was performed at the bride's home in Reading, PA, and after an extensive tour of New England, will reside at 24 North Second Street, Allentown."

(Page 898: Add John's name to heading. Add the following history)

Elsie Brown Nagle 8;4-2(1),3(4),2(5) John A. Borowsky

The application for marriage license No. 18358 lists Elsie as a teacher and John as a floor manager and identifies John as the son of John Borowsky and his wife, Sarah.

The MAYNARD/MAURER lineages enjoyed a brief early introduction. According to the announcement in the Allentown Morning Call on 28 August 1907, John and Elsie, a MAURER relative, were married in St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, PA, by Reverend Augustus Steimle, a MAYNARD relative. Elsie is referred to as a graduate of Allentown High School and a talented musician. For nine years she was a "most competant and highly esteemed teacher in our local public schools." The statement that John is long associated with Hess Brothers relates, apparently, to the above reference to him as "floor manager". John's father emigrated to America from Poland in 1848 and settled in Harrisburg. He was killed in the battle at Appomatox Court House. John, born in Harrisburg, was employed in mercantile pursuits in Dauphin and Lebanon Counties. He is a member of the Masonic Fraternity and the Elks, and recently organized the Allentown Boating and Swimming Club of which he is president. The couple will reside at 1149 Hamilton Street.

"Milton Tilghman Jacob Ochs, a noted contractor and builder of Allentown, was born in that city in 1855. After his education in public schools and in the business college he became associated with his father in 1885, as master builder and contractor under the firm name of T. Ochs & Son. They carried on a very 1 extensive and successful business until in 1897, when the senior member retired from an active business life. The firm was succeeded by M. T. J. Ochs, who is one of the most extensive contractors and builders in the Lehigh Valley. Many of the largest and most substantial structures of Allentown stand as a monument to the enterprise, skill and integrity of Mr. Ochs. He is a modest man and prompt in the execution of business obligations, and his comprehensive knowledge of the building business has made him a valuable asset in his community. Among the larger buildings erected by him are the Allentown National bank, in 1904; the Hunsicker building, in 1911, ---- the great part of many buildings of the New Jersey Zinc Works, at Hazard, Pa.; the new borough of Palmerton, Pa.; the original buildings of the Atlas Cement Company, and the grand-stand of the Lehigh County Agricultural Society. This building is a large concrete structure and was erected in record time.

He and his family are members of the Reformed Church and in politics he is a Democrat. Mr. Ochs is a member of the Livingston Club, the leading social organization of the county.

He was married to Louisa Oppenlander, daughter of Gottlieb and Catharine (Wurst) Oppenlander, of Bucks county. They have fifteen children."

Oscar Henry Eugene Ochs 8;5-3( ),4(6),3(4),2(3) Salena Jane Roth

Our history of Oscar and Salina is also quoted from Roberts:

"Oscar Henry Eugene Ochs is a member of the firm of Ochs, Frey & Co. He was born in Allentown, PA, April 18, 1859, and is the second son of Tilghman Ochs. At the age of fifteen years he learned the brick-laying trade and he followed it as a journeyman until he engaged in the contracting business under the name of Ochs & Co. Later Henry P. Frey and R.P. Siegried were admitted into the firm and the firm became known as Ochs, Frey & Co. In the year 1906 this firm leased the brick-yards operated by Grim Bros. for many years, and there they employed 35 men. The firm of Ochs, Frey & Co. are very extensive brick-laying contractors throughout Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

He is a member of the Reformed Church, and socially he is a member of the Knights of the Golden Eagle and the Knights of Pythias.

He was married on March 20, 1891, to Salena J. Roth, daughter of Marcus Roth. She was born in Allentown, November 9, 1862, and died on June 16, 1913, at their home No. 1540 Walnut street. She was a devout member of Dubbs Memorial church and active in the Dorcas Sewing Circle connected with the church. She was interred on the family plot in the Greenwood cemetery.

Salina's obituary published in the Allentown Morning Call, 17 June 1913, identifies her mother as "Mary A." and states that she and Oscar were married in Phillipsburg, NJ.

Ann and Frank Tatem have informed us in a note on their Christmas card of 1985 that: 14,12

"We now learn Cecilia Anna Johnston has that "T" in her name!"

In his letter of 25 January 1985, Frank passes on the information from his mother that Charles was born at the old farm house in East Meadow, Long Island, NY, which is now on the site of Eisenhower Park. 12 13

The cessation of any reference to Charles in the records of the Church of the Advent after the completion of his term as Vestryman in 1914 is explained briefly in Frank's letter of 25 January 1985: 12

"When my grandfather left Westbury in 1912-13, he took the name, Charles C. Taylor, and moved to Kearny, NJ, where he died in the 1940's (October?). He and my grandmother were never divorced."

The spelling "CLELLAND" in the wedding announcement for Thomas Clelland Tatem and Anne Cleary for 12 May 1984, prompted my query to Frank Tatem from whom I received the following interesting answer in his letter of 25 January 1985:

"Now about the spelling of CLELAND/CLELLAND. When I enlisted in the Navy Reserve in 1942, while at Lehigh, I signed my enlistment papers Francis Cleland Tatem. However, my birth certificate said: Francis Clelland Tatem, Jr. My parents told me that Navy Personnel wrote them for proof that I was me. They wanted to know how to spell the name. So my parents went to the cemetery in Hempstead (Greenfield) to see what they could find out because my father was not certain how to spell the name either. When they reached the family plot, they discovered that the central monument had Tatem front and back but had Cleland on one side and Clelland on the other. So, according to my Navy records, I use Cleland but according to my birth certificate, etc., I have used Clelland.. which is how Tom's name is spelled too."

HANNS is referred to as farmer in Flözlingen parish records.

After HANNS' death, MARIA married third husband, GEORG STORZ. Since her son, HANNS, by her 2nd husband and son, MARTIN, by her 3rd husband are both direct ancestors, MARIA derives family number 433 from her 3rd husband. This number is discarded for the RAPP family. MARIA's daughter, Rosina, by her 1st husband, Martin Beer, is a half-sister to the children of both 2nd and 3rd husbands, The Beer family table is presented as generation 8 for RAPP family number 401.

Evidence that HANNS and GEORG are related has not been found.

1 GEORG STORZ	14;9-6( )	MARIA's 3rd husband

HANNS STORZ 13;8-5(5) ANNA ETTER 51 & 201;8-1(8)

HANNS, according to parish records, was a farmer in Flözlingen and ANNA, a midwife for many years. ANNA's birthdate is given as "Pfingsten 1683" or Whitsuntide.

The spelling of ANNA's family name appears interchangable between ETTER and NETTER.

MARIA ETTER. The family number derived from ANNA is discarded but 2 is the reference for the derivation of family number 402 for her mother, MARIA MEYER, second wife of ANNA's father. Both ANNA and 3
MARIA ETTER are direct ancestors.

In volume 21 of "Pennsylvania German Society Bulletin", 1910, it is stated that Maria emigrated to America in 1864 and John in 1856, and that they were married in 1866. Thus, a positive reference to Maria and to her sister, Catharina, as emigrants to America leaves only Barbara for whom we lack definitive history. 1 2

The Old Moravian Cemetery in Bethlehem, Pa, is also referred to as the Market Street Cemetery.

Margaret Catherine Woerner 14;5-2(3),4(9),3( ),2(1) Edward McCreary Perkins

In her letter of 17 June 1984, Margaret confirms the details of her lineage and provides our brief history of her branch of our family:

> "You might be interested to know that from about 1940 to about 1980 I had an internationally known Kennel of pure bred Miniature Schnauzers (originally a German breed) called Stortzborg Miniature Schnauzers for my Storz grandmother. All the studs were registered as "von Stortzborg", all the studs were American Kennel Club Champions of Record and there were many other champions of my breeding." 1

Margaret also identifies Edward as "Lieutenant Colonel" and adds:

> "The Perkins in this country date from the 2nd Virginia Company in 1609 and the McCreary's (through William Brewster) from the Mayflower in 1620."

With assistance from the librarian of the American Kennel Club, 51 Madison Avenue, New York City, we find a reference to Margaret in The Complete Miniature Schnauser" by Anne Paramoure Eskrigge, 1971 and a list of some of Margaret's champions in the author's 1959 edition from which the following is quoted:

> "Another T.M.G. son, Ch. Kampfhund v. Stortzborg, sired two champions, one of whom, Ch. Trumpfhund v. Stortzborg, sired three, two of the sons. Ch. Michelob v. Huertgenwald was a double grandson of Kampfhund, but this male line went no further. However, Trumpfhund's daughter Ch. Sporschon v. Stortzborg is the dam of 1952 Ch. Joaq Whizz-Bang, by Ch. Meldon's Merit. Mrs. Margaret C. Perkins carried on during the war in a unique manner, breeding and showing in widely scattered sections of the country as she followed her Army husband from post to post with her "kennels on wheels" Her record of at least eight Stortzborg champions compiled during this period is an achievement which shows what can be accomplished under difficulties. Portable folding pens and a one-wheel trailer helped to solve some of the problems recounted in "Hitting the Road" in the American Kennel Gazette of April 1943."

In the list of champions which follows, (D) stands for "dog" (male), (B) for "bitch" (female), "C.D." for "companion dog", an obedience title, and "Ch." for "champion":

GEORG ALBRECHT 16;8-5( ) 249;8-1( )

According to the "Other ALBRIGHT Families" portion of "The Descendants of Joseph Albright/Albrecht from Macungie Township" by Dale E. Berger, 1981, GEORG emigrated from Germany to America in 1732 and died in York County, PA, about 1766. His arrival is confirmed by the publication of "Ship Passenger Lists" by Carl Boyer, 1977, which states that GEORG emigrated from Rotterdam to Philadelphia on the ship, "John and William" and that he took the Oath of Allegiance to Pennsylvania on 17 October 1732. GEORG was accompanied on the ship by ANTONI (or ANTONIO) ALBRECHT, apparently his son, and Daniel Albrecht whom we have not identified. 1

In the reference by Berger, the author uses consistently the anglicized spellings of given names as well as Albright. Since ALBRIGHT would have no meaning in German, we are using arbitrarily ALBRECHT for German born and ALBRIGHT for American born ancestors and relatives.

As stated on the previous page, ANTONI (or ANTHONY) accompanied his father on the emigration to America and took the Oath of Allegiance to Pennsylvania on 17 October 1732. According to Berger, he moved to Bethlehem, PA, about 1743 and became the first constable there. About 1754, during the Indian uprisings, he moved to the Philadelphia area where, in Passyunck Township, he died about 1757/8. 1

Berger refers to ELIAS as a cordwainer which the dictionary describes as a worker of cordovan leather or a shoemaker. He states his record of service in the American Revolutionary War as follows:

"ELIAS, son of ANTHONY, Revolutionary War, Private 5th class, Capt. Lazarus Pine's 2nd Co., 4th Batt., Phila. City Militia, return dated 19 October 1778. also Private 5th class, Capt. John Hubley's 1st Co., 8th Batt., Lancaster Co. Militia, 10 July 1782."

John Albright 16;7-4( ),6(2) Anna Maria Kohl

According to Berger, John served in the Revolutionary War and later, became a printer in Lancaster, PA. Anna is identified as the daughter of Conrad Kohl and Maria Barbara Fisher.

Mary M. Albright 16;5-2(1),4(1),3(3) Howard Lumley

Our history of Mary and Howard is obtained from page 842 of "History of Lehigh County, Pennsylvania", Volume III, by Charles Rhoads Roberts, 1914.

Howard is identified as the son of James Lumley and Achsah Sherman. He moved to Allentown, PA, in 1856 and married Mary there. Further history is quoted from Roberts:

"Howard Lumley for some years, was section foreman on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, after which he was employed upon the canal until the company advanced him to the position of a conductor on the train, which position he served about eight years. He then engaged in the manufacturing of soap at the East Penn Junction, and for seventeen years was engaged in that business.

Mr. Lumley had been a member of the Republican party, and served the office of street commissioner of Allentown, in a very acceptable manner, under the administration of Mayor W. H. Allison, and afterwards he was an inspector in the water department.

On Feb. 19, 1907, Howard Lumley and his companion in life celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. This was one of the happy events in the lives of this aged couple and the occasion was largely attended by their many appreciating friends. From the time of their marriage until in 1889, the couple resided at No. 150½ Hamilton street, and from that time until the death of Mr. Lumley on Aug. 5, 1909. in his seventy-seventh year, they lived together in the sacred bonds of wedlock, at No. 156 Hamilton street, and there this aged and esteemed old lady, in the evening of her life, continues to reside in the old homestead, where she is held in sacred affection, and her only child, Edgar J., administers unto her with tenderness and love, her every want. She is still hale and hearty and is possessed with a clear mind, a retentive memory and unimpaired sight and hearing." 1

Edgar J. Lumley 16;5-2(1),4(1),3(3),2(1) Emma L. Schuon

Our history of Edgar is quoted from Roberts:

"Edgar J. Lumley spent his early life in Allentown, attended the public and high school of the city, and graduated from the Allentown Business College in 1875. The following year he began life as a soap and candle manufacturer, at which time he bought out the John Ujehlyi establishment at the East Penn Junction and formed a partnership with E. M. Earle, of Catasauqua, under the firm name of Lumley & Earle. A year later the partnership was disolved, and Mr. Lumley continued the business up to 1890, when in March of that year he engaged in the coal and ice business, which he has continued in a most successful manner (in connection with the manufacturing of silk ribbons which he added in April, 1903) until the present time. He enjoys a very extensive trade in the coal and ice business. Mr. Lumley is a large employer of labor and in the latter line, in season, he employs as many as one hundred and fifty people, and in the manufacturing of silk, he employs continually twenty-five people. His extensive coal yards are located at 123-25 Hamilton street, and his silk manufacturing plant at the southeast corner of Second and Hamilton streets.

Mr. Lumley has been actively identified with civic and public matters since his majority. He was elected a member of the common council from the First ward, in 1881, serving in that body for seven years, the last two years was chairman of that body: was elected, in 1888, as a member of the select council, and again served that body for seven years, the last term of which he was its chairman again. During the entire fourteen consecutive years in which Mr. Lumley was a member of the city councils, he did not miss a single session. In the latter year he was elected alderman of the First ward, and served that office with marked ability for one term of five years. He has served for years as a member of the city and county Republican executive committee, and one year was chairman of the city committee.

Mr. Lumley is also the able president of the Allentown Chamber of Commerce, which was organized Sept. 14, 1905. ---- During the administration of Mr. Lumley, the Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in having the free library opened, the debt cancelled, and the much needed institution placed in a flourishing condition; the Associated Charities, an institution intended for the organized and systematic distribution of charity among the needy was established; ---- was instrumental in the establishment of the Play Ground Association, ---- and organization of the Parents and Teachers Association. ----.

Mr. and Mrs. Lumley are regular attendants of St. John's Lutheran church. Socially Mr. Lumley has attained great prominence. He is a 32° Free Mason, a Shriner, an Elk, and an Odd Fellow. His membership is in the following bodies: He was made a Mason in Greenleaf Lodge, No. 561, F. & A. M., on Feb. 15,1900, and became one of the twenty Masons who constituted Jordan Lodge, No. 67, F. & A. M. on June 10, 1913, and is a trustee of the lodge; member of Allen Chapter, No. 203; Allen Council, No. 23; Allen Commandery, No. 20, K. T.; Caldwell Consistory; and Rajah Temple.

Mr. Lumley is a member for nearly 30 years of Lehigh Lodge, No. 83, I. O. O. F..; member of B. P. O. E., No. 130; P. O. S. of A., Camp No. 115; Ben Harrison Castle, No. 214, K. of MC.; Washington Chamber, No. 18, O. K. of F. O. of E.; Allentown Lodge, No. 129, Loyal Order of Moose; Court Manhattan, No. 151, Foresters of America; and Keystone Athletic Association. Mr. Lumley has also membership in the Livingston, Clover, St. Leger, and John Hay Republican Clubs; also the Lehigh County Historical Society, the Lehigh County Agricultural Society, and a director of the Allentown Free Library Association, and the City Board of Charities. He has also been treasurer of the Allen Fire Company for a quarter of a century.

Mr. Lumley is a conservative and successful business man. His sound judgment and honest endeavors have been an asset to Allentown for many years. He is an able presiding officer and his versatality in entertaining either by prepared or impromptu speeches has always been most acceptable in the many social and business functions in which he has been a leading participant.

On Sept. 12, 1881, he married Emma L., daughter of former Mayor Herman and Matilda R. (Schimpf) Schuon, of Allentown."

The record of the marriage between WILLIAM and Phebe Osborn is marked "at Elizabethtown" although it is listed with records of the Presbyterian Church at New Providence, NJ. These records also state that Phebe was baptized at the church on 2 September 1764.

Richard W. Cook, Trustee, Genealogical Society of New Jersey, in "The Thomas Osborne Family of East Hampton, Long Island, With Some of the Descendants In New Jersey and Connecticut", 1971, lists Phebe's birth year as "probably 1761", and identifies her as the daughter of Thomas Osborn. WILLIAM's name is spelled "Cremere" followed by "Cramer" in parentheses.

"Soldier applied Mch. 23, 1818 from Middlesex Co., N.J., age 55; ---- served 6 yrs & was discharged in 1783."

(Page 1232: Delete the entire paragraph before the last on the page beginning "When WILLIAM was" and substitute the following)

The date of Phebe Osborn's untimely death has not been found but it appears to be related to the birth of John H. Creemer, her third child. About two years later, on 28 August 1790, WILLIAM married his second wife, PHEBE JOHNSON, of Woodbridge, NJ, who outlived him over 33 years. 2

(Page 1240: Insert the following reference to PHEBE JOHNSON obtained from "Abstracts of Revolutionary War Pension Applications" at the end of the next to the last paragraph ending "Woodbridge, NJ.")

"PHEBE CREEMER applied Oct. 22, 1838, from New York City, deposing that she is the widow of WM. CREEMER who was a musician & a Rev. War pensioner, whom she m. as 2d wife, Aug. 28, 1790 by Rev. Uzel Ogden, in Woodbridge Twp., Middlesex Co., N.J; her maiden name was PHEBE JOHNSON. WILLIAM CREEMER d. there Apr. 5, 1828. Certificate 4864 issued to her Jan. 10, 1840 at $88.00 per an. from Mch. 4, 1836."

According to the microfilmed records of vital statistics at the New Jersey State Library, Trenton, PHEBE died at Hoboken, NJ, on 28 October 1861 at age 92 of "old age". This indicates her birth year is 1769 instead of 1772 as previously published.

In a letter written in April 1937 and reproduced on the back of the brochure for the sale of the Creemer Homestead in Armonk, NY, Jennie V. Creemer wrote that WILLIAM's bible was inherited by 28

William Creemer Johnson and in reference to the bible stated: 29

"Very interesting too, almost every leaf margin was written by him telling of the happenings of his daily life, he was very religious, and I suppose thought himself full of sin - as that was the trend in those days."

According to Phyllis Johnson Yow, in her letter dated 9 June 1987, 30 the bible was destroyed by someone in the step-branch of her father's family. 29

Jennie also wrote in the letter of April 1937 that WILLIAM was 28 with Washington at Valley Forge and that he was wounded during the Revolution. No corroborating evidence among official records of his service has been found.

No supporting evidence has been found for the claim in the history of the Creemer family written by Florence Wood Holmes that WILLIAM 31 was of Dutch origin.

Henry Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(1)

No reference to Henry has been found in our family letters. Two entries for a Henry Creemer as follows are in the New York City Directory but a family tie is not certain:

1826/7	Henry Creemer	hairdresser	85 Orange
1827/8	Henry Creemer	hairdresser	79 Mulberry

Susannah Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(2) Isaac Brandt

The reference to Susannah in "Abstracts of Revolutionary War Pension Applications" as the daughter of WILLIAM CREEMER and his first wife, Phebe Osborn, is supported by recollections of statements to that effect by my grandmother during my childhood. It appears that the age at death as inscribed on Susan's gravestone is an error. From this reference as published in "National Genealogical Society Quarterly", Volume 30, 1941, we add the following: 2 18

"Susannah C. Creemer m Samuel Brant, Newark, by Rev. Dr. Roe of Woodbridge, Oct. 10, 1807."

This is the only reference which assigns a middle initial to Susannah's name. Brandt is spelled both with and without the "d". It seems certain that the name "Samuel" was used in error. In the letter from WILLIAM CREEMER, written from Woodbridge to his daughter, DEBORAH, on 2 January 1812, he refers to Susan's husband as "Isaac".: 1 3

"Isaac and Susan did not come as was expected - the B's came to see Polly on Sundy Eve ----to night your Mother & Polly are - or have been to Mr. B's your M. has return'd and Polly stays." 4,5

Joseph's hopes were not fulfilled. Entries in the New York City Directory indicate that he he resumed his career in law about 1826. His places of residence were included in entries from 1831 to 1835:

"1826/7	attorney	80 Nassau
1828/9	attorney	184 Canal
1829 to 1830/1	Notary & Commissioner	172 Canal

(Page 1253: Insert the following narrative after the second paragraph ending "6 May 1828")

In the New York City Directory, a John B. Creemer is listed as a clothier from 1824 to 1828/9. Although it is not certain that this John is the pertinent family member, WILLIAM CREEMER's reference to John as a farmer in Woodbridge predates 1824 and the dates of John's role as a witness to wills in New York City in 1825 and 1828 are within the time-frame for the New York City location. The residences are listed as follows in the Directory: 1

1824 to 1825/6	98 Cherry
1826 to 1827/8	126 Cherry
1828/9	Clinton c North

In the microfilmed records of vital statistics at New Jersey State Library, Trenton, the record of the death of John W. Creemer identifying him as the son of John B. Creemer and Permelia, proves that Permelia is the wife of John B. as previously assumed. 5

Adeline Matilda Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(7) John Leveridge

The earliest information we have found concerning Adeline, other than her birthdate and place, is that of her marriage to John of New York City. The date of 4 May 1816 is recorded by Rev. Henry Cook in "Marriage Records, First Presbyterian Church, Metuchen, N.J." and also in "Abstracts of Revolutionary War Pension Applications" published in the "National Genealogical Society Quarterly", Volume 30, 1941. Another record lists the date as 14 May 1816 with the added notation, "married by Rev. Dr. Griffen". The third date, 9 May 1815, is more likely the correct one as indicated by the letter from Adeline's father dated 4 June 1815, to her sister DEBORAH in New York City: 1

"Mr. Leveridge departs on the morrow - with Adeline his Lawful Spouse - for good - and for the Best - I trust -."

The following entries in the New York City Directory beginning in 1815 identify John as a lawyer, give the location of his office, and, for some years, his place of residence:

1815/6	Attorney & Counselor	60 Cherry	115 Harmon
1816/7	Attorney & Counselor	60 Cherry	115 Harmon
1817/8	Attorney & Counselor	273 Water	115 Harmon
1818/9	Attorney & Counselor	273 Water	36 Eldridge

Apparently, John resided with his parents until 1817/8. His mother, designated "Widow Ann Leveridge" continued to live at 115 Harmon from the entry of 1818/9 through 1820/1. We continue the entries:

1819	Attorney & Counselor	72 Cherry	36 Eldridge
1820	Judge	Division & Allen
1821/2		152 Cherry
1822 - 1828/9	Attorney & Counselor	139 Cherry
1829 - 1840/1	Attorney & Counselor	145 Cherry
1841/2	Attorney & Counselor	145 Cherry	Staten Island

(Page 1257: Delete the next to the last paragraph beginning "We have no" and substitute the following)

Additional history of John is included in his obituary published in The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record" Volume 17, page 115:

"John Leveridge, the oldest lawyer in this city, and probably our oldest native citizen, died of old age, at his residence, 141 East 45th Street, 17 February 1886, age 93. He was born on James Street, 1 September 1792, son of John, also of New York City, and Ann Chase. In 1811, he was admitted to the bar having studied law with John W. Mulligan ----. In the War of 1812, he served as private and had a pension during the later years of his life for this service. For many years he lived and had an office on Cherry Street. ---- He held the position of Judge of the Seventh and Tenth Wards Courts. During the mayoralty of James Harper he was Corporation Counsel, 1844-1845. He was one of the founders of the St. Nicholas Society, and of the Public School Society. A firm believer in the doctrines of the Presbyterian Church, he long held the office of Elder in the Rutgers Street Presbyterian Church. At the time of his death he was a member of the Brick Church, corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-Seventh Street. ---- He was buried at Greenwood Cemetery. He married 4 May 1816 Adeline Matilda, daughter of WILLIAM CREEMER 1 of Woodbridge, N.J. She was born 28 February 1797. His second wife was Mary Jane, daughter of John Poillon of this city. Eight children survive."

John was also referred to on page 394 in Volume I of "History of the Bench and Bar of New York", New York History Company, 1897, but no additional history is provided. No details of Adeline's untimely death on 16 October 1823 at age 26 have been found.

William is referred to first in The New York City Directory as a grocer for 1824 to 1825/6, first at 231 Front and second at 113 Mott streets. The entry for 1826/7 calls him a "cartman" at rear 104 Mott. No entries follow until 1829/0 but continue from then until 1835/6 and again for 1841/2 listing his work as "livery stables" or just "stables". His workplace and residence are listed as follows:

1829 - 1830/1	215 Bowery	h. 75 Elizabeth
1831/2	93 Bowery	h. 75 Elizabeth
1832/3	140 Hester

1834/5	142 Hester	h. 89 Bowery
1835/6		h. 89 Bowery

The identification of Elizabeth Ann Creemer in "Abstracts of Revolutionary War Pension Applications" adds a probable solution to the identity of each "aunt Elizabeth". The poor spelling, the references to Lucy and Mrs Hewlett and the prize money common to both of the following letters dated 16 January (1867) and 27 Feb- 11 20 ruary 1867 establish that "Elizabeth Creemer" and "Betsy Creemer", writers of both letters, are the same person and undoughtedly the widow of William W. Creemer. Thus, the other "Aunt Elizabeth" is almost certainly William's sister, Elizabeth Ann Creemer. 11

In "The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record", page 147, Volume 41, 1910, Hannah is identified as the daughter of Henry Dillingham and Jerusha Strang.

Abraham is listed in the New York City Directory from 1829/0 to 1841/2 as a smith. His workplace and residence when listed are as follows:

1829/0	186 Ludlow
1830/1	Avenue 8 & 21st

6 Florence Wood Holmes W19;6-2( ),5(9),4(1),3(1),2(1) wife of great grandson Marion Hamilton Brainard

Francis W. Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(11)

Although no reference to Francis has been found in our family letters, his name does appear in the "New York City Directory" from 1828 to 1830/1 when he is listed as a grocer, and again from 1836 to 1841/2 where his profession is designated "carriages". His workplace and residence when included for each entry follows:

1828 to 1829/0	215 Bowery & Rivington
1830/1	Canal
1836/7	177 Grand
1837/8	29 Canal	h. 283 Spring

1839/0	29 Canal	h. 84 Walker
1840/1	29 Canal	h. 535 Broadway
1841/2	29 Canal	h. 108 Leonhard

On page 102 of "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge", it is stated that a Francis M. Creemer married Abby Jane Davis on 15 April 1837.

Microfilmed records at the New Jersey State Library list a Francis Creemer as a laborer who died in Metuchen, NJ, on 1 August 1866 of "congestion of bowels".

None of our references provide proof of a family relationship.

Elizabeth Ann Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(12)

WILLIAM CREEMER referred to Elizabeth in his letter dated 2 January 1812, addressed to DEBORAH:

"The howling wind is all I hear alone in the room exepting little Eliza in the bed a sleep----"

Laura, apparently a relative but, so far, not identified, referred to "aunt Elizabeth" whom we presume to be Elizabeth Ann in her letter to "Aunt & Cousins" dated 12 October 1858:

"Ma & I were down to New York last week, we called at Aunt Betsey's she was well she told us Aunt Elizabeth has been out to Bergen and staid two or three days and she thought of going to see Uncle Abram"

The following paragraph about the Reuben Green House is a partial quotation from page 16 of the published records referred to above:

> "The Reuben Green House. "Green Valley Farm" was built by Reuben Green (1787 - 1860) in 1812. ---- It was for many years the home of William H. Creemer (1829 - 1900) who married Reuben Green's daughter, Phebe Jane, and to whom this book is appropriately dedicated. Photo taken around 1900 ----."

The Creemer Homestead was offerred for sale about 1937. A portion of the sales brochure is reproduced below:

JULIA BENNET

ARMONK VILLAGE, NEW YORK

Country Real Estate

THE CREEMER HOMESTEAD on Creemer Road, North Castle, Westchester County and Greenwich, Conn.

COUNTRY HOUSE, 57½ ACRES, WITH STREAM.

One of the historic old properties in the nearby Westchester-Greenwich commuting area.

The Creemer family, the present owners, have owned and lived on this property for at least 200 years.

The house and about 57½ acres are offered for sale in one unit. Resale of portions may be carried out. Electricity is available at the westerly corner.

The house is about 125 years old. It has old glass, hardware, wide floor boards, five fireplaces, some with attractive old mantels. There are ten rooms, large attic, hot water heating system, no other modern improvements. Water is supplied by a dug well. There is an old barn.

The never-failing stream runs through the gardens and may be dammed for swimming, skating or fishing. There are farm meadows, woodland, several springs.

The house is well proportioned, and is suitable for remodeling and the installation of improvements. It is protected in location by the land directly across the roadway, which is included in the sale.

The tax maps show 57½ acres, of which 4½ acres are in Connecticut, (2 acres on the south side of the road and 2½ acres on the north side).

The assessed valuation is $23,700, and the taxes on the property are about $600 per year. This includes both North Castle and Greenwich areas.

THE PRICE IS $16,000

Brokers are invited to cooperate. The usual commission is payable upon completion of sale.

The house may be shown by appointment. Brokers are asked to telephone, if possible, before coming up. If the telephone Armonk Village 442 does not answer, Julia Bennet may be found at the Receiver of Taxes office, Town offices, Armonk, New York, telephone Armonk Village 432.

Subject to errors, ommissions, prior sale, withdrawal without notice and approval of terms by the heirs.

On the reverse side of the brochure is the map of the property reproduced below and an historical account written by Jennie Vermilye Creemer in April 1937 from which are the following quotations: 1

"I can tell you this about Green Valley, always known as that by our relatives and friends, and been that as far back as I can remember. This also I know, my grandfather, Reuben Green, was born in 1786, he died in 1860 before we, my twin and I, were born; he inherited the place from his grandfather. ---- My father marrying my mother is where the Creemer name came in and again let me say - I am the only Creemer of the name left - and the only Green is an old lady of 92 who lives near us here ---- 2 3,4

Mr. Sterling bought about half of the Green-Creemer farm. Below what is now the Hanley estate ---- it's a deep ravine and always very interesting to us, a stream running through immense rocks, and large trees, near the top on the west side, where the land runs off comparatively level were scattered rocks, and on them impressions cut - it is said by the Indians. ----

Still all about the Green ancestors - the land owned by them began with the Green Valley, reached north and as far as Middle Patent. They were descendants of Col. John Green who settled in New Haven about 1650 from England. He was born about 1610. Then, to continue with my grandfather's grandfather, who lived in the valley, whose name was Charles, from that time until a few years ago, there was always a Charles Green; ---- The Green name is extinct - or soon will be. The cousin here is the only one left. My grandfather must have been a busy man with his attention to his farm and also his regular business which was that of a 'drovyer' meaning I suppose drover, driving cattle and horses from New England - Vermont I think - selling them all along the route. The stone walls on the farm were built by men who came from New England with their ox teams for that purpose, also grafting of the wild apple trees were done by men from there. A previous generation had slaves. There was, until recent years, an old grave yard on the Dr. Edgar estate where the graves were marked by rough unmarked stones like fence stones where the slaves were buried. ---- Our beloved home here was built by my grandfather one hundred and twenty-five years ago; the original one was not in the same spot I think. There is a field near, always even unto now, called the 'old house garden'.

William Henry Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(9),4(1) Phebe Jane Green

The additional history of William and Phebe is obtained from the family genealogical notes compiled by Florence Wood Holmes and made available to us by Anne Elizabeth Brainard. 15

The marriage of William and Phebe Jane was performed by Reverend Isaac D. Vermilye who was honored later in the naming of their daughter, Jennie. William is referred to as a blacksmith in his younger days, presumably while a resident of New York City. He is alleged to have made fencing swords for actor Edwin Booth Senior, in 1845 based on a note written by William asking for their return when they were no longer needed by Booth. William was also in the express business, first at 117 John Street and then at 60 Warren Street in New York City. Holmes states further that he moved to "Greene Valley", Armonk, NY, in 1861 to become a farmer. In 1894, he went on an extensive tour of Eastern Canada with Seymour Crapser. 7

William is identified by Florence Wood Holmes as the son of James Ferris of North Castle, NY. 1

In the letter to JULIA CLELAND from Lucy M. Gore, writing from New Haven, CT, on 14 October 1866, we find a brief reference to William and "Kate": 2,3

"We have received visits from Willie Ingraham and his wife this summer, and from William Ferris and Kate Whom I like very much. I returned with them to Round Hill (CT) and made quite a visit.

Thus, we solve the mystery of his having "disappeared". Florence states that her husband, Marion, remembered him when he came east for a visit but no date was given. 3 2

The family genealogy written by Florence Wood Holmes, identifies James as the son of James Hamilton Brainard and Eliza Jane Johnson and provides the vital statistics and brief history. Prior to her marriage to James, Ella taught school in North Castle, NY. For their honeymoon. Ella and James traveled to Niagara Falls. James was the postmaster in Highlands, NJ, and was the proprietor of a store there. After being burned out twice, he became a painting contractor. 1

Annie Green Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(9),4(1),3(3) Orville Greene Johnson

From the genealogical notes written by Florence Wood Holmes, Annie died at the Ivy Nursing Home in Middletown, NJ. Orville is identified as the son of William Johnson and Deborah Lufbarron of Locust, NJ. The explanation of the confusion concerning Annie's birthdate is given in the history of her twin sister, Jennie. According to Holmes, Annie was severely crippled with arthritis for many years but became skilled at painting china and making hooked rugs, an avocation she continued, in the words of Anne Elizabeth Brainard, "when she could barely hold the needles". Orville was a wholesale produce dealer in New York City and lived in Hoboken, NJ. Later, he became a salesman for a cement company. 1 2 3

Jennie Vermilye Creemer 19;6-2( ),5(9),4(1),3(4)

Anne Elizabeth Brainard informs us that Jennie removed all known records of the date of her birth. The records at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Armonk, NY, give the date of her baptism as 14 June 1863. Florence Wood Holmes states that the month and day of her birth is 15 September. Since the birthdate of her brother is known to be 29 June 1859, it is possible that Jennie (and twin sister, Annie) was born as early as 1860 but more likely, either 1861 or 1862. For many years, Jennie cared for her sister, Annie, who was crippled with arthritis. 1 2 3 4

On the brochure prepared for the sale of the Creemer Homestead in Armonk, NY, a letter written by Jennie in April 1937 was reproduced. Quotations from that letter are presented on page (1243) and (1281F).

ROSAMOND COTTRELL, identified as the widow of JAMES, is listed in the New York City Directory from 1822 to 1841/2. From 1822 through 1825, she is referred to as a mantuamaker.(According to the dictionary, a mantua is a loose-fitting gown worn especially in the 17th and 18th centuries.)

Her residence for each year is listed as follows:

"1822/3 - Elm & Frank	1833/4 - 37 Vesey
1823/4 - 108 Franklin	1834 to 1836/7 - 107 Reade
1824 to 1826/7 - 72 Grand	1837/8 - 163 Greene
1827 to 1832/3 - 59 Norfolk	1838 to 1841/2 - 158 Crosby

In some entries, the name is spelled "COTTRILL".

Abraham Johnson Harned (1) 38;7-2( ),6(1),5(2) Jerusha Sofield

On page 821 of "Biographical Sketches", by Samuel T. Wiley, 1896, Abraham is identified as the son of Jonathan Harned, born in Woodbridge, NJ, and, like his father, is referred to as a minister. Jerusha is identified as the daughter of Runyon Sofield and Susannah Kelly. After the death of Abraham, Susannah married James Tanner by whom she had a daughter, Matilda. 1

In "Marriages Solomized by Rev. Henry Cook", First Presbyterian Church, Metuchen, NJ, Jerusha's maiden name is spelled "Sophfield".

Nathan is listed as "Vestryman" by Dally in "Woodbridge and Vicinity", from 1827 to 1829.

Nancy Harned 38;7-2( ),6(1),5(6) Aaron Drake

Quoting from "Bible Records and Family Lines, Harned-Price", published by the DAR, Ompage Chapter, Perth Amboy, 1941:

> "Aaron Drake, a farmer of Woodbridge, NJ, married Nancy Drake who died in 1871."

Asa Runyon Harned 38;7-2( ),6(1),5(10) Mary Daily

The wedding between Asa and Mary on 28 July 1824 is recorded in "Marriage Records, First Presbyterian Church, Metuchen, NJ" by Rev. Henry Cook. In one record, Asa was referred to as a "hermit".

Ellis Barron Harned 38;7-2( ),6(1),5(11) Sarah Ann Bishop

A brief reference to Ellis is quoted from "Bible Records and Family Lines, Harned-Price", published by the DAR, Ompage Chapter, Perth Amboy, NJ, 1941:

> "Ellis Barron Harned had an iron foundry in New York City and he cast the Dally gate which is at the Kearney Cottage, Perth Amboy. This gate was part of a fence which surrounded the Dally plot in Alpine Cemetery."

Deborah Johnson Harned 38;7-2( ),6(1),5(13) Samuel Dally

From the DAR records under the heading "Cemeteries of Middlesex County, NJ" is the following:

"Alpine Cemetery, Perth Amboy. On the west side of Amboy Avenue opposite St. Mary's. A protestant buriel ground, established 1862. First burial, Deborah Barron Harned, wife of Samuel Dally, descendant of SAMUEL BARRON, patriot of American Revolution of Woodbridge, NJ." 1

The "First burial" statement raises questions since the reference gives the date Alpine Cemetery was established as 1862 and our record of Deborah's death is 1849. Also, the DAR account lists Deborah's middle name as "Barron" and our record as "Johnson".

In "The Family of Rev. John Sherman of Wethersfield, Milford and Branford, Conn., and Watertown, Mass." by Donald Lines Jacobus and published in Volume 20 of "The American Genealogist", Mary's mother is identified as Mary Launce. John Sherman refers to Mary briefly in his will dated 6 August 1685:

"to my daughter Mary Barron also ten pounds."

Part of our confusion concerning the identity of Elias Barron who 9 was apparently killed by Indians in 1725 was the statement by Ezra Scollay Stearns in "Lovewell's Men", published in the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register", Volume LXIII, 1909, stating that he was the son of Ellis Barron and Sarah Ingersoll. Eugene Diven Buchanan, in "The Barron Family", published in Volume 20 of "The American Genealogist", provides the following comments concerning the existence of this Sarah:

"It has been claimed that Ellis Barron had a second wife Sarah who was the mother of the younger children. This claim has a record basis. The earlier vital records at Groton appear to be lost, but in accordance with colonial laws the early Groton town clerks copied the records of births, marriages and deaths for the use of the county clerk, who in turn copied them into record books. Elizabeth Barron in these County Court records is 8 entered as daughter of Ellis and Sarah Barron in the record of her birth on 26 Oct. 1687. Our collaborator, Mr. Torrey, has made a critical study of the vital entries in the County Court records and has found a number of mistakes in them. The entry preceding and that following the Barron entry give the name of the mother as Sarah, and the fact that the name Sarah is in three successive entries creates the suspicion that an error was made. Ellis Barron married Mary Sherman on 26 May 1679. No record of her death has been found. None of the younger children of Ellis named a daughter Sarah, as some of them would have been likely to do if their mother's name had been Sarah, with the exception of Elias whose wife's mother was named Sarah. 9,

It will be noted that two of the younger children of Ellis, Elizabeth and Grace, married men who lived at New Haven, (CT). 8, Mary Sherman's half-brother Daniel Sherman settled in New Haven, and her sister of the whole blood, Mrs. Elizabeth Gaskell, was a resident of New Haven. This makes it probable that Grace's mother was Mary Sherman and that she was married at the home of one of her maternal relatives."

The date of the will of Rev. John Sherman, 6 August 1685, in which he leaves ten pounds to his daughter, Mary Barron, was evidence for Buchanan to state:

"This makes it certain that she was the mother of the older children."

Buchanan carries the reasoning further:

"The Sherman estate was not settled for many years, and the executor's final account was not exhibited until 24 Dec. 1712. This account shows that the legacy of ten pounds was paid "to Mary Barron". One legacy was paid "to ye Children of Bezaliell Sherman", so it seems certain that Mary Barron was living when her legacy was paid. The legacies amounted to a total of about £150. No sale of Sherman realty by the executors sufficient to discharge these legacies was made until 26 Jan 1703/4, and the legacies were presumably paid between that date and 1712 when the account was presented to the Court. It is therefore concluded that Mary Sherman survived to be mother of all of the Barron children, and that Ellis had no second wife, Sarah."

According to "American Ancestry", Volume 7, 1892, John became freeman on 16 May 1690. Additional references in "Genealogy and Family History, Southern New York", state that John held various town offices in Watertown, MA, and that Mary was admitted to full communion in the church on 19 August 1688. him as the son of William Shattuck and his wife, Susanna. He adds that William married Susannah Randall on 22 May 1674 and on 22 January 1680, he bought 40 acres of land in Cambridge from Philly Jones of Cambridge. Bond adds confusion with his statement that on 23 November 1691:

> "the selectmen ordered Philip Shattuck to provide for his cousin, the wife of William, who is in the country service, and for the two children. He entered the service November 18th."

According to our records. by 1691, William and Susannah had four children, all living. Suspicion of error is also indicated by the birthdate of Elizabeth, their first child, of 23 November 1684, over ten years after their wedding date.

Mary Coolidge 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(1) Nathaniel Bright

Nathaniel is identified as the son of Henry Bright and Anne Gouldstone or Golstone by Virkus in "The Abridged Compendium of American Genealogy". His mother's name is written Goldstone in Volume 35, 1881, of"New England Historical and Genealogical Register". Bond adds that Nathaniel was a tanner and a farmer and that he was admitted as freeman on 18 April 1690 and served as selectman in 1701, 1717 and 1723.

Obadiah Coolidge (1) 76,11-5( ),10(4),9(2) Elizabeth Rouse

According to "American Family Antiquity", Albert Wells, 1880, there were two children born to Simon Coolidge and Hannah Barron named Obadiah, one born on 20 July 1663 and dying shortly thereafter and a second, born sometime in 1664 and dying in 1706. In "Descendants of John and Mary Coolidge of Watertown, Massachusetts" Emma Downing Coolidge lists one Obadiah born 20 July 1663 and dying 16 May 1706. This was repeated in "One Branch of the Coolidge Family, 1427 - 1963". Evidence to the contrary in Watertown Vital Records has not been found so the family table is revised accordingly. 1,2

From both of the latter references we find that Obadiah settled in Sudbury, MA, presumably before his marriage to Elizabeth because it was there, according to Sudbury records, the marriage took place. He returned to Watertown about 1694 and was there when he owned the church covenant 28 August 1698. Obadiah died in Watertown in 1706 and left a will dated 18 February 1706, proved 19 June 1706.

Elizabeth married her second husband, John Cunningham, on 16 February 1714/15.

In "The New England Coolidges", published in"New England Historical and Genealogical Register", 1923, Rebecca is identified as the daughter of John Frost and Rebecca Andrews of Watertown, MA, and Joseph is referred to as a tailor. Additional history is quoted as follows:

> "He removed to Cambridge as early as 1694, and was deacon of the First Church there from 22 January 1718 until his death. He was a selectman in 1713, 1714, and 1730."

Nathan, referred to as Deacon of Watertown in "The New England Coolidges", published in "New England Historical and Genealogical Register", 1923, was the widower of Hannah's cousin, Sarah Coolidge. He is named the son of Nathan Fiske and his wife, Elizabeth. Bond list him as representative from Watertown from 1727 through 1729 and 1732. Bond identifies Daniel as the son of Daniel Smith and Mary Grant.

Elizabeth Barron 76;11-5( ),10(5),9(2)

According to a reference in "American Family Antiquity", Elizabeth was born in Groton, MA, on 28 September 1677. This appears unlikely in that the inhabitants of Groton are believed to have fled after the town was burned by Indians on 13 March 1676 and did not return until at least the spring of 1678. We have no record of the exact date when her parents returned to Groton. 1

The birthdate of 28 September 1667 is recorded for Elizabeth on page 96 of "Genealogy of the Name and Family of Hunt" by T.B. Wyman, Jr. This date conforms to the period of residency of her family in Groton and "fits" more logically in the child sequence as revised.

The more conclusive evidence found during research for this third volume of our family history eliminates this Elizeus or Ellis as the emigre to Woodbridge, NJ or as the Ellis killed, apparently, by Indians at Pequawket. John Barron 76;10-4(7),9(4)

The birthdate for John has not been found except for one designated "26 March 1669, Groton, MA." This is almost certainly an error in that it conflicts with the date of birth of his brother, Moses, 28 October 1669, and is probably confused with the identical birthdate and place for his cousin, Moses. John is entered in the family table as the fourth child arbitrarily because of the unexplained gap of six years between birthdates for Mary and Samuel and the fact that John's death "fits" between those dates. 1 2 3,4

Convincing evidence that ELIZEUS, the emigrant to Woodbridge, NJ, is the son of MOSES BARRON of Chelmsford, MA, is provided by Eugene Diven Buchanan in "The ELLIS BARRON Family" published in Volume 20 of "The American Genealogist". 1 13

"On 18 October 1708, ELIZEUS BARRON of Woodbridge, "East Jersie," and William Barron of Sherborn, Mass., quitclaimed to Isaac Barron of Chelmsford, all interest in lands of "our Honored ffather MOSES BARRON late of Chelmsford Deced," witnessed by Moses Barron, Mary Barron (wife of Moses), and Elizabeth Richardson. (Middlesex County Deeds, Vol. 16, p.481) ELIZEUS, son of MOSES, settled in Woodbridge, N.J., m (1) 27 Dec. 1705 Mary Andrews, who d. 23 Aug. 1702, and DEBORAH ——— , and d. between 22 July and 16 Aug. 1715, his will mentioning wife DEBORAH and children Sarah and Mary. (N.J. Archives, Wills 1-270)" 2 3 4,5 1 6,7

DEBORAH ANDREWS adds to the evidence by her letter, in DAR records, written after 24 June 1715, addressed "to Mr. Samuel Barron, Living at Chelmsford, in New England", her brother-in-law: 8

"Loving Brother, there (writ with my love remembered to yourself and my duty to my honored father & mother, with my kind love and respect to all my kindred and relations with you), are to acquaint you with ye sorrowful news of the death of your brother and my dear husband, ELISEUS BARRON, who departed this life ye 24th of June, last passed, and has left me a sorrowful widow with three children, one son and two daughters. We are all in good health at present, through ye Lord's goodness to us. Our friends and relations here are generally in health. So having nothing else at present to trouble you with, desiring ye prayers to God for me, that he would support me in this my desolate condition, Wishing you prosperity both in body and soul, I remain, 10,11 9,6,7

Your loving Sister, DEBORAH BARRON."

In paragraph 5164 of "New Jersey Genealogy", the birthdate for ELIZEUS (called ELLIS) is given as 1682, that of the son of MOSES. 1

During the late 1600's, there was a significant movement of settlers from New England to New Jersey so there is nothing unusual which might cast doubt on ELIZEUS' move to Woodbridge. This action was destined to unite the families of JOHN SMITH, EPHRAIM ANDREWS and ELIZEUS BARRON. Thus, we can reject easily, in the absence of clear documentation, the claims stated on page 187 of "Immigrants To America Before 1750", page 53 of Volume 5 of "American Ancestry" and page 241 of "The Biographical Encyclopedia of New Jersey of the Nineteenth Century" that ELIZEUS (ELLIS) was born in England. An exact date for the arrival of ELIZEUS in Woodbridge has not been found but dates of on or about 1689 or 1690 as stated in "Immigrants To America Before 1750", "American Ancestry", Volume 5, "The Biographical Encyclopedia of New Jersey of the Nineteenth Century" and Monette's "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge" are not supported by appropriate documentation. Thus, unless ELIZEUS was brought to Woodbridge as a child, of which we have no specific evidence, it is more likely he arrived about 1700 when he was old enough to "seek his fortune" on his own. 12,10

After his emigration to Woodbridge, his marriage to his first wife, Mary Andrews, on 27 December 1705, was performed by Samuel Sheppard. On the following 12 August 1706, a son, Androus, was born but he died less than three weeks later. Mary died even earlier on 23 August 1706. Sometime early in 1709/0, Elizeus married Mary's sister, DEBORAH.

ELIZEUS received from his father-in-law, EPHRAIM ANDREWS, his home farm; a lot of 60 acres near Amboy. ELIZEUS was referred to as a "landed proprietor" and as a Justice of the Peace for many years. In 1714, he contracted to build a church for 100 pounds but, according to "Dally's History", the contract was broken after he had expended eighty pounds on stone and timber. He died in 1715, leaving a will dated 22 July 1715 and proved 16 August 1715; his wife, DEBORAH, being named as sole executrix. In the will, he is referred to as ELIZEUS of Woodbridge, Middlesex, Carpenter.

DEBORAH is mentioned as being a witness to the will of Stephen Kent of Woodbridge dated 11 April 1716.

Samuel Barron (2) 76;11-5( ),10(1),9(1),8(1) Abigail Woods

"The New England Historical and Genealogical Register", Volume 54, 1910, names Abigail as the daughter of Samuel Woods and Alice Rushton and, at her marriage to Samuel, as widow of Daniel Pierce.

Confusion exists concerning the identity of Samuel. Samuel Abbott Green, in "Early Church Records, Groton, Mass.", states:

"Mr. Barron was born about the year 1684, and was, perhaps, a younger son of John and Elizabeth (Hunt) Barron." 1,2

In "Groton Records", Green indicates Samuel is the son of Ellis Barron and Lydia Prescott: 3 4

"Land sold in Groton by Ellis and Lydia of Lancaster, Mass., to his sons, Ellis and Samuel, ---- date of 1713 is probably that of the registration of the sale and not of the deed." 9

Green confirms the confusion by stating in "Early Church Records":

"In his will (Samuel's), he mentions a grandson, Silas Parker Barron, which may help to straighten out the genealogy of the Groton Branch of the family, now little known." 6

In "The New England Sherman", Samuel is named the son of Ellis Barron and Mary Sherman. His residency in Groton and birth and marriage dates provide some support to this identification. A Samuel Barron referred to by Captain John Lane in a list among Lane Family Papers may be this Samuel although it is possible it is his first cousin once removed, son of MOSES BARRON: 9 5 7,8

"A list of the names of the troops which served under my command to the relief of Dunstable July 4 1706 ---- These also went to Groton Dunstable and Dracut 11 August ----"

Green mentions Samuel in "Groton Historical Series":

"Samuel Barron, who died on June 9, 17771, in the eighty-eighth year of his age, was a member of the family. (of Ellis and John Barron, original proprietors of Groton) His memory is still cherished at Groton as the giver of a small sum of money to the Church of Christ, of which the interest is used for the benefit of the poor." 9,1

The bequest is recorded in "Early Settlers of Groton":

"My Will and plesuer is that the first Church of Christ in Groton should have sum thing oute of my estate for the poore of saied Church and I do hereby Give to the saied Church the sum of thirteen pounds five shillings and four pence Lawfull money to be paied to the saied Church oute of my Estate by my Executer within one year next after my decease to be Lett oute to Interest by the saied Church and the Interest to be approprated for the Bennefit of the poore of saied Church as the Church shall order but the princaple never to be demineshed."

Green records Samuel's epitaph in "Epitaphs from the Old Burying Ground in Groton, Mass."

Benjamin Barron 76;11-5( ),10(1),9(1),8(3) Elizabeth Parris

The following reference to Benjamin and Elizabeth from "Early Generations of the Founders of Old Dunstable", by Ezra S. Stearns, 1911, repeats the error identifying Benjamin's mother as Sarah Ingersoll instead of Mary Sherman. The discussion of this error is presented on the revision of page 1476 covering the history of Ellis Barron and Mary Sherman:

"Elizabeth Parris, born Boston, November 28, 1682; married in Sudbury, January 13, 1709/0, Benjamin Barron, born about 1680. son of Ellis and Sarah (Ingersol) Barron of Watertown. They lived in Concord, where he died July 13, 1754; she died March 21, 1760. ---- Benjamin Barron, the husband of Elizabeth, was a brother of Ellis Barron of Lovewell's third expedition. In Bond's "Watertown", page 391, he is erroneously called Benjamin Barnard."

In "Elizabeth and Grace Barron" published in Volume 21 of "The American Genealogist" it is stated that the date of Elizabeth's death, 15 October 1782, was entered in the records of the North Guilford Congregational Church now in the Connecticut State Library in Hartford. Nathaniel is referred to as "of Guilford" and as being married to Elizabeth by Justice Minott, in "Concord Births, Marriages and Deaths".

Virkus identifies Daniel as the son of Abraham Fowler. In "Elizabeth and Grace Barron", it is stated that below the church entry for Elizabeth Barron: 1

> "Is a note on the death of "Widow Grace Fowler, Feb. 13, 1783. She was a younger sister of the aged Mrs. Morse mentioned above." That of course identifies Grace ---- as a daughter of Ellis and Mary (Sherman) Barron." 2,3

Elias Barron (1) 76;11-5( ),10(1),9(1),8(6) Priscilla Wilson

We had the tragic story of Elias but could not identify him with certainty until we eliminated the confusion introduced by the following quotation from "Lovewell's Men", by Ezra Scollay Stearns published in the "New England Historical and Genealogical Register", Volume LXIII, 1909:

> "Ellis Barron, son of Ellis[3] & Sarah Ingersoll, born about 1695, He was of the 4th generation, Ellis[4], Ellis[3], Ellis[2], ELLIS[1]. Name sometimes Elias." 1 3,4

In the article entitled "The Barron Family", published in Volume 20 of "The American Genealogist", Eugene Diven Buchanan provides the reasoning that the entry of the name "Sarah Ingersoll" in the town records was an error and that Elias was the son of Ellis Barron and Mary Sherman. Details are reported on the revision of page 1476, Volume III, covering the history of Ellis and Mary. 1 2

Returning to "Lovewell's Men", we add a brief summary of the history of Elias:

> "He enlisted from Groton, and in the engagement was mortally wounded, dying not far from the field of battle. He married at Concord 26 September 1718, Priscilla, born 23 Feb. 1699/0, daughter of William and Sarah Blood Wilson, by whom he had four children.

In "Records of Births and Marriages Between 1635 and 1850 of Concord, Mass.", a detail is added:

> "Elias Barron married Prisilah Willson, both of Concord, by Justice minott 26 September 1718."

Additional information is found in "Groton Historical Series" by Samuel Abbott Green who states that Elias was:

> "a soldier under Captain John Lovewell in the famous expedition, when the heroic leader lost his life at Pequawket, on May 8, 1725. Elias Barron was wounded in the same action, and, straying away from his comrades, was never afterward heard from, though his "Gun Case" was subsequently found on the other side of Ossipee River. ---- His family was left in destitute circum-

John is referred to by Virkus as Sergeant. According to "Colonial Families of America", he lived in Groton, MA, from 1690 to 1701, then Plainfield, CT, until 1704, Canterbury, CT, until 1721, Tolland, CT, until 1725, Wellington, CT, until 1728, Windsor, CT, until 1739, Coventry, CT, in 1740, then back to Tolland and finally to Windsor where he died on 6 September 1751. He had five children by his first wife whose maiden name was not stated but there was no reference to any children by his second wife. Elizabeth Stoughton is identified as the widow of Joseph Mather and daughter of John Stoughton and Mary Fitch, (named Sarah Fitch in "Genealogy, Connecticut", page 875.)

Timothy Barron 76;11-5( ),10(1),9(9),8(1)

According to "Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England" by Savage, Timothy was born in Sudbury, MA on 1 July 1700 but this date is listed elsewhere as the date of his baptism.

Savage identifies Timothy as the son of Timothy Barron and Rachel Jennison. 1 2

The list of "Groton Marriages" records the marriage between a Timothy Barron and Hannah Fletcher of Chelmsford, MA, but does not identify the parents of Timothy. Because of the association of Timothy's second cousin, Timothy, son of Moses Barron and Sarah Power, with Groton, MA, we are assuming that Hannah is associated with that branch of the family. 3,4 3,5 6,4

Rachel mentions "Timothy, of full age" in a record dated 19 February 1721/2, as part of the administration on the estate of Timothy Barron of Watertown, granted to Rachel on 1 September 1718. (Middlesex County (MA) Probate, File 1321.) 2 1

Rebecca Coolidge 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(3),8(2) Edward Wigglesworth

According to "The New England Coolidges" published in "New England Historical and Genealogical Register", 1923, Edward, referred to as Reverend, obtained his degree of A.B. at Harvard Colledge, 1710, of A.M. at Harvard, 1713, and of S.T.D. at University of Edinburgh, 1730. He was Hollis Professor of Theology at Harvard.

Edward is identified as the son of Reverend Michael Wigglesworth and his wife, Sibyll, who died 6 August 1708. Edward's first wife, whom he married 15 June 1726, was Sarah Leverett, daughter of John Leverett, President of Harvard College. She died 9 November 1727.

Stephen Coolidge 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(3),8(5)

"The New England Coolidges" states that Stephen obtained his A.B. degree in 1724 and A.M. in 1727, from Harvard College, and that:

> "He was master of the Cambridge Grammer School and a physician. His epitaph reads as follows: "Here lyes the body of Stephen Coolidge, M.A. sometimes Master of the Free School in this Town Who departed this life May 5th 1758 in the 50th year of his age."

Mary Coolidge 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(3),8(6) Samuel Porter

In "The New England Coolidges", "New England Historical and Genealogical Register", 1923, Samuel is referred to as Reverend and as "of Sherborn". He received his degree of A.B. at Harvard College in 1730 and A.M. in 1733.

Daniel Hastings 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(7),8(1) Sarah Ball

Virkus names Sarah as the daughter of James Ball and Elizabeth Fiske. Bond states that Daniel and Sarah moved to Shrewsbury, MA, about 1729 where he died 4 July 1777.

Benjamin Hastings 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(7),8(2) Mary Tainter

Bond refers to Benjamin as "of Waltham" and identifies Mary as the daughter of Simon Tainter and Joanna Stone. Tainter may be spelled "Taynter" or "Taintor".

Nathaniel Hastings 76;11-5( ),10(4),9(7),8(3) Esther Perry

Esther is named by Bond as the daughter of Samuel Perry and Margaret Traine.

Dally provides additional information from the minutes dated "Wednesday, August 27th" of The New Jersey Council Of Safety which met at Haddonfield on 16 August 1777:

> "Ordered the wives and children (underage) of John Heard, Ellis Barron, Wm. Smith, Isaac Freeman and Saml. Moores, late inhabitants of the Township of Woodbridge, but now with the Enemy, be immediately apprehended & sent over to Staten Island; & that Col. Fredk. Frelinghuysen be directed to carry this order into execution."

On 20 December 1777, according to Dally, the Council:

> "Ordered that Majr. Potter be directed to remove to Staten Island, Sarah Barron, & the wife of William Smith, the wife of John Heard, & the wife of Samuel Moore, as well as the wives of such other persons as have returned from the Enemies' lines without leave, after having been removed into the same by order of the Council of Safety; & make a return of what he shall have done in the premises with all convenient speed."

Information from page 26 of "American Loyalist Claims" by Peter Wilson Coldham, National Genealogical Society, Washington, DC, 1980, Volume I, provides a link between confiscation and restoration:

> "Ellis Barron, Woodbridge, NJ. Claim: 72 acres in Woodbridge. Evidences: Letter of attorney 11 October 1783 by claimant now refuge in New York, appointing friend Philip Sansom, merchant of City of London. Affirmation 2 September 1783, New York, by Isaac Freeman of Woodbridge, Quaker, that he was a neighbor to claimant and claim is just. Affirmation 4 October 1783, New York, by Joseph Shotwell of Woodbridge, Quaker. Copy of inquisition of 1 July 1778 (AO 13/17/38-48)"

Elizabeth, Ellis' second wife, is the widow of John Heard who died on 19 January 1786.

Jane Barron 76;8-2(2),7(5) James Crowell (1)

(2) Isaac Freeman (2)

According to "Freeman - Thornall Connection" by Jay W. Thornall, 1984, Isaac married, first, Phebe FitzRandolph, daughter of Nathaniel FitzRandolph and his wife, Mary, who died 10 June 1785, and then Jane, widow of James, on 28 March 1807, as his second wife. His 2nd marriage was performed by Reverend Thomas Morrell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Elizabethtown, NJ. Isaac was married, third, to Charity Moore, widow of David Thorpe, on 19 August 1817 by Reverend Henry Cook at Metuchen Presbyterian Church. Charity was married to her third husband, Gershom Mundy, at the same church by R.M. Osborn on 8 June 1826.

Isaac is identified as the son of John Freeman and Martha Moore. Thornall adds that Isaac was a Quaker living originally in the Woodbridge area, then moving to Uniontown (now Iselin), NJ. At the town meeting held on 12 March 1776, he, with two others, were appointed "Overseer of the Poor". He is referred to as "Tanner Isaac".

Nancy is named "Anna" in the will of her father from Woodbridge, NJ, dated 23 June 1806:

According to "The Coddington Family" by Reverend Herbert G. Coddington, Syracuse, NY, 1907, Ann (or Nancy) was born on 9 December 1769 and married, second, a man named Woglum or Van Woggelom.

Joseph's deathdate is confirmed as 4 July 1831 in issues of 12 July 1831 of both the"Centennial of Freedom" and "Newark Monitor" but they state his age as 72 rather than 68 as indicated in "The New Jersey Browns".

In "Family of Richard Carman of Woodbridge, N.J.", published in "New York Genealogical and Biological Record", Samuel's second wife is identified as Abigail Rowland, widow of Stephen Carman, whom he married between May and July of 1786. Abigail and Eliza are second cousins. Both had children by Samuel and, in addition, Abigail by her first husband, Stephen. A chart showing their relationship and that between the three groups of children is drawn on page 1516P. 1 2

1 Abigail Rowland	76;9-3(6),8(4),7(1),6(1)	cousin
2 Stephen Carman (1)	H76;9-3(6),8(4),7(1),6(1)	Abigail's 1st husband

Phebe Barron 76;8-2(2),7(1),6(6) Jonathan Freeman

Although not specifically identified, it appears that Phebe was the intended beneficiary of $125 and "all my books" in the will of her half-aunt, Jane Barron Crowell, dated 1 September 1805. On 13 April 1810, Phebe was admitted as a member of the Woodbridge Presbyterian Church. Jonathan was an elder there in 1803, 1812, and 1823.

Additional history is provided by Jay W. Thornall in his "Freeman-Thornall Connection":

Jonathan appeared before the Court of Common Pleas, New Brunswick, NJ, on 16 June 1834 in reference to his application for a pension for his services during the American Revolution, the records from which are the original source:

"Age 14 volunteered at Woodbridge as post rider "that his service was to keep as near as he could to the British lying at Amboy and the adjacent country and to watch their movements and quick as possible to report the same to the officer in command of the American Troops, then laying at Short Hills."

"That he recalled making reports to General Maxwell while he was there and at other times to other officers whose names he does not recall". His service in this way was entirely voluntary and without pay and lasted during the time the British had any force in Amboy.

His method was to get upon some high ground near the British, from which he could see their movements and in case of danger, he being a boy would not excite much suspician. He generally rode his father's horse and once came very near being taken by the British cutting him off. He escaped with difficulty into the woods and took a round about way to Headquarters at Short Hills, where he gave the alarm to one of the officers in command there.

During the time he acted as Post Rider, he did other service as a volunteer. In 1777, he thought in June, the British sallied out in strength from Amboy towards Short Hills and after giving notice as usual, he volunteered among the militia collected and, with about a Regiment of regular troops, engaged the British about 4 miles north-west of Woodbridge Village. After considerable fighting, the Americans retreated towards Quibbletown and fell in with the main body of American troops, being in all about two brigades under General Lord Sterling, when an engagement took place. The Americans were worsted and retreated with difficulty. He went with them as far as Quibbletown and then fell out to take care of a wounded man named Peter Freeman. The troops continued to retreat to the mountains. The British pursued as far as Westfield where they gave up and returned to Amboy by the Rahway Road.

He served in 1781 under Capt. Matthew Freeman in the Militia at the battles of Springfield and Elizabethtown. He also served in Capt. David Dunham's Company as a private, of which company Amos Freeman was a Lieut."

Thornall states that Jonathan was awarded a total of $270.

Jonathan, who is identified as the son of Isaac Freeman by Jay W. Thornall, in "Freeman - Thornall Connection", was married, first to Margaret Bloodgood who died on 11 December 1805.

Phebe is called "widow" but we have no record of a first husband.

The death dates for Rebecca and David are in the list of "Inscriptions: Cemetery of First Presbyterian Church of Woodbridge, NJ", compiled by Freeman Worth Gardner. DAR records identify Rebecca's first husband as John Merrick, but his name is written "John Merritt" in "Edgar - Thornall Connection" by Jay W. Thornall, 1983.

John is referred to as Reverend by Judith Marie Baldwin. 3

In the following letter written from Woodbridge, NJ, on 24 November 1822, to her son, David, who is attending Yale College, the Reverend and Medical Doctor Josiah Andrews to whom Rebecca refers, is not related to our ANDREWS family. His dismissal resulted from dissatisfaction over his excessively personal condemnation of some of his parishioners for drinking alcoholic beverages: 5

"My dear Son:

We have been much engaged the past week with Presbytery, that has been setting in this place to arrange the business between Doct. Andrews of Amboy and his congregation. Samuel I. Barron 76;8-2(2),7(1),6(9) Susan Marsh

References to wills as our source of history are from the DAR publication "Wills of Middlesex County, N.J., 1804 to 1824".

Nathan Marsh, an uncle of Susan, in his will dated 6 October 1810, at Bridgetown (Rahway), NJ, mentions Samuel and Susan, his wife. This will is the source of the middle initial, "I", for Samuel. Records from Judith Marie Baldwin indicate the initial is "S".

In her will, from Bridgetown dated 18 October 1810, Frances Dickinson mentions her niece, Susannah Barron, for a 1/8 share and also bequeaths to her, her mahagony desk.

Susan's mother, identified by Judith Marie Baldwin as Catharine Hunt of Bridgetown, in her will dated 9 October 1819 states:

"To daughter Susan, wife of Samuel Barron, my silver teapot, silver dish, silver soup spoon and ½ dozen silver table spoons together with all of my wearing apparel and my best carpet."

John Marsh of Rahway, NJ, Susan's father, in his will dated 26 January 1814, he leaves:

"To daughter Susannah, wife of Samuel Barron, house and lot in Bridgetown ---- also $1000 and a black girl called Dinah".

According to DAR records, Samuel and his entire family moved from his farm in Woodbridge where all of his eleven children were born, to his plantation in Baltimore in 1817. Judith Marie Baldwin states that their residence in Maryland is designated as Harford County.

It should be noted that Samuel, the youngest child and only son of Ellis and Sarah, had eight older sisters. 2,3

On the same day Mrs. Barron celebrated her birthday (101st on 23 June 1918), the Sunday School of the First Presbyterian Church of Woodbridge celebrated its 100th anniversary. Mrs. Barron is not only a member of the Red Cross but is also what might be called an active worker, for, having excellent eyesight, she has done considerable knitting for the boys "over there".

Elizabeth Barron Mundy (1) 76;8-2(2),7(1),6(8),5(3) Lorrain Freeman

Lorrain, according to Jay W. Thornall, is the son of Henry Freeman and his first wife, Susanna Bloodgood. Lorrain's second wife is Mary E. Farnham, daughter of Nathan Farnham and Laura Raynor. Lorrain died in Oswego, NY. His will was signed on 9 July 1873 and proved on 18 July 1876. Thornall adds the following:

> "The will of Lorrain Freeman was the subject of much litigation because he had omitted to mention one of his daughters since she married a man whose political affiliations were to the Republican Party. The father, after the quarrel with his daughter, changed his church affiliation from the Presbyterian Church to the Episcopal Church and this is what accounts for his being buried in the Episcopal Trinity Church in Woodbridge."

John C. Barron M.D.

John Connor Barron 76;8-2(2),7(7),6(3),5(4) Harriet Mulford Williams

Our biography of John is copied from "The Biographical Encyclopedia of New Jersey for the Nineteenth Century":

"Barron, John C., M.D., New York, son of John and Mary (Connor) Barron, was born in Woodbridge, NJ, November 2d, 1837. After receiving preliminary education at a select school in his native town, he entered Burlington College, at Burlington, New Jersey, the institution at that time under the rectorship of the Rt. Rev. George W. Doane, D.D., bishop of the diocese of New Jersey. In 1858, he passed hence to Yale College, studying in the scientific department, and at the same time attending lectures in the eminent private school of Drs. Jewett, Hooker and Knight. In 1860 he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, graduating thence in 1861. In April of that year, immediately upon receiving his degree, he entered the United States Volunteer Army as an Assistant Surgeon, being passed by the Board of Army Medical Examiners, sitting at Albany, and assigned to the Mechanics Rifles. This position was declined on account of being tendered the Assistant Surgeoncy of the 69th New York Regiment, then in the field. This regiment was among the foremost to offer their services to the general government early in 1861. Dr. Barron immediately upon his appointment, with a detachment of the regiment, proceeded to Washington, and was sworn into the service of the United States, going at once to active work with the regiment, then the advance-guard in Virginia, and as stated in the publications of the day, "showing devotion to the cause by donating one thousand dollars for medical supplies, etc., to the hospital department." The 69th saw much service, being at Blackburn's Ford, and at the first Bull Run battles, at the latter losing in killed and wounded nearly two hundred men. He held his commission until the following August. In June, 1863, he re-entered the army, being assigned Assistant Surgeon of the 7th New York Regiment, N.G.S.N.Y., and serving with the reserves called out in 1863 to repel the advance of Lee. In July, 1869, he was promoted to the Surgeoncy. In June, 1871, he resigned from the regiment and was appointed Surgeon-General of the 1st Division, N.G.S.N.Y., with the rank of Colonel, on the staff of Major-General Alexander Shaler. He was married, June 23d, 1869, to Harriet M., daughter of Rev. Albert Williams, of San Francisco, California. After spending a year in Europe, including an extended tour of the eastern countries and a trip of seven hundred miles up the river Nile, he returned and settled in New York City, where he now resides."

Mercy Oliver (2)

In "Frazee - Osborn - Oliver Problems", the author, Kelsey Kitchel Bayles states that:

"Capt. Edward Frazee evidently lost his first wife and married a young girl, a contemporary of his grown daughters. ----

Mercy Oliver, fourth daughter named in the will of her father (was presumably born) 1695 - 99. ---- The third of the elder married daughters named in Edward Frazee's will was Humus, ---- (who) was born probably about 1706, and as she had two older sisters, her mother was born inferentially 1680 - 82. Mercy Oliver may have been born about 1688, as Samuel's second child, but more likely she was much younger, since she was named fourth in the list of daughters in her father's will. ---- Even if born 1688, she would have been ten years old at the date of birth (1698) assigned by Mr. Oren Frazee to Edward Frazee's eldest daughter, Elizabeth. 8,9 (Note: Mr. Oren Frazee, quoted above, collaborated in the compilation of the Cushan Genealogy and the Doniphan - Frazee Genealogy and has several Frazee manuscripts in the Library of the Institute of American Genealogy, Chicago.)"

Bayles identifies Sarah Oliver, wife of Edward's brother, John, as the sister of Mary and the daughter of Samuel Oliver and Mary Higgins. 10,1

Joseph Frazee 152;10-3( ),9(11) Mary Demoney

A brief reference to Joseph is obtained from page 154 of Littell's "Early Settlers of Passaic Valley":

> "Joseph Frazee was one of the eighty associates of Elizabethtown, who associated together for the purpose of managing, settling, surveying, and disposing of the lands of the "Elizabeth Town Grant", purchased of the Indians, a part of which, lying above the first mountain, was surveyed, in the years 1736 and 1737, into 100 acre lots, and distributed among the freeholders of Elizabethtown, by lot.
> Joseph Frazee drew and owned two of those lots, Nos. 64 and 65, lying in the valley at and about the Falls Mills, but not including the mill site."

Henry Demoney mentions his daughter "Marey Frasey" in his will dated 29 January 1755 and names Joseph as his executor according to a note on page 615 of "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge."

Note: Edward Frazee, in his will, mentions "eldest daughters", Elizabeth, Sarah and Humus, and "three youngest daughters", Effiah, Mary and Mercy. This distinct grouping in the absence of most of the vital statistics, suggests that the older girls were children by his unknown first wife and the younger girls, children by Mercy.

Bayles, in "Frazee - Osborn - Oliver Problems", supports the contention that Humus is the daughter of the unknown first wife, by the statement:

> "As Capt. Edward Frazee and Samuel Oliver were born within a year or so of each other, it is impossible that Samuel Oliver's daughter, Mercy, could have been the mother of Humus ----." 1

Robert is identified by Bayles as the son of Obadiah Ayres.

Later, he returned to Mason County, Kentucky, accompanied by his ½ brothers, Squire and twins, Moses and Aaron 1, 3 where they settled in 1792. The following is quoted from Hoye:

"Many years later Samuel used to tell of his efforts to support the little children by his gun and traps, making a yearly trip to some point, probably Uniontown, PA, to sell peltries and obtain ammunition. He said he often returned to the cabin hungry, gameless, and despondent, to be encouraged by his step-mother's blessings and prayers, and nerved to renewed efforts by seeing the heroic struggles of his little brothers and sisters not to complain of hunger."

Mary Frazee 152;10-3( ),9(10),8(1),7(4) Zophar Hatfield

Our history of Mary and Zophar is quoted from "The Descendants of Matthias Hatfield" by Abraham Hatfield:

"Zophar was a trustee of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield. He was a wealthy farmer, living about a mile from the Westfield church. His transactions on land were many which would indicate his local importance. Zophar Hatfield served as a private in an Essex County Company during the Revolutionary War."

Virkus, in Volume VI, states that Benjamin was a soldier in the American Revolution and that he settled in Bethel County, Ohio. Phoebe, his second wife, is identified further as the widow of John Littell, brother of Sarah, her mother-in-law. In Volume VII, 1
Virkus states that Benjamin died after 1810 and that he owned a grist mill. He gives his birth date as between 1755 and 1765.

Further history is found in "Chronicles of the First Planters of the Colonies of Massachusetts Bay, 1623 to 1636" by Alexander Young, 1846, who states that THOMAS was present at the meetings of the General Court in Boston at the Deputies' house on Wednesday, 17 June 1629 and 29 September 1629. Young also adds the following as a footnote:

"THOMAS ANDREWS was a London merchant living in Bowe Lane, and was mayor of the City in 1551. He was one of the adventurers that were interested in the Plymouth Colony. He is not to be confounded with Richard, probably his brother, a haberdasher at the Mermaid in Cheapside."

A more correctly stated date, 3 March 1635/6, for JOSEPH's listing as freeman, is provided by Alfred Andrews in the introduction of "Genealogical History of John and Mary Andrews", 1872.

The entry for 8 July 1635 in "Records of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay in New England" states:

"JOSEPH ANDREWS sworne constable of Barecove."

Alfred Andrew's account spells Barecove as "Barrecove" and adds that it is now called Hingham.

The Massachusetts Bay Colony Records entry for 8 September 1636 is as follows:

> "Deputed as comittes, & power graunted to them to require the last rates of each towne in the plantation, & to find out thereby, & by all other meanes they can, to the best of their discretion, the true valewe of every towne, & so to make an equall rate for the first 600£ now graunted to bee levyed, & they are enioyned to meete & determine the same vpon the 20th day of this p^r^sent month, vnder the penulty of five pound a peece, the meeteing to bee at Boston, the returne to bee made to the treasurer."

Alfred Andrews' interpretation states that JOSEPH attended as deputy at General Court at Boston:

> "where he was made one of a committee to inquire after the valuation of the several towns."

In the entry of 17 May 1637, the Colony Record states that JOSEPH, with others:

> "were appointed to reiwe the bounds betweene vs & Plimoth, & make returne how they find them lye to both Courts."

Looking again to Alfred Andrews for clarification, he states that JOSEPH was:

> "appointed one of a committee to look after the boundry between Massachusetts and Plymouth Colonies and to report at both courts."

From Volume 3, "Plymouth Colony Records", 1651-61, JOSEPH, with Thomas Hinckley, is listed on "pettye jury" on 6 March 1654/5 and is cited in the minutes of "The Grand Enquest" dated 8 June 1655:

"It, we psent JOSEPH ANDREWS and Robert Barker, surveyors for the highwaies for neglecting to mend the highwaies in the township of Duxburrow."

"It" means "item".

On 4 August 1663, JOSEPH was:

"fined five shillings for refusing to serve on a jury for the laying out of highwaies att Duxburrow, being sumoned ther vnto."

In Volume 4 of "Plymouth Colony Records", JOSEPH is referred to as Constable Of Duxbury in the entry dated 8 June 1664.

According to Volume 3, "Plymouth Colony Records", Matthew was appointed to "The Grand Enquest" at the meeting of the General Court on 3 June 1657 and was admitted as freeman on 1 June 1658.

In Volume 4 of the Colony Records, Matthew is referred to in an entry dated 3 March 1662/3 as being appointed to a committee for "division of land" and again on 3 June 1668 for "division of psell of marsh". He is also listed as "Constable of Scittuate" in the entry dated 3 June 1668.

Referrences to a Matthew for 4 March 1672/3 and 4 July 1679 do not state clearly whether they apply to Senior or Junior. Both are arbitrarily recorded with the history of Matthew's son.

The entry of 31 October 1683 in the Court Records adds a more personal touch to our history:

> "Mathew Gannett, of Scittuate, complaineth against John Sutton, of Scittuate, Senir, in an action of the case, to the damage of fiue pound, siluer mony, for that the swine of the aforsaid John Sutton, somtimes in September last, came into the aboue-said Mathew Gannetts feild, and destroyed much of the said Gannetts corne, wherby the complainant comes to be much damnifyed. Jury find for the defendant the cost of the suite."

The counter-suit by Sutton follows under the same date:

> "John Sutton, Senir, of Scittuate, complaineth against Mathew Gannett, Senir, of said Scittuate, in an action of treaspas, to the damage of fiue pound, siluer mony, for that the said Mathew Gannett did severall times in September last, himselfe, and by his son and servants, hurt the swine of the said Sutton with his dogges, vpon vnfenced land wherby some of the said swine are lost, and some of them much damnifyed.
> The jury find for the defendant the cost of the suite. The bill of cost, of one pound nineteen shillings and six pence, is allowed by the Court."

According to "Woodbridge and Vicinity" by Dally, EPHRAIM was elected assistant to the president of the Township court at the meeting of 3 January 1671 and was appointed juryman.

(Page 1591: Insert between the quotation in paragraph 4 ending "jury in 1684 ----" and paragraph 5 beginning "The chronological")

Dally adds that in the town meeting of October 1684, EPHRAIM was given the responsibility to repair the highway leading from Captain Pike's (at Strawberry Hill) to the Amboy line. In November 1693, he was appointed "to Clear the way Between Amboy Bounds and Pascataway path," over which some trees had been felled. At the same meeting, he was assigned to meet with the Justices at the next session of the County Court to make some provisions for its expenses. In January 1693, along with Thomas Pike, he was appointed to the licence committee to issue licences in order to eliminate the waste of timber on common land.

(Page 1592: Insert between the quotation ending"East Jersey Proprietors" and the last paragraph beginning "Returning to")

In the chapter on church history, Dally states that on 8 February 1693, EPHRAIM promised to go to New England, as a messenger of the town, in search of a minister on the condition that he was furnished:

> "with money Sufficient for his Journey and a Hors to Ride on". He was directed to "Do his Beast Endeavor to procure a Sutable Man." Ten pounds were accordingly raised to meet the expense."

It is not clear whether EPHRAIM went to New England but over two years elapsed before a preacher, Samuel Sheppard, was settled in the town, and he came from New England.

An interesting reference to Hepzibah appears in Volume 3, "Plymouth Colony Records, 1651 - 1661" from meetings of the General Court on 3 May 1659:

> "The condition that if the said Richard French shall appear att the Court to be holden att Plymouth the first Thursday in June next, then and there to answare vnto such thinges as shalbee objected against him conserning vncleanes comitted with Hepthzibah Andrewes, and not depart the said Court without lycence."

and on 6 October 1659:

> "Att this Court, Richard French appeared to answare to such p̃ticulares as should bee objected against him ? Hepthsibath Andrew, for comitting bodily vncleanes with her; but shee not appearing, hee was for the p̃sent cleared, and his bond delivered, and hee was left to his libertie to procecute against the said Hepthsibath Andrewes, if hee pleased."

The "Bi-Centennial Anniversary 1689 - 1889, 1st Baptist Church of Piscataway" provides a short account of Jeffrey:

> "The founder of the family in New Jersey was Geoffery Manning, who, with his wife, Hephzibah, (daughter of JOSEPH ANDREWS, of Hingham, Mass.), settled in Piscataway about the time of the FitzRandolphs - 1668-70. He was one of three commissioners to lay out the land grants in the Township in 1682 and the following year was made an officer in the first County Court of Middlesex, held that year in Piscataway.----"

(Page 1592: Delete the entire paragraph and quotation. Replace with the following history of Abigail and John)

Virkus identifies John as the son of Christian Wadsworth and Grace Cole. Justin Winsor in "History of Duxbury", 1849, refers to him as "Deacon" and Horace Andrew Wadsworth in "Two Hundred and Fifty Years of the Wadsworth Family in America", 1883, states:

"He lived and died on the homestead of his father, Christopher".

Detailed references to John, found in Judicial Accounts and other Plymouth Colony Records, reveal that he served on juries about twenty times between 3 March 1662/3 and 2 March 1685/6. He was appointed to a "Corrouners Enquest" twice; one, on 8 December 1669, "to make enquiry how John Paybody came by his death" and the other on 3 June 1673 "to inquire how a woman ---- came by her death". Other appointments include "Surveyors of the Highwaies" in 1671, 1675, 1680 and 1681; "Celectman" in 1678, 1684, 1689 and 1690; Constable of Duxbury in 1672; and Deputy for Duxbury in 1690 and 1691. He was named freeman on 29 May 1670. At the Grand Enquest on 6 June 1682, the record states:

"The Court allowes and approues of John Wadsworth to be gaurdian to Samuel Sabery, of Duxburrow, son of Mr. Samuell Saberry, deceased".

Rehobeth Gannett 303;11-3( ),10(1),9(1) Sarah Scadlock (1)
Mehitable (2)

In "Gannett Descendants of Matthew and Hannah Gannett of Scituate, Massachusetts", by Michael R. Gannett, Chevy Chase, MD, 1976, it is stated that Rehobeth:

> "lived for a time at Saco (Cape Porpoise), ME, and from about 1669 onwards in Woodbridge and Piscataway, NJ."

Gannett identifies Sarah as the daughter of William Scadlock and his wife, Elinor.

According to "New England Families" by William Richard Cutter, Rehobeth died without issue. We have record, however, of nine children born to Rehobeth and Sarah, all in Piscataway.

Abigail Gannett 303;11-3( ),10(1),9(3) Jonathan Dodson

Michael R. Gannett explains the confusion concerning the identity of the husband of Abigail and whether Abigail had children:

> "The (Gannett Family Chart) tells us that Abigail ---- died without issue. Yet Deane's "History of Scituate" specifies that Jonathan Dodson "married Abigail, daughter of Matthew Gannett, and left a family, ----(7 children) born 1695 to 1704." These children are listed in (Scituate Vital Record) as the offspring merely "of Jonathan", and there seems to be no specific identification of who was Jonathan's wife and mother of his children other than by Deane. The will (dated Oct. 18, 1700) of Abigail's mother, Hannah, does not mention any child of Abigail's, although it does refer by name to all of Hannah's grandchildren known to have been living at the time of her death, except for some of her son Rehobeth's children in New Jersey. Further, Hannah's will refers to Abigail as deceased and to herself as the assignee of five pounds bequeathed to Abigail by her father but not yet paid. The implication is therefore clear that no child of Abigail ----, if in fact she ever had any, was living when Hannah died or, indeed, when Abigail herself died. She was probably the Abigail Dodson, aged 44, who died Nov. 16, 1695 (Scituate Vital Records) and whose gravestone stands beside those of Matthew and Hannah in the Meeting House Lane Cemetery. Thus even if she did marry Jonathan Dodson, she could have been the monly of his eldest child, also named Jonathan, born Mar. 14, 1695. Finally,because Abigail is shown by her age at death to have been Jonathan's senior by some eight years, (It is suggested) that the Dodson whom she did marry might have been Jonathon's older brother Gershom (born in 1653 and thus only two years her junior) who, according to notes on the Gannett family by William Prescott Greenleaf, was killed in King Philip's War. There is no known record that Gershom ever married."

Savage identifies Abigail's husband as Jonathan in "Genealogical Dictionary of New England".

Matthew Gannett 303;11-3( ),10(1),9(4) White

In addition to his being listed as a freeman on 29 May 1670, other brief references to Matthew are found in Volume V, 1668 - 1678, of "Plymouth Colony Records":

"4 March 1672/3 Libertie is allowed vnto Matthew Gannett to keep an ordinary att Scituate in the place where hee now dwelleth, and that hee bee provided att all times with such nessesaries as is behoofull for the entertainment of strangers, and keep good orders likewise in his house, that there be noe just cause of complaint against him in that behalfe."

"3 June 1673 signed attest on death of Experience Leichfeild"

Matthew was referred to twice in records of judicial acts in Plymouth Colony:

3 July 1679: "Jonathan Eames, of Marshfield, complained against Matthew Gannett, Junir, of Scituate, in an action of debt, to the damage of four pound in mony, for the non payment of a debt of forty nine shillings in mony, due to the said Eames from the said Gannett, for a corne, what the said Gannett somtimes since March last bought and receiued of the said Eames.

The jury find for the plaintiffe forty nine shillings siluer mony, twelue pence damage, and the cost of the suite."

4 July 1679:"Mathew Gannett, for playing att cards seuerall times, and suffering others to play att cards in his house, fined 02";00^{s};00^{d}."

Additional history of David and Hannah is recorded in "Nathaniel Adams of Weymouth and Boston, Mass." by Frederick W. Mead, and published in "The American Genealogist," April 1954:

"David Adams, ---- buried Copps Hill; married first, before 1664, Sarah ? who died between 1666 and 1670; married second, before 1672, Hannah Gannett, born at Scituate, Mass., died before 1700, daughter of Matthew and Hannah (Andrews) Gannett. 1, David Adams, blockmaker, came to Boston with his parents about 1652. In 1680 he was tythingman in Capt. Clark's Company, which seems to be the only office he held.

He received a house and interests in wharves from his father's estate."

Michael R. Gannett adds that David and Hannah had six children, only one of whom survived her .

John is briefly mentioned by Michael R. Gannett in reference to the death of his son "hardly three weeks before John's own death". Hudson is given more attention:

"It seems that Hudson was something of a rake, and that Elizabeth was not very kindly regarded by the Leverett family."

From the "Diary of Samuel Sewall" in the "Collections of Massachusetts Historical Society", 5th Series, Volume 7, in a footnote, Sewall adds:

"Very little seems to be known of Hudson Leverett, famous only for his father and his son."

This is explained in the reference to the family in Volume I, page 575, of "The Memorial History of Boston":

"Governor John Leverett married, first, Hannah Hudson, and, second, Sarah Sedgwick. Of his children, Hudson was "but an indifferent character", but he was the father of John Leverett, President of Harvard College."

In "The Second Wife of Hudson Leverett" by Frederick W. Mead, published in "The American Genealogist", Volume 25, the deathdate of Hudson's first wife, Sarah Payton, the mother of the Harvard president, is recorded from Kings Chapel records in Boston as 7 June 1679.

Returning to the footnote, it is stated that Hudson:

"married, secondly, about 1692, a widow, Elizabeth Myham, who survived him ---- The name of his wife, Myham, is plainly written in the (Hudson's) will but it is not known to us."

Elizabeth Tay, daughter of Elizabeth, married Paul Myham on 17 December 1689 in Boston. Hudson's will dated 10 October 1692, but unproved, in part: 2,3

"gives to wife, Elizabeth £200; to "wife's daughter, my dau. in law, Elizabeth Myham" £30." 2

It is possible that the daughter's married name was mistakenly transferred to the mother and the common name, Elizabeth, a factor. The record of Elizabeth's death in "Collections of Massachusetts Historical Society" in the entry dated 18 December 1714 does not provide clarification:

"This day Mr. Hudson Leverett's widow is buried at Roxbury. She died at the widow Tomson's house."

Joseph Gannett 303;11-3( ),10(1),9(7) Deborah Coombs

Michael R. Gannett in "Gannett Descendents of Matthew and Hannah Gannatte of Scituate, Massachusetts", states that Joseph served as a private in King Philip's War under Captain Savage and Lieutenant Gillam, and that he saw action at Mount Hope and Swansey, February 1675/6. Gannett adds further: 1

"He was in Woodbridge, East Jersey, in 1684 - 5, and probably longer; but was most probably back in Scituate by early 1691."

Gannett identifies Deborah as the fourth child of Henry Coombs and his wife Elizabeth of Marblehead (MA), and states that she married her second husband, John House, in Scituate in 1703. In "Colonial Families of America", Deborah is referred to as the widow of Sharp, and that her third (not second) husband was Joseph (not John) House. 1

In notes on page 36 of the reference by Gannett, there are two interesting versions of the untimely death of Joseph. The first reads: 1

"The following notation was by Ezra Stiles Gannett ---- "Apr. 27, 1830 - cousin Luther Gannett of Belfast ---- tells me, that his father used to state that Joseph ---- lived in Scituate, and was killed in a scuffle when he was about 23 (sic, 33) years old; and that he left two sons -- that his death was occasioned by a wound on the head from a brickbat, which he received in that scuffle." 2 3 4

The second which follows presents a different story:

"On October 30, 1863 Allen Gannett wrote Ezra Stiles Gannett as follows: "I had not been three minutes in the house of Mr. Joseph Gannett before they pointed to a grave within the inclosure, without a headstone, that had been there about one hundred & seventy years. They knew his name who was buried there was Joseph but did not know, what I immediately could tell them, that he was an ancestor of mine -- the father of the first Joseph of Bridgewater, (MA). I knew he died in middle life or before. They say he came from a sea voyage with yellow fever, & in the alarm it occasioned, was enfolded in a tarred cloth & buried there alone." 5,2 6

Michael R. Gannett indicates that reports from Volume 49, "New England Genealogical and Biographical Record" confirm the yellow fever version. 1

Elizabeth Andrews 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(5) Joseph Joy

Virkus identifies Joseph as the son of Ensign Joseph Joy and Mary Prince and states that he was a constable in 1697 to 1711. A brief account in "Colonial Families of the United States", Volume IV, and in "Thomas Joy and His Descendents" by James Richard Joy, state that Thomas, with others in February 1708/9, signed a testimonial to the worthy character of Mehitable Warren who was accused of witchcraft. The date of marriage, 26 May 1690, is recorded in "A Brief History of the Joy Family" by Cornelia C. Joy Dyer, 1876. James Richard Joy adds that Joseph's gravestone is the most ancient Joy grave mark in America.

Joseph Joy

Abigail Andrews 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(7) Joseph Blaney

Virkus refers to Joseph as from Hingham and Lynn, MA. According to "Colonial Families of America", Joseph was born on 2 October 1670, the son of John Blaney and Hannah King. He is referred to as a shipwright and husbandman. The history states that he lived in Hingham until 1697 and then removed to Lynn where, on 29 October 1696 he had received from his father half of the Darnel Farm consisting of 175 acres in addition to land in Nahant, MA.

ing "for many years" and the second beginning "On 6 June 1710")

In the"Register of Baptisms, 1701 - 1746", of the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, is evidence of considerable missionary travelling by Jedediah, the first minister of this church, from 1698 until his death in May 1747. His travels extended as far north as Staten Island, NY, and south as Cape May, NJ. He also served as early as 1695 and late as 1733 on occasion at Bensalem, Bucks County, PA, and a number of other locations.

In Volume 30, 1977-8, of "The Pennsylvania Genealogical Magazine", it is stated that under the leadership of Jedediah, the Market Street Church, Market and Bank Streets, was built in 1704. This church was also called "Old Buttonwood Church" from a group of trees near the building.

On the following page is reproduced a letter on apostacy written by Jedediah from the "Collection of Letters of Joseph Willard", president of Harvard College, 1781-1804, published by "The Massachusetts Historical Society, May 1910.

(Page 1600: Insert the following between the quotation ending "Co., Pa., p. 225" and the paragraph beginning "In the will")

We thank Kathleen Danneberger Maurer and Marian Maurer Hackman for locating a source and obtaining our copy of the "famous letter, 8th, 14th, 1730. (RUPP, Hist. of Lancaster Co., Pa., p. 225)" referred to in "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge". The quotation begins with the introductory paragraph by Rupp:

"That Miller was a man of more than ordinary powers of mind, is evident from the testimony of the Rev. Jedediah Andrews, an alumnus of Harvard College, of the class of 1695, Andrews speaking of Miller, in a letter, dated Philadelphia, 8th, 14th, 1730."

"There is lately come over a Palatine candidate of the ministry, who having applied to us, at the Synod (Scotch Synod) for ordination, 'tis left to three ministers (These were Tenant, Andrews and Boyd), to do it. He is an extraordinary person for sense and learning. We gave him a question to discuss about Justification, and he answered it, in a whole sheet of paper, in a very notable manner. His name is John Peter Miller, and speaks Latin as readily as we do our vernacular tongue, and so does the other, Mr. Weiss."

An unflattering reference to Jedediah is found on pages 325 and 326 of "The writings of Benjamin Franklin" collected and edited by Albert Henry Smyth, 1970. Franklin began his autobiography as a letter to his son, written in Twyford, (England), at the Bishop of St. Asaph's, in 1771. His story ended initially with recollections of his life up to about 1730. At the prompting from Abel James and Benjamin Vaughn in letters addressed to him in Paris, France, Franklin resumed the account of his life while at Passy, near Paris, in 1784. It is this segment which contains the reference, although unnamed, to Jedediah:

"Tho' I seldom attended any public worship, I had still an opinion of its propriety, and of its utility when rightly conducted, and I regularly paid my annual subscription for the support of the only Presbyterian minister or meeting we had in

PHILADELPHIA 9br. the 19th, 1703,

SIR, — Observing of late, by your Carriage and Discourse, those things which do give me Reason to fear you have Thoughts of forsaking the way of worshipping God in which you were educated, and joyning with the Church of England, I thought it my Duty to lay before you my Sense of your Proceedings, and to endeavour to stop you to the uttermost of my Power. And because I have seldome the Opportunity of a vocal Conference, your Multitude of Business, or other Reasons obstructing your obliging me with frequent Visits, as also because many things might be forgot and passed over unthought of in such a Conference, I thought a literal Representation of my thoughts, and the Concern I have at the Deviation might be well taken and most serviceable. Sir, I can say without Vanity that ever since it hath pleased God to cast your Lot in this Place, I have taken a singular Delight in you, and had a particular Respect for you, and did so far confide in your fidelity and Constancy as to rejoice in your Company, expecting no small Assistance, Encouragement and Comfort from you, in the weighty matters I am concerned in. But now I find, or at least I fear, I was deceived and trusted too much in that which I am like to fail of; which hath cost me no small grief and exercise, and given our Enemies Cause of Triumph. I am sorry to find you ready to listen to and heed the frivolous Arguments and Reasons which they give for their unscriptural Ceremonies and Orders, which they have without any sufficient Warrant introduced into the Worship of God. Religion is a serious thing, and tho' Worship of God ought to be carried on with the highest Fear and Reverence of God who is a jealous God, as well as a wise God, and knows best what way and manner of Service will tend most to his Glory, and our Good, without being beholden to us for our Inventions; neither are we to charge our glorious Lord Jesus Christ with Injustice or Folly by imagining his Word is not a sufficient Guide for us in Matters of Religion, but that in Justice or Wisdome he ought to have set up more Rites for us to practice, which because he hath not we will mend his work. It is well known that the things in which we differ from them are unscriptural and barely humane Institutions; and the sinfullness of worshiping God with men's Inventions the renowned Mr. Willard hath by irrefragable Arguments evidenced; showing that it is not only a sin but a great sin so to do. And I know you will allow him to be a man of admirable Judgment, sincere piety and great integrity. And as for the Reasons that they give for their Ceremonies, they are no other than may be given for many more, if they should see cause to enjoyne 'em. For they do affirm that the Church hath Authority to institute as many as she pleases, or to take in all them that are used in the Church of Room. And the Reason (they say) why they have retained so few and left the rest, is not for want of Authority to have kept them, but only because they were troublesome. Thus you see where Men will run when they will not be content modestly to submit to scripture Rule. You know that our fathers, who were many of them Men of celebrated Piety and Learning, and of unstained Integrity, left a pleasant Land, in which they enjoyed many comfortable things for this Life, did choose rather to undergoe the difficulty of subduing an howling Wilderness in which they might serve God according to the Pattern of his word, than to be obliged against their Consciences to comply with unscriptural Impositions. Which thing they did not do without serious Consideration, fervent Prayer, and consulting the mind of God in it. And after all they found themselves in the way of their Duty in doing what they did. Now, would it not be a scandalous thing for us that are their Offspring, practically to charge them with folly in all this, and tack about and comply (without most serious weighing the matter, and best Advice) with those things which they in Conscience to God, suffered so much merely to avoid. I pray you seriously to consider of it I believe the very [torn] pious father and the late Pastor Mr. Willard would conceive much grief, if they should be advised of this your leaving your first Love. And for my own Part I must needs say, the Defection of no Person hath troubled me so much, as yours; because of the especial Love I bear to you, and singular Contentment I have taken in you, having had great Expectation that you would greatly strengthen my hands. And I must observe to you also, that your Example will be no small Detriment, if you persist in what you seem to incline unto; so that you had better never came near us. Sir, I hope you will oblige me with an Opportunity of Conference afore you go off, that I may reason with you about these things, here so amicably laid before you, and know what your mind is about them. It is observed in Mr. Baxter's Life, that he said when he was under Temptation, he grew more indifferent in Religion than afore: That then he was inclined to Conformity in those Points which he had taken to be sinfull, and was ready to think, why should he be singular and offend the Bishops and make himself contemptible in the world, and expose himself to Censures, scorns, and sufferings, and all for such little things. But when faith revived, then none of the Parts or Concernments of Religion seemed small to him, and man seemed nothing to him, and the world a shadow and God all. I add no more, but that I am (Sir) your affectionate friend and servant

JEDEDIAH ANDREWS.[1]

2371 (1600) ANDREWS 11-3( ),10(2),9(8) 303

Philadelphia. He us'd to visit me sometimes as a friend, and admonish me to attend his administrations, and I was now and then prevail'd on to do so, once for five Sundays successively. Had he been in my opinion a good preacher, perhaps I might have continued, notwithstanding the occasion I had for the Sunday's leisure in my course of study; but his discources were chiefly either polemic arguments, or explications of the peculiar doctrines of our sect, and were all to me very dry, uninteresting, and unedifying, since not a single moral principle was inculcated or enforc'd, their aim seeming to be rather to make us Presbyterians than good citizens.

At length he took for his text that verse of the fourth chapter of Philippians, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, or of good report, if there be any virtue, or any praise, think on these things." And I imagin'd, in a sermon on such a text, we could not miss of having some morality. But he confin'd himself to five points only, as meant by the apostle, viz.: 1. Keeping holy the Sabbath Day. 2. Being diligent in reading the holy Scriptures. 3. Attending duly the publick worship. 4. Partaking of the Sacrament. 5. Paying a due respect to God's ministers. These might be all good things; but, as they were not the kind of good things that I expected from that text, I despaired of ever meeting with them from any other, was disgusted, and attended his preaching no more."

Additional history of Jedediah is recorded in "Annals of the American Pulpit" by William B. Sprague, Volume III, 1868. From this account, it appears that Jedediah's early ministry was conducted within a loose coalition called the "Barbadoes Company" consisting of Baptists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians. After being ordained in Philadelphia, probably in the autumn of 1701 as indicated by the earliest appearance of his record of baptisms and marriages, his initial deviation from orthodox Presbyterian practices is supported by the following quotation:

"A Mr. Talbot, Church missionary at Burlington, writing to the 'Venerable Society for propagating the Gospel in foreign parts,' says, —— 'The Presbyterians here come a great way to lay hands on one another, but, after all, I think they had as good stay at home, for all the good they do. . . In Philadelphia one pretends to be a Presbyterian, and has a congregation to which he preaches.'"

The article continues with the history of Jedediah and provides some background to explain his increasing antagonism toward the Episcopalian service:

"In 1704, Mr. Andrews and his congregation left the "Barbadoes Store" to worship in the new edifice they had erected in Buttonwood (now Market) Street. Five adults were baptized in 1705 and four in 1706.

The church is said to have been in some sense Congregational, but it was represented by elders in Presbytery from the first. Mr. Andrews was punctual in his attendance on every meeting, and never failed to be accompanied by an elder.

In 1707, the Presbytery directed each minister to read and comment upon a chapter in the Bible every Lord's day, 'as discretion and circumstances of time and place would admit." All the ministers except Mr. Andrews complied, and, in 1708, it was 'recommended to him to take into serious consideration the reading of a chapter, and making a comment on the same;' but there is no evidence that he ever fell into the practice. A strong prejudice prevailed against it in New England, where he had been educated, as it was considered an approximation at least to Episcopal usage; and Mr. Andrews reluctance in the case was no doubt to be set down as a prejudice of education.

It is evident from the record of his baptisms that he must have performed, at different times, a considerable amount of missionary labour, Hopewell, Gloucester, Burlington, Amboy, and Staten Island, all seem to have been in turn favoured with his occasional ministrations.

He was also the Recording Clerk of the Presbytery and of the Synod, as long as he lived. He conducted most of their correspondence, especially with New England, and was considered as signally gifted in bringing to a successful termination angry disputes, both in congregations and among individuals.

There is a tradition that he gave up his Independency in 1729, and became thoroughly Presbyterian. This tradition, however, seems to be rendered somewhat doubtful by the fact, that it was just at that time that his congregation were asking aid from Boston to enlarge their place of worship. And, in addition to that, nothing of the kind is even hinted at in a letter which he addressed to Dr. Colman of Boston, the same year, asking advice as to his duty in relation to the "Adopting Act." "As to affairs here," he says, "we are engaged in the enlargement of our house, and by the assistance we had from Boston, I hope we shall go on comfortably with that work."

In September, 1733, he preferred a request to the Synod that he should be allowed an assistant in the ministry. The request was unanimously granted, on condition that "sufficient provision should be made for his honourable maintenance, during his life among them." This was subsequently modified, the better to meet the views of the congregation, and they were allowed to call an assistant. But the Synod directed that those who desired an assistant should not diminish, but rather increase, their subscriptions for Mr. Andrews, because the existing subscription was scanty; that no part of what was already subscribed should be aliented from him, and that all the monthly collections should be appropriated to his benefit. In May of the next year, the Presbytery gave him leave to resign his charge, if he saw fit. In the autumn, the Rev. Samuel Hemphill came to this country from Ireland, was received as a member of the Synod, and took up his abode in Philadelphia, until he should obtain a settlement. Mr. Andrews invited him to occupy his pulpit a part of each Sabbath; but he soon regretted it; for he found that free-thinkers, deists, and in general the worst part of the community, flocked to hear him, while the better part of the congregation staid away. Mr. Andrews attended his service regularly during the winter; but felt himself bound to "article" against him, and a commission, appointed for the purpose of investigating the case, tried and suspended him. In writing to Dr. Colman, Mr. Andrews says that he had never suffered so much as during this period, and that his mind was made up to leave his charge, although the better part of them were desirous that he should remain. Mr. Hemphill finally sunk into obscurity and disgrace, in consequence of being detected in preaching other men's sermons."

The article continues with a reference to a schism which developed within the congregation over the choice of an assistant minister but which was resolved in 1737. Our quotation resumes with the following disturbing note:

"It is sad to be obliged to record that, near the close of a long and useful life, a cloud settled over this venerable man, that had scarcely passed off at the time of his death. He was arraigned by his Presbytery on a charge of gross immorality; and though he denied any criminal intent, he made a confession which, in the opinion of the Presbytery, so far involved his character, that they felt constrained to pass upon him the sentence of suspension; —— a sentence which he himself recorded, thus closing his labours as Clerk of the Presbytery. He was, however, restored after a few months, and died in the year 1747."

Joseph Andrews 303;11-3( ),10(3),9(2)

The account in "The Old Families of Salisbury and Amesbury, Massachusetts" states that Joseph was mentioned in the will dated 1691, of his step-father, John Allin, but adds, "in 1700 has not been heard from for sometime, and it was doubtful if he was still living."

Mary Manning 303;11-3( ),10(7),9(1) Samuel Hull

If the records in "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge" and paragraph 1822 of "New Jersey Genealogy" are correct, Mary was only 14 years of age when she married 28 year old Samuel. He is identified by Virkus as the son of Rev. Joseph Hull. Samuel's second wife is named Margaret Martin.

John is called "Ensign" and Elizabeth named the daughter of John Dennis and his wife, Sarah, in "New Jersey Genealogy".

Elizabeth Manning 303;11-3( ),10(7),9(3) Thomas FitzRandolph

According to "Bi-Centennial Anniversary, 1689-1889, First Baptist Church of Piscataway":

"Thomas FitzRandolph, the third son of the old patriarch, was born in 1659, and married Eliza Manning, having only six children. He was Clerk of the Township and one of the first group of Selectmen to manage the affairs of the town, and served as deputy in the General Assembly."

Detail is added by Virkus in identifying Thomas' father as Edward FitzRandolph and mother as Elizabeth Blossom, dating his service in the Assembly as 1693-94 and stating that he was a constable as well as Selectman in Piscataway.

In "The Descendants of Edward FitzRandolph and Elizabeth Blossom, 1630-1950", by Louise Aymar Christian and Howard Stelle FitzRandolph, Thomas is referred to as a weaver. It is stated that Thomas emigrated from West Barnstable, MA, with his parents to Piscataway in 1669.

The "Records of Plymouth Colony", Volume 8, state that Thomas is the brother of Mary FitzRandolph, the second wife of Samuel Hinckley. 1

Sarah is identified in "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge" as the daughter of John and Sarah FitzRandolph, thus, is the niece of Thomas FitzRandolph, husband of Joseph's sister, Mary. Temperence is named the daughter of Captain Benjamin Hull and Rachel Yorke.

Thomas Leverett 303;11-3( ),10(1),9(6),8(3) Rebecca Winsor

The inclusion of Thomas in our family history conforms to the following reasoning in "The Second Wife of Hudson Leverett" by Frederick W. Wead as published in Volume 25 of "The American Genealo-

"There is no record of the birth of Thomas Leverett, but that he was son of Hudson by his second wife, Elizabeth, is indicated by the will of her father, Matthew Gannett, and also by the fact that he was not named in the will of his grandfather, Gov. John Leverett ---- which was made 15 March 1678/9 and proved 25 March 1679, although his brother John was named in it. Hence he was presumably born later than March 1679, and Hudson's first wife (Sarah Payton) died only three months thereafter.

Furthermore, on 11 May 1705, John Leverett sold as "lawful heir" land which had belonged to Bezalael Payton without consideration of his brother (Suffolk Registry, 22:280). Also when John brought suit in May 1707, against his aunts for his share of his grandfather's estate, he ignored the rights of the children of Thomas and it was not until 11 July 1725 (Suffolk Registry, 39: 41) that John's two daughters, Sarah Leverett and Mary (Leverett) Denison, agreed to a division of the land with Knight Leverett, son of Thomas."

Rebecca is identified by Wead as the daughter of Joshua Winsor who was named administrator of the will of Thomas' mother, Elizabeth Gannett. In "History of the Town of Duxbury" by Justin Winsor, 1849, Thomas is named Thomas Hudson Leverett and is described as a barber. His death date is given as June 1706 and an indication is included that Rebecca married a second husband.

Prince Joy 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(5),8(1) Abigail Tower (1)
Hannah Orcutt (2)

Prince was referred to as a farmer and is named a Constable in 1726 in Volume IV of "Colonial Families of the United States". In "Thomas Joy and His Descendants" by James Richard Joy, 1900, Abigail is identified as the daughter of Richard Tower and Abigail Farrow of Hingham. Hannah is named the daughter of John Orcutt in "Colonial Families of the United States". Prince fathered five children with each wife.

Joseph Joy 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(5),8(2) Esther Finney

Joseph is not listed as a child of Joseph and Elizabeth in "A Brief History of the Joy Family" by Cornelia C. Joy Dyer, 1876, but is included in the book by James Richard Joy. From these histories we find that Joseph removed to Rehobeth, MA, about 1718 with brothers David and Jonathan and died there about 1725. Esther returned to Bristol, RI, after Joseph's death where she became a member of the Congregational Church from 1741 until her death on 26 May 1754.

(Cornelia C. Joy Dyer lists a Hezekiah Joy as the third child with a birthdate of 11 September 1695 but he is not listed in the more recent history by James Richard Joy.)

David Joy 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(5),8(3) Ruth Ford

According to Virkus, David was a weaver and settled in Rehobeth, MA, about 1720. Ruth is identified only "as of Pembroke, Massachusetts" in "Colonial Families of the United States". Cornelia C. Joy Dyer states that David and Ruth had ten children, all born in Rehobeth. James Richard Joy adds that several of the children settled in Vermont.

John Joy 303;11-3( ),10(2)19(5),8(4) Lydia Lincoln

Lydia is identified as the daughter of Samuel Lincoln and Deborah Hersey of Hingham, MA, in "Colonial Families of the United States". In "A Brief History of the Joy Family" Lydia is called a "relative of Levi Lincoln, Attorney General of the United States and Acting Governor of Massachusetts" who, in turn, was identified in "Thomas Joy and His Descendants" as the grandson of Jedediah Lincoln, brother of Lydia. Her uncle, Mordecai, is referred to as an ancestor of President Abraham Lincoln. Lydia was admitted to First Church of Hingham in February 1728.

A story of divided loyalties is related in "Colonial Families of the United States concerning the two sons of John and Lydia, during the American Revolution. John, the second child and elder son: 1

"b. Hingham, Massachusetts. 4th June, 1727; d. in London, England, December, 1804; when the British troops retired from Boston in 1776, he removed his family to Halifax and thence to England, where he remained, though several of his sons returned to America at their earliest opportunity ----"

Benjamin, the sixth child and second son: 2

"b. 13th July, 1740; served in 1775 as a soldier of the Revolution in Capt. J. Loring's Company; ----"

Ruth Joy 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(5),8(6)

According to the reference to Ruth in "Thomas Joy and His Descendants", she was admitted to First Church, Hingham, in April 1735. She mentioned in her will as her son and heir, Silas, who married 1 appears that his birth was illegitimate and his father unknown. Descendants of Silas are recorded under the Joy family name.
Margaret Masury in 1757. No surname for her son was stated so it 2

Abigail Joy 303;11-3( ),10(2),9(5),8(7) Joshua Bates

According to Virkus, Joshua was the son of Joshua Bates and Rachel Tower and was a Constable in 1735. Abigail is not included among the list of children of Joseph and Elizabeth in "Colonial Families of the United States". Joshua and Abigail are stated to be the parents of seven children by James Richard Joy.

Benjamin Stelle (2)

Benjamin is identified by Virkus as "Reverend" and the son of Poncet Stelle. He was for many years pastor of the Baptist Church in Piscataway, NJ. According to the reference on page 439 of "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge, New Jersey":

> "Rev. Benjamin Stelle ---- always claimed to have married Mercy Drake, daughter of Captain George Drake, of Piscataway, who was born 21 January 1684 and died 21 December 1746 (age 62). However, it has been recently urged with much reason that she was Mercy Hull, born 22 January 1683, daughter of Samuel Hull and Mary Manning and that she was first married to Thomas Piatt, 1 June 1703, who died 1706/7 and as widow married Reverend Benjamin Stelle."

The marriage date for Mercy and Thomas and deathdate for Thomas conflict with the statement on page 869 of the same reference that the marriage date is 1 February 1699 and that Thomas died "soon" in reference to that date and said to be in 1700. The record of Piscataway Births of their daughter, Mercy Piatt, on 11 December 1700 adds validity to the wedding date of 1 February 1699.

John Wadsworth 303;11-3( ),10(8),9(3),8(1) Mary Alden

In "History of Duxbury", 1849, Justin Winsor provides the following article about John:

"He had served in the Canada war as an officer, and on the commencement of the Revolution was a Captain of the militia. His opposition to the tyrannical power of Great Britain was firm and steady; and he used his utmost endeavors to instigate his fellow-townsmen in that path, which he truly believed led to their own happiness and to the acquirement of their liberty. During the stifled contentions between the colonies and the mother country, which preceded the open outbreaks of hostilities, he was a member of the legislative assembly of the province, and his exertions in the cause of freedom were manifest and open. His actions and words breathed that same spirit of independence which characterized the declarations of the town on several occasions, and in the formation of which he so largely contributed.

In his private character, Dr. Wadsworth was eccentric, and the manner of his life was characteristic and amusing. In his speech he was rapid and witty. He was a man of strong passions and prejudices, and when excited was as invincible by remonstrance as he was immovable in his opinions. It is related of him that when a mere boy, he once accompanied his father, Dea. Wadsworth, on a trip to Boston by water. On the passage he discoursed considerable with his father on logic, and finally his conversation tended to the point "that it was best for us in this world to let all things take their own course". Shortly afterwards the vessel was accidentally set on fire in the cabin, and John immediately went to work with all haste to extinguish it. "Ah, John!" said his father, "stop! It is best to let all things in this world have their own course." "True," replied John, "if you can't help it." His father, who was a very pious deacon, confessed that he had seen one instance, where terrible language did good. The Doctor, being with him bound out of Boston harbor in a sloop, they run afoul a British frigate. They made no effort to clear him until the Doctor opened upon them a battery of profaneness so tremendous, that they stood aghast and soon pushed him clear. They were about to cut his jib stays, but forbore in awe of him. The Doctor was remarkable for the neatness of his farm, and the fine order in which he kept his fences. It so happened that his next neighbor's fences were continually out of repair. Meeting with her one morning he assailed her with his volcanic battery. Being members of the same church she applied to Mr. Turner for redress, who called upon the Doctor on the next day, and in vain tried to expostulate. He listened for some time; but at last interupted and said, "Parson, it's of no use, it isn't, that woman wont keep her fences in repair. I wish her ribs were a gridiron to roast her soul upon!" "Good morning, Doctor," said Mr. Turner and left him.

Dr. Wadsworth prided himself much on possessing the art of prophecy, and was frequently consulted by the credulous concerning stolen property, absent friends, and comong events. It is still reported that he conjured with wonderful accuracy, and individual instances are often related. He always denied that his power was superhuman; but affirmed that it was capable of being learned and as simple as any operation in arithmetic, and that all errors in his foretelling were occasioned by mistakes in his calculations.

As a physician, Dr. Wadsworth was self taught, and of considerable eminence in his profession. He was a man of energy and activity, and retained his physical powers until late in life. His talents were by no means disputable. He died in 1799, at the advanced age of 92 years."

Another reference to John is found in a footnote in Winsor's article about John's son, John:

"In the various branches of science he was also a close student, and to the subject of electricity he was particularly partial. It is said of him that soon after Dr. Franklin had made his discoveries, and declared them, he undertook to construct an electric machine. His father, the Doctor, who was rather incredulous, laughed at him considerably and spurned the idea. John not in the least daunted still continued his work, and finally finished it. Having satisfied himself of the efficacy of the instrument, he determined that the Doctor should suffer for his incredulity. The old gentleman consented, still disbelieving, and did as John commanded, who gave him so severe a shock as nearly to prostrate him, when rising up in considerable heat, he exclaimed, "You rascal you, do you mean to kill your father?" He confessed himself convinced, and seldom after dared to be skeptical."

2 John Wadsworth 303;11-3( ),10(8),9(3),8(1),7( ) son

Peleg Wadsworth 303;11-3( ),10(8),9(3),8(5) Susannah

Winsor writes the following article about Peleg:

"Deacon Peleg Wadsworth was a brother of the Doctor, though quite a different man; yet was also a great wit. In his language his style was characteristically quaint and fanciful, often indulging in expressions which struck the stranger's ear not only as singular, but also as wonderfully significant. At the time when the modern innovation of singing the psalm in church, without first reading it line by line, began to be established, many were opposed to it, and were strongly in favor of continuing in the old method. Some, it is said, even left the church, shocked at the idea of the impending extinction of that time-honored practice. One individual, in particular, frequently went out. This same person shortly after having purchased of the Deacon a barrel of cider, which had begun to work, was assisted by him in placing it upon the wagon, and was about leaving, when the deacon called out to him, in a tone of admonition, "Have a care, have a care, neighbor Delano, this cider may sing before you get home without reading." The cut was irresistible, and Mr. Delano henceforth gave up his prejudices." 1

WILLIAM LARNED 605;12-3( ) GOODITH 2419;12-1( )

According to "The Learned Family" by William Law Learned, the records of the four daughters and one son from Bermondsey parish, Surrey, Eng., span a time periond of about thirteen years. William Richard Cutter in "Genealogical and Personal Memoirs", 1910, adds:

> "It is possible that WILLIAM LEARNED resided for a short time in Ware, Eng., and it is known that he resided in the parish of Bermondsey, Surry, from 1612 to 1625. In the latter year his third child was buried there."

William Law Learned lists a wife for WILLIAM named GOODITH, GODITHA, or JUDITH. In "New England Historical and Genealogical Register", Volume 23, page 191, it is recorded that:

> "1632 10mo., day 6, (read 6 December 1632) WILLIAM LEARNED and GOODETH, his wife, were admitted" that is, among the first admitted to the first church of Charlestown, MA. Cutter adds:

> "The records of Charlestown show that he was admitted as an inhabitant there and had a planting lot in 1630, but as these records were made many years afterwards, the time is somewhat uncertain. ---- In this record his wife's name is spelled GOODITH, and is presumed to mean JUDITH, though some authorities claim it is derived from the Saxon word Goditha.

WILLIAM's name is found on lists of inhabitants of Charlestown dated 9 January 1633 and for years of 1635 and 1635. On 14 May 1634, he was admitted freeman and was chosen selectman on 13 February 1635/6. In the minutes of the town meeting of 11 February 1637, referred to in "The LEARNED Family", shares of hay ground and portions of marsh land were assigned to him; of 2 March 1637, he was one of four assigned to divide for stinting the common land; of 6 April 1637 he and Goodman Thomas Ewer "were desired to layout widow Wilkin's two acres"; and of 1638 26 2nd mo., was one of a committee "desired to consider of some things toward a body of laws". This appointment implies that WILLIAM possessed a status of respect for his wisdom within the community. A negative reference, however, dated 15 November 1637, found in "Massachusetts Bay Colony Records" states:

> "Willi Larnet acknowledged his fault in subscribing the seditious writing, & desiring his name to (be) crossed out, it was yelded him, & crossed"

The only explanation of this "fault" was found in a statement by Cutter:

> "Being a friend of Wheelwright, he signed a remonstrance against the treatment of that worthy and was subsequently compelled by the church to renounce such action."

In 1640, according to Learned, WILLIAM was one of the signators to the town order to settle Woburn, MA, and on 14 August 1642 was one of seven who formed the 1st Church of Woburn. In that village, he was chosen constable and selectman on 13 April 1643 and again on 9 February 1644/5. He died there on 1 March 1646.

An unresolved question concerning WILLIAM's wife is raised by Learned:

> "By the inventory of ISAAC LEARNED estate, he was indebted to Widow Learned 3£ per annum so probably she was the widow of his father WILLIAM."

In a reference to Middlesex County Records, Learned records that a "widow Jane Learned" died in Malden, MA, in "12 mo 1660" and continues his reasoning:

> "In 1660 ISAAC was dead and his estate since 6 April 1658 was in the hands of his widow, MARY and her father, ISAAC STERNS. This MARY, not then married to second husband, Burg, must have been the "Widow LEARNED at Chelmsford" who was indebted to the estate of Widow Jane Learned, deceased."

Learned concludes that "Jane" may have been a second wife of WILLIAM but that Jane and GOODITH may also be the same person. Until proof is found otherwise, the second conclusion is accepted.

2 MARY STEARNS	1210;11-1(1)	son's wife
3 ISAAC STEARNS	1210;12-2( )	son's father-in-law
4 John Burg	H1210;11-1(1)	MARY's second husband

William Learned

Ann Learned 605;13-4( ),12( ) James Hull

Learned identifies Ann as "probably the sister of WILLIAM based on his statement:

> "These are the only traces of the name in England found thus far"

His reference reveals that a marriage license was granted by the Bishop of London on 4 June 1612 to James Hull of London and Ann Larned, daughter of Larned, deceased. Her father's first name is not stated.

Sara Learned 605;12-3( ),11(1) Thomas Ewer (1)
Thomas Lathrop (2)

In "Genealogical and Personal Memoirs", Cutter states that Sara:

> "may have been the Sarah Learned, baptized September 30, 1604, at Ware, though records made in Massachusetts indicate that she was born about 1607."

Since Sarah's age would be only 15 on the date of her marriage to Thomas Ewer if the birthdate of 1607 is correct, the 1604 date seems more likely and it supports the presumption that the Learned family did reside in Ware for a time. Either date, 1604 or 1607, raises a question concerning the alleged age of 56 for her father when he died in Woburn on 1 March 1646.

According to "The LEARNED Family" by William Law Learned, 1882, Thomas Ewer, tailor, emigrated from London, England, in the ship "James" to Charlestown, MA, in June 1635, at age 40, with his wife, Sarah, named as the daughter of WILLIAM LEARNED, age 28, and two children, Elizabeth, age 4 and Thomas age ½.

A reference by Thomas Bellows Wyman in "The Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown, Massachusetts", 1879, states that Sarah was admitted to the church on "12 (10) 1635/6".

Five references to Thomas Ewer are found in the "Massachusetts Bay Colony Records":

> "6 Mar 1637/8 chosen cunstable of Charlestowne & tooke his oath to discharge the said office (God help^{g}) the 20th"
>
> "5 Jun 1638 Thomas Ewer is fined 40^{s} for leaving his pit or well open, in w^{ch} a child was drowned"

"6 Sep 1638 Thomas Ewer being fined 2#, it was remitted to 10s"

"4 Dec 1638 ? Ewer was alowed executrix of her husband Thom. Ewer, deceased."

After the death of her first husband, Sarah married Thomas Lathrop on 11 December 1639 in Barnstable, MA. He is identified by Learned as the son of Rev. John Lathrop. In "Genealogical Notes on the Founding of New England" by Ernest Flagg, 1926, he is named the eldest son of Rev. John Lothrop and Hannah House. Bond, however, states that John's first wife, Mary, is the mother of Thomas.

Identical accounts of Thomas are recorded in "The Warren, Little, Lothrop, Park, Dix, Whitman, Fairchild, Platt, Wheeler, Lane and Avery Pedigrees of Samuel Putnam Avery, 1847-1920", the "New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, 1925" and "A Genealogical Memoir of the Lo-Lathrop Family" by Rev. E.B. Huntington, 1884.

"Thomas, born in England, and probably in Egerton, about 1621, as we infer from his own deposition, taken April 4, 1701, in which he states that he is "about 80 years of age." ---- At the age of about thirteen, he came with his father to Scituate, at which place we find the first record regarding him in this country: 'My Sonn Thomas Lothropp joyned May 4, 1637.' This was his admission to the church in Scituate, from which he removed with his father to Barnstable, in 1639, where he soon gained distinction among the pioneers of the new town."

The second record is from Barnstable:

"'My sonn Thomas and brother LARNETT's daughter, widow Ewer, were married in the Bay (Boston), Dec. 11, 1639.' The "daughter" above referred to, was Sarah, daughter of WILLIAM LARNED, and widow of Thomas Ewer. 1

In 1641 Thomas Lothrop is reported as land surveyor at Barnstable, and in 1643 as one liable to bear arms. He became quite a large land holder and an enterprising business man. He was enrolled as freeman June 3, 1656. He served the town in several offices, indicating his standing as honored among his fellow townsmen. His death took place in 1707."

Sarah's death is recorded in Middlesex County Records as "1660 11mo. 24 day" and she is referred to as "of Malden".

According to "The LEARNED Family", ISAAC came to America when 7 or 8 years old with his father and moved from Charlestown, MA, to Woburn, MA, at age 17 or 18, also with his father. He sold his house and land in Woburn on 2 April 1652 and moved to Chelmsford, MA, where he died on 27 November 1657. The administration of his estate was granted to his widow, MARY, and her father, ISAAC STERNE. 1 2

At the town meeting in Woburn on 4 January 1651/2, ISAAC was appointed to a committee to "lay out a driftway for cattle, etc., through Henry Brook's lot near Horn Pond".

In Chelmsford, he was chosen selectman at the town meeting of 22 December 1654. On 24 May 1656, he was appointed "sergeant of th (train) band and on 11 January 1656, was placed on the committee to "lay out certain meadow lands" and on another to "decide small cases at Chelmsford".

MARY married, second, John Burg (or Burge) of Chelmsford or Weymouth on 7 June 1662, who witnessed the proposed division of ISAAC's estate. MARY died within 18 months after her second marriage.

Sarah Ewer 605;12-3( ),11(1),10(1) Thomas Blossom

E.B. Huntington states in "A Genealogical Memoir of the Lo-Lathrop Family" that:

> "Elizabeth, a daughter of this Sarah Ewer by her former husband, 3, was baptized April 9, 1641, and was married, as we learn from a third record from the same hand as the above, to Thomas Blossom, June 18, 1645 "at ny sonn Thomas his house", the Thomas Blossom above having been born in Leyden about 1620."

"The third record" mentioned above relates to the two quotations on page 1616 about Thomas Lathrop, second husband of Sarah's mo- 1, ther.

This account contradicts the one we have accepted from "The LEARNED Family" which names Sarah as the husband of Thomas Blossom and the date of baptism, April 9, 1641, the date of death for Elizabetn.

Mary and John are the parents of six children. The family table and history begin on page (1650C)

In "A Genealogical Memoir of the Lo-Lathrop Family", Huntington refers to William as Captain and as "of Billerica". He names Mary's third husband Isaac Mixer, Jr., son of Isaac Mixer and his wife, Sarah, of Watertown, MA. Isaac married, first, on 19 September 1655, Mary Coolidge, sister of Simon Coolidge who married Hannah Barron. Isaac married, second, Rebecca Garfield who died 16 March 1682/3 and third, Mary, widow of William French. 3 2

Mary and William had four children. The family table and history begin on page (1619). William's great grandson by his first wife, Elizabeth, Samuel French, married Elizabeth Barron. (Page 1499BI)

Isaac took the oath of fidelity in 1652. He emigrated at age 4 with his parents from Ipswich, England, on 10 April 1634 on the ship "Elizabeth", William Andrews, Master.

In "History of Billerica", Hazen refers to William as "of Cambridge" and states that he arrived from England in 1635. His first wife, Elizabeth, was born in England and died in Cambridge, MA, on 31 March 1668. He married, second, as her second husband, Mary Lothrop, on 6 May 1669.

It is possible that Isaac Mixer's second wife, Rebecca Garfield, is the same person who married, second, Daniel Warren. 1

Sarah is identified by William Law Learned as the daughter of John Bigelow and Sarah Warren and is the sister of Elizabeth who married 1
John Stearns, Isaac's first cousin. Isaac was a soldier in Captain 2 Davenport's Company and was wounded at the Narragansett fight. Cutter adds that he was in Captain Sill's Company in 1675 and that on 30 October 1680, he signed a petition relating to the engagement of a minister for Sherburn. Learned states that he was first recorded as an inhabitant of Sherborn in April 1679, and that he was chosen selectman in 1692, 1698 and 1706 to 1711. He was also a fence-viewer in 1681 to 1682. Isaac appears to have been on the committee to procure the act of incorporation for Framingham, MA, in 1699. Cutter adds:

> "The next year he was made a member of a comittee by that town to consult a lawyer with reference to disputes about boundries. ---- On June 27, 1710, a tax was laid for the purchase of ammunition for the use of the town, and that of Isaac Learned was the largest, being three shillings and two pence."

Hope settled first in Barnstable, according to the account by Huntington, where he is enrolled among townsmen in 1695. He removed to Falmouth, MA, and then to Tolland, CT, in 1726 where he purchased 150 acres. There is a note written in the margin stating that his gravestone is in South Cemetery, Tolland, bearing the name Captain Hope Lathrop, with the death date 20 October 1734. Huntington lists his deathdate as 24 October 1736 and Elizabeth's as 21 February 1763.

Elizabeth is the daughter of her husband's cousin, Meletiah Lothrop, thus Hope's first cousin once removed. Charles Lathrop Pack, in "Thomas Hatch of Barnstable", states that Elizabeth "died probably in Amenica, New York". He provides the following additional history of Hope: 1

> "Capt. Hope Lothrop inherited his father's homestead in Barnstable. He was Selectman in Tolland, Connecticut, in 1726-27, and his interest in the church of that place is proved by his activity in procuring subscriptions for a church bell."

According to "The LEARNED Family", Isaac left Framingham after the birth of his third child and went with his family and brother, Ebenezer, as first settlers of Oxford, MA. There, he and Sarah were among the members who formed the first church in Oxford in 1720. He was the town clerk for five years beginning in 1732 and was referred to as "Lieutenant". Sarah is named as the daughter of John How and Elizabeth Woolson.

William Learned 605;11-2(6),10(5),9(5) Hannah Bryant

William Law Learned identifies Hannah as the eldest of seven daughters of Simon Bryant and his wife, Hannah, of Killingly, CT, formerly of Braintree, MA. Hannah is the sister of Lydia, wife of William's brother, Moses. 1 2

William moved from Framingham in 1712 and bought land in the northern part of Killingly, CT, (now in Putnam) and then moved to Sutten where the birth of his son, Samuel, is recorded. He is listed as one of the original members of the church at Sutton. In 1721, William returned to Killingly and was admitted to the church in Thompson from Sutton on 12 July 1731. On 7 June 1742, he became deacon of the church. In 1729, he was appointed surveyor of highways, selectman from 1740 to 1744 and town treasurer from 1742 to 1746. In deeds, he was described as a "cordwainer" (a shoemaker). His will was dated 13 April 1747. After his death on 11 June 1747, he was buried at the Old Killingly Burial Ground. His widow, Hannah, married Joseph Leavens on 17 October 1755. 3

Ebenezer Learned 605;11-2(6),10(5),9(6) Deborah Haynes

According to William Law Learned, Ebenezer went with his brother, Isaac, to become one of the first settlers of Oxford, MA, where both became prominent and active. He married Deborah on 14 October 1714, the fourth child of John Haynes and his wife, Ruth. Cutter adds that Ebenezer and Deborah were among the first members of the first church at Oxford and in "1748 gave the land on which the second ediface of that body was located". He was a town officer and became justice of peace in 1712. Cutter states further: 1

> "From 1717 to 1756, he served thirty-two years as a selectman, being much of the time chairman of the board, and was moderater fifteen years between 1726 and 1762. In 1718, he was Ensign in the local militia, was Captain in 1726, Major in 1744 and Colonel in 1747. He was representative to the General Court in 1731 and 1751."

In a brief reference to Deborah, Cutter states:

> "She was a woman of unusual ability and was known as Madam Learned."

Learned states that Ebenezer is named "Colonel" on his gravestone, and adds that he became the largest landowner in Oxford and built a dam and sawmill on the estate before 1728. (It ran until 1859).

His will dated 9 September 1767 gave:

"the homestead farm to the youngest son, Jeremiah, on the condition that he should maintain his mother "and my black man, Mingo ---- and to pay all necessary funeral charges as also Mingo's,""

The account in "The LEARNED Family" states that Samuel was a soldier under Captain John Lovewell's Company in the fight against the Indians in 1725. This is the same Company and expedition in which Elias Barron lost his life. (See page 1499E). William Law Learned continues saying that Samuel was a Petitioner from Petersham for services under Captain Lovewell and White, as volunteer and he probably received a tract of land by deed dated 12 April 1735. The reference ends with his deathdate, 20 July 1741 and the statement:

"Nothing more is known of him".

Thomas Learned 605;11-2(6),10(6),9(1) Mary Mason

Learned identifies Mary as the daughter of Joseph Mason and Mary Fiske. Of Thomas, he is referred to as a potter and a keeper of a tavern in Watertown known as "Learned's Tavern". After the death of Thomas, Mary continued the business until 1764, then by her son, Abijah, and in 1770 by their son, Bezaleel. Thomas was also referred to as a miller and is listed as a constable and collector of taxes from 1710 to 1712, a selectman in 1725 and 1729 at Watertown. His will was dated 21 December 1729 and proved 12 January 1729/0.

From "Collections of Massachusetts Historical Society, Fifth Series, Volume 7, a reference to the tavern mentioned above is found on page 197 of the "Diary of Samuel Seward":

Abijah Learned 605;11-2(6),10(6),9(1),8(5) Sarah Smith (1)
Abigail (2)

Learned states that Abijah moved from Cambridge to Watertown in 1765 where he operated "Learned's Tavern" until he sold out in 1767 when he returned to Cambridge settling in Brighton, the 3rd parish of Cambridge. On 3 February 1735, he married at Newton, Sarah Smith of Cambridge. He married, second, Abigail, whose maiden name is not known. Abijah is referred to in deeds as yoeman. His deathdate is not known but the administration of his estate was granted on 23 April 1783. The family name is spelled "Learnard" on his gravestone.

Other than vital statistics, the only reference to THOMAS in "Colonial Families of America" is the statement that he lived in Ipswich.

According to "Colonial Families of America", JOHN was born in Ipswich, Suffolk, England and was baptized there at St. Nicholas Church in November 1551. It is further stated:

> "On 24 November 1587 he was allowed a 'parcell the Common Soile in Marg^{te} parish - 18ft square at 4d yearly rent' 28 March 1589 decreed 'Johs Smith shall have another p'cell called, of the same Coleshill allotted to him, to sett a house uppon, with a garden plott, 36 foote, a 12d rent.'"

JOHN married, first, JANE MARTYN, daughter of RICHARD MARTYN of Long Melford, Suffolk, England, and second, Ann Eden, daughter of Thomas Eden of Sudbury, Suffolk.

THOMAS, according to "Colonial Families of America", was baptized at St. Nicholas Church in Ipswich, Suffolk, England, on 7 March 1573. The account says that for many years he was the proprietor of a general retail store or chandler's shop in Ipswich and later a partner with his father-in-law at Bryan Piddle, Dorset, under the firm name, Smith & Doan. For sixteen years, THOMAS occupied the house at Coleshill which his father had built.

According to "Colonial Families of America", National Americana Society, NY, JOHN spent his boyhood at Bryan Piddle, (spelled and pronounced Brinpittie by natives). It was also stated that relatives and friends preceeded his emigration to America but no supporting records were provided.

In "A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith and His Descendants" by Susan Augusta Smith, Avery & Duten, 1895, the author refers briefly to Otis giving us additional information and supporting the above quotation from Cora Smith Gould: 11 10 7

> "A valuable letter written some years ago by Amos Otis, the historian of the Cape, states that Rev. JOHN SMITH came to New England on the ship "White Angel"-----. We know him to have been at Barnstable in 1640, although he must have come to this country several years previous to that time, for by a deposition of his taken in the settlement of some probate matters quoted in Freeman's "History of Cape Cod", it appears he was the son of THOMAS SMITH, of Brinspittae, about five miles from Dorchester, in Dorsetshire, was then 'February 8th, 1651, in Barnstable, only son and heir, supposeth his age to be 37, it being next May 21 years since he came out of England, 'and that his sisters Hannah and Tumson, were then living in England.'" 1 8 9

(Page 1630: Add the following between the first quotation ending "man of affairs" and the paragraph beginning "JOHN became")

Again, referring to "Colonial Families of America", JOHN is stated to be one of the six signers of a document dated 26 August 1644 whereby Serunk, an Indian, did: "Sell and make over to the town of Barnstable, all of the sd. lands and meadows lying betwixt the bounds of Sandwich and the bank of Prexit (name of an Indian) and other Indians, in consideration of four coats and three axes."

Elizabeth C. Jenkins, author of "The First Church — Interim Years" adds:

> "JOHN SMITH comes and goes through the records (of Barnstable) in perplexing fashion. He was of the earliest to take up a large grant of land in Great Marshes, which he held until 1667 when he sold to John Otis 'all my dwellinghouse and lands both upland and meddow Lying in Barnstable on the west syde of a place Commonly called the bridge."

(Page 1630: Add after the quote ending "occasionally at Barnstable" and the paragraph beginning "In the book")

According to Elizabeth C. Jenkins;

> "JOHN's withdrawal - there is no record that he was disfranchised - was at first not from the town but from the church. According to the dates in Sargeant's deed, and of Mayo's removal to Boston, he would have officiated after them in the Barnstable church. Quakers began to appear on the Cape in 1657, and his tolerance toward them may have made it impossible for him to go on, for the men dominant in the church found the Quakers troublesome at best and at worst a scandal."

(Page 1631: Add the following additional history by Elizabeth C. Jenkins between the quotation ending "met 4 June 1662" and the paragraph beginning "After the dissension")

"Thomas Walley was our last minister out of England. ---- The John Cottons - father in the First Church in Boston, son in the Plymouth church - were deeply concerned over the dissensions here. It is conjecture only that they persuaded Mr. Walley to try to compose the 'unhappy differences' at Barnstable. ---- His first 'indeavor' was a reconsideration of the case of JOHN SMITH. The entry in his handwriting in the church records shows his determination to look at both sides of this case:

"JOHN SMITH, being a member of the church in Barnstable, professing that he could not hold communion with the church desires that he might peaceably depart from it, the sayd JOHN SMITH not being charged with heresy nor morrall scandall the church agreed to send this answer following on the 13th day of the 10th M Anno 1663: (date questionable)

Forasmuch as Brother SMITH doth declare that he cannot hold Communion with the church of Christ in Barnstable of which he is a member and that on account of his conscience the church doe declare his neglect of Comunion will be his sin, yet hoping that the Lord will give more Light to him or to them, they are content to waite upon the Lord and bear with him ... until the Lord shall show them what their duty is. In the meantime Looking upon him as a member and resolving to seek the Lord in his behalfe and so Doe whatever duty belongs to Brethren.""

An interesting and more personal reference to JOHN is quoted from "Biographical and Topographical Anecdotes Respecting Sandwich and Marshpee, Jan. 1794." by Rev. Gideon Hawley, A.M. and published in "Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society," First Series, Volume 3:

"In process of time, the congregation settled Mr. SMITH, in whom they united. This minister had for a time officiated at Barnstable; but Mr. HINCKLEY, who was afterwards governour, made uneasiness; and his party was so great, that Mr. SMITH requested a dismission. He was asked to what church he would be dismissed? His answer is said to have been, "that he would be dismissed to the grace of God." When one of the disaffected party in a pet, said, "And what if the grace of God won't receive you?" 2

(Page 1632: Add the following after the paragraph ending "request in 1688" and the one beginning "It is appropriate")

Elizabeth C. Jenkins provides more detail in "The First Church — Interim Years":

"In 1672 Mr. Walley entered in the church records, "JOHN SMITH formerly a member of the church of Barnstable was declared noe member of the church the 23d day of the 4th month Anno 1672, which was done upon the account of his being different in opinion from them" —here two lines are left blank— "but since his return from New York received into church again." Perhaps Mr. Walley had a hand in his peaceful and final "settlement." In 1674 land in Sandwich was granted to "Mr. SMITH, teacher of the church at Sandwich." In 1675 he was settled over the church as pastor and remained there until 1688 when he was dismissed at his own request because of bodily infirmity."

(Page 1632: Add the reference to Cora Smith as the final paragraph of our history of JOHN SMITH)

Cora Smith referred to in the first paragraph of JOHN SMITH's history, is named the wife of George A. Gould by Virkus in "The Abridged Compendium of American Genealogy". 7

Additional references to Samuel in "Colonial Families of America" and "Woodbridge and Vicinity" by Dally, state that he was elected Constable in 1684 and overseer of highways in 1684 and 1688. In 1684, he was specifically appointed to repair highways "for the Middle part of the Towne." In "Colonial Families of the United States", it is stated that in 1676 he received a grant of 103 acres in Woodbridge, NJ, and on 14 February 1687 he was one of ten appointed to survey land for the second division of which he received 27 acres. His death date is given a "between 16 December 1717 and 15 October 1729."

Esther is identified as the daughter of Jonathan Dunham and Mary Bloomfield. The date of Samuel's marriage to Elizabeth is given as 8 June 1690-91. The date in Volume II given as 8 January 1692 was probably confused with the birthdate of their son, Shubael, on 2 January 1692/3."

There is some confusion concerning the birthdate of John. In "Jacob Dunham Genealogy" by Sophie Dunham Moore, the date is given as 11 October 1647. Isaac Watson Dunham, author of "Dunham Genealogy", lists the year as 1649. In "Genealogical and Family History of the State of Connecticut", the year is stated to be 1648, and the birthplace, Plymouth, instead of Barnstable. The deathdate also is not certain. In this reference the year is recorded as 1698 but Moore and Dunham agree on 2 January 1696/7.
In "Colonial Families of the United States", John is identified as the son of John Dunham of Plymouth. His mother is named Dorothy in the account from "Genealogical and Family History of the State of Connecticut".

In Volume III of "Plymouth Colony Record", it is recorded that John was appointed "Surveyor of Highwayes" for Plymouth on 4 June 1661. In Volume IV of the Records, a reference to John dated 8

June 1664 states that he shall:

"have libertie to looke out land for accomodations, and to make report therof to the Court, that soe a competency may bee allowed to them."

According to "Plymouth Colony Record, Judicial Acts" John, referred to as John Junir, was appointed to the jury on 5 March 1661/2, 30 October 1672, and 7 July 1674. On 3 July 1679, he sued Adam Wright of Plymouth for 20 shillings for cedar bolts. The account from Volume VI of the Records states that, on 8 March 1678/9, John and his brothers, Joseph and Samuel, were appointed to the coroners jury.

An interesting account of a suit initiated on 7 July 1683 by John and Mary against Joseph Howland is reproduced from page 269 of "Plymouth Colony Records, Judicial Acts":

> *Wheras, att his maties Court held the first Tusday in July last past, [*46.]
> John Dunham, of Bāstable, and Mary, his wife, complaineth against Leift
> Joseph Howland, of Plymouth, in an action of the case, to the damage of twelue pounds, for non payment of about eight pound wages, due to the said Mary, for her two last yeer seruice of the said Joseph Howland, almost six yeer since, or theire abouts, shee being then called by the name of Mary Smith, on which the jury then found for the defendant, as by the said action and verdict of jury on record, whervnto reference being had, doth and may appeer; and forasmuch as that the said complainant doeth further complaine that the Court and jury were att that time misled by the fallatious plea of the said defendant, to theire further and greater damage, as they are reddy to make appeere, and therfore pray a review of the said action to be graunted to them, that they may haue justice doñ them in the said case according to law.
> The jury find for the dēndant the cost of the sute.

On 6 "J" 1686, John was on the petty jury, according to Volume VI of "Plymouth Colony Records". On 25 July 1686, it is stated in "Plymouth Church Records, 1620 - 1859", that John was dismissed from Plymouth to Barnstable. He was referred to again under the date of 26 April 1691 as being reconciled to the church but with no explanation of the "sin" referred to:

"he did acknowledge his sin for which the church rejected him"

Sophie Dunham Moore adds that in 1692, John was deputy of the General Court and that after his death, Mary moved to Mansfield, CT, and opened a public house.

In the "History of Cape Cod", it is stated that in 1679, it was voted:

"that Shubael Smith be paid £1 for a wolf killed by his brother, Benjamin." 1

Virkus identifies Abigail as the daughter of Stephen Skiffe and Lydia Snow. She is mentioned briefly in the "Diary of Rev. William Homes of Chilmark", published in Volume 50 of "New England Historical and Genealogical Register":

"June 9, 1718. This day being Munday I attended the funeral of Mrs. Abigail Smith, wife of Mr. Shubael Smith of Chilmark."

Freeman states that Shubael, with others, was appointed:

"to assist the Indians in the sale, and to see that they receive a good and valuable consideration" of land in Sandwich and Waquoit."

The vital statistics for Joseph and Anne are found in "Genealogy of Some Descendants of Captain Matthew Fuller, John Fuller of Newton, John Fuller of Lynn, John Fuller of Ipswich, Robert Fuller of Dorchester and Dedham" by William Hyslop Fuller, 1914. A brief account of Joseph is quoted from "A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith And His Descendants" by Susan Augusta Smith: 1 2

"He remained in Barnstable, and minute particulars as to his career are not given, except that it was an honorable one. He filled all the important offices worth holding faithfully and well. He died and was buried in Barnstable. In the bible of his son, Rev. Thomas Smith, occurs this quaint record, in his own handwriting ----,

"My father died March 4th, 1746, it being on Saturday about Sun Setting in the 80th year of his age, and was buried on Monday — Our fathers, where are they?"

Joseph Smith married Ann - or Anna - Fuller, April 29th, 1689. She was the daughter of Lieut. Samuel Fuller who was killed at Rehobeth battle 1676 - son of Capt. Matthew Fuller."

Otis identifies Anne's mother as Mary.

Additional history is quoted from "New Jersey Genealogy", paragraph 4875:

> "He was a man of public esteem in Woodbridge, held several offices and was at one time justice. He adhered to the Quakers and was an "Over-Seer" in the Friends Meetings and"the 15th of 11th month, 1736-7" meeting "appoints Jacob Thorn to succeed Benjamin Smith, deceased." He served until 1715 as a private in Captain John Moore's Third Company of Colonel Thomas Farmer's regiment of New Jersey Militia."

In "The Hull Family in America - Jersey Branch" by Orra Eugene Monette, published in "The Old Northwest" Genealogical Quarterly", 1910, Sarah is identified as the daughter of John Shotwell and Elizabeth Burton.

Shubael Smith 606,11-2( ),10(1),9(4) Prudence FitzRandolph

The vital statistics from paragraph 4206 of New Jersey Genealogy, indicate that Shubael was born in Woodbridge, NJ, on 2 January 1692/3 and married Prudence, daughter of Samuel FitzRandolph and Mary Jones, at Woodbridge, 17 March 1716.

Accounts in "Colonial Families of America" and Dally's "Woodbridge and Vicinity" state that Shubael was active in the development of coastwise navigation in the middle colonies and commanded a trading vessel sailing between Jersey and Long Island. He moved at one time to Huntington, Long Island, but the date is not known. In March 1727, he was appointed to a committee of eight to investigate Soumans - Stelle land claims. The town delegated him to make a new fence around the graveyard on 21 July 1738 and on 18 June 1752, to take care of the Friends burial ground. On 20 March 1758, he was chosen moderator of town meetings. Before his death on 31 May 1768, he returned to Woodbridge but the date is not given in either reference.

In the chapter on slavery, Dally records that Shubael and his brother, Samuel, were slave-holders according to a document dated 3 June 1717 filed in Liber B, folio 100: 1

> "Know all men by these presents yt J, Shuball Smith, of Woodbridge, Jn ye County of Middx Jn ye provence New East Jersey, for and Jn Consideration of ye sum of fifty pound Currant Silver money, of ye said provence, to me Jn hand paid by Samuel 1 > of ye Same place, yeoman of ye town and provence a foresd - do bargain, sell, allineat and Deliver one Negro woman Named Phebe to sd Samll Smith, for him, his heirs and assigns."

A conflicting identification of Prudence in "New England Historical and Genealogical Record", Volume XCVII, 1943, names her as the daughter of Nathaniel FitzRandolph and Mary Holley and the granddaughter of Edward FitzRandolph and Elizabeth Blossom. Thus, she is the grandniece of Mary FitzRandolph who married Samuel Hinckley 2,3 and of Thomas FitzRandolph who married Elizabeth Manning. 4,5

Hannah Green (2)

In "Dunham Genealogy", it is recorded that Benjamin was baptized on 23 August 1691. Hannah Scott is identified as "of Hatfield" and Hannah Green is named the daughter of Francis Green.

Ann Smith (1) 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(4) Isaac Crocker

From "Amos Otis Papers" it is observed that Isaac is the son of Jonathan Crocker and Hannah Howland. His father's second wife was Thankful Trott, widow of John Hinckley. Isaac's second wife, Elizabeth Fuller, was the sister of Hannah Fuller, wife of Matthias Smith, Ann's brother. Isaac's sister, Reliance, married Ann's brother, Joseph. 1,2 3,4 5 6

Hannah, according to "Descendants of Captain Matthew Fuller", is the daughter of John Fuller of Barnstable and Thankful Gorham. Hannah and Matthias are second cousins.

In the account entitled "Edward Fuller and His Descendants" by Homer W. Brainard, published in "New York Genealogical and Biographical Record", volume 33, 1902, Matthias is referred to as "Matthew". Hannah is first cousin once removed of Anne Fuller, her husband's mother. Hannah's brother, Nathaniel Fuller, married Abigail Hinckley.

SMITH 606
11-2( ),10(13),9(10)

Thomas Smith 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(10) Judith Miller

Our history of Thomas is quoted from his memorial written by Susan Augusta Smith:

"At the age of nineteen, 1725, he graduated at Harvard College, was ordained at 23, April 16th, 1729, over the Church at Yarmouth, and at 28, August 29th, 1734, married Judith Miller, daughter of Josiah Miller, of Yarmouth. One of the wedding presents was a small black girl named Joan, eight years old. Her death and that of her daughter Margaret - or "Peg", as she was known in the family - are recorded in the family Bible, both lived to a great age and were faithful servants - slaves of course - as was the custom of the times. ---- When the time came for the freeing of the slaves in Massachusetts, those belonging to Rev. Thomas Smith came to him with tears, begging to be kept, saying, "Don't send us away, Master, we want no home but this." They remained of course, loved and trusted servants. ---- (Thomas) was a wonderfully scholarly man, always in advance of his time, and in sympathy with the younger generation. After preaching at Yarmouth twenty-five years, his religious views had so advanced and liberalized, as to be no longer in accord with the church, consequently he asked his dismission, which was granted. The same year, 1754, he settled at Pembroke, where he remained till his death, July 7, 1788. As one of the Cape historians has put it, "He lived in reputation and died at advanced age." ----

So numerous are the anecdotes told of Parson Smith's independence, charity, kindliness and quick perceptions, it is difficult to select the best. ---- I am indebted to my father for all such information. ---- 2

Once when taking tea at the house of a proverbially good cook, and of course the best was put before the minister, she expecting a compliment chose to deprecate her food and said, "Mr. Smith, let me give you some very poor apple pie." "No, ma'am, Thank you," said he, "I never eat poor pie," and much mortified, she could not persuade him to touch it. His criticism upon a sermon, read to him by Mr. Whitman (Rev. Kilborn Whitman, later Judge Whitman) which began with a long preamble, was "Very good, but your porch is larger than your house." While preaching at Yarmouth it was said of him, "That Mr. Smith could preach a sermon an hour long in twenty minutes." One descendant says, "It has always been said of him that he was a profound Hebrew scholar and very absent minded, and in proof of this; once returning from some meeting at Hingham, he drove home the wrong horse, not discovering his mistake till the next day, when the owner came for it."

When the minister came to call at his son's house, the children were ranged around the room in the most solemn manner, and not allowed to speak, for although their "gran'pa" he was still the minister, and none must be too familier; yet he always had a sweet smile and kind word for each and all.

his eldest son to "deacon" the hymns, a duty he evidently enjoyed, for when the younger ones wished to change the style of singing, for something more modern, he would not give up his position. The minister was with the younger ones. Affairs at this time became very seditious and civil war seemed imminent, had not Rev. Thomas been equal to the occasion. The climax was reached on Sunday when the new choir stationed itself in a pew below, the old choir occupying the gallery. The minister gave out the hymn, the new choir began one tune, and at the same time the old choir another, after being "deaconed" by Josiah. 3
Then the minister arose and said "Josiah, sit down." Josiah attempted to remonstrate by saying it was a vote of the parish for him to read. "I don't care if it is," says the parson. "I command here myself, by and by the clods in yonder church-yard will cover me, then you can do as you please, now I command myself, sit down." That ended the singing quarrel.

It was said, Mr. Smith had a dog who always accompanied him to church, and behaved as a pious dog should, except when the singing quarrel was at its height, when he barked furiously.

The letters of Mr. Smith, of which many are extant, written to his daughter, Mrs. Dunster, are models of a quaint and finished style. His advice to his daughter in regard to her duties as a pastor's wife, would be guide for pastor's wives of the present day to follow. 4

Pembroke, December 29, 1767

"My Dear Child:- You will accept this as a token of my permanent affection and regard for you, and take in good part the advice I give you, as you was always a dutiful and pleasant child to your parents, so I hope and may conclude you will always be dutiful, faithful and agreeable in your present station, and prove as great a blessing in it as ever woman did.

Set before you the best and brightest patterns of female virtue and economy, and among ye rest forget not the example of good old fashioned Sarah, of whom you have read and will do well to read again, as also Solomon's description of a virtuous wife.

I am highly desirous you should excel ye common rate of clergymen's wives, and shine with the strongest lustre, in ye orb appointed for you. I mean yt you should excel in gentleness, goodness and usefulness; you cannot do yourself a greater honor nor a greater pleasure than by indulging this ambition, nor can you reflect a greater honor upon your father and mother, who have had the care of your education. There is no need that I recommend hospitality - I am sensible you are no niggard, but I tell you yt all the Parishioners claim an interest in such folks as you; allow the claim; be easy of access to all; affable you may be without any low familiarities. Despise not the lowest for their foibles and infirmities, but rather pity and assist them. If you meet with rough, clownish, or otherwise ill treatment from any one, watch for an opportunity to do them a good turn; if resentment seem necessary, be sure that it proceed not too far, yea, rather refer ye matter Mr. D., who would have you so innocent, descreet and pure, that malice itself should be put to it to find anything against you. 5

P.S. Your sister, now with you, is ever to be at home before you go to bed, unless she is to lodge at an approved place.

your Father,"

In 1768 he writes:

"I am content to bear a noise and the headache at any time to gratify you or my other children, and shall think myself happy, if neither you nor they do anything to make my heart ache."

SMITH 606

John Smith 606;11-2( ),10(1),9(3),8(3) Sarah Freeman

Our history of John and Sarah is obtained from paragraph 4875 of "New Jersey Genealogy" and "The Hull Family in America - Jersey Branch" by Orra Eugene Monette. John was referred to as "one of the leading men for a period of forty years" in Middlesex County, NJ, and as a Revolutionary soldier. According to Monette:

> "The original license for the marriage of John Smith and Sarah Freeman is of record at Trenton, NJ. (NJ Archives, Vol. XXII, pages 151 and 352). It shows date Feb. 29, 1739. They are both called "of Woodbridge", he, "weaver" and she "spinster".

Sarah is identified as the daughter of John Freeman and Martha Moore. The wedding date in New Jersey Genealogy is stated to be 9 February 1729, almost certainly in error.

The will of his father-in-law was probated in 1761 before John indicating that he was a surrogate or judge. In "History of Union and Middlesex Counties, N.J." by Clayton W. Woodford, 1882, it is recorded that John signed a list of Tavern Rates as "John Smyth, Clk." and is stated to have been a clerk of the courts from 1741 or earlier, to 1755

Shubael is included in this family by Virkus. According to "Colonial Families of America", Shubael was baptized on 21 September 1729 in Huntington, Long Island, NY. He was active as a mariner in coastwise trade and, as a Loyalist, pledged allegiance to Great Britain on 8 May 1775. It appears from some records that he was "robbed and ill treated" during the War by both sides but he remained in Huntington. From 1793 to 1805, he was warden of St. John's Episcopal Church in Huntington. He and Freelove were the parents of eight children.

Mary Smith (2) 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(10),8(1) Isaiah Dunster

Susan Augusta Smith identifies Isaiah as the great grandson of Rev. Henry Dunster, first president of Harvard College and provides the following account:

> "He was settled at Harwich, Mass., in 1748. He was evidently a man of fine scholarly attainment, and in advance of his time in liberality, in religion and politics. Many of his sermons were published, and he frequently essayed poetry. Mr. Dunster married, first, May 26, 1750, Hannah Dennis, ----.
> Mr. Dunster died at Harwich, January 18, 1791. After his death his widows and daughters removed to Pembroke and built a house near the parsonage ---- Mrs. Dunster died December 23, 1796."

A brief reference on page 67 of "Simon Stone Genealogy" by J. Gardner Bartlett states that Isaiah served as the assistant to Nathaniel Stone during the final six years of the fifty-four year pastorate of Nathaniel at the new church in Harwich, now Brewster, MA. Bartlett also records that Isaiah was graduated from Harvard College in 1741 with the A.B. degree.

Nathaniel's wife, Reliance Hinckley, is Mary's cousin twice removed.

Josiah Smith 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(10),8(2) Mary Barker

Mary is identified in "A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith And His Descendants" by Susan Augusta Smith, as the daughter of Elisha Barker and Elizabeth Bowen and a second cousin to Josiah. The author's account of Josiah follows: 1 2

"Josiah was one of the solid and influential men of his time ---- During the Revolution Josiah and most of the Smith Brothers served in some capacity for their country. "That goes without saying," for was not Pembroke the first town, "in solemn town meeting assembled," to declare a protest against Britain's tyranny?

January 10, 1774, the Committee of Correspondence laid a letter before the town to know their minds at this critical and alarming period. The town thought best to choose a committee, of which Deacon Josiah Smith was one, to consider the matter, who reported for the town their approval of the action of the different colonies, and

"Resolved, that we will, at the risk of our lives and fortunes, in every justifiable method, assist and defend our just rights and pivileges as men and colonists."

In 1789 Deacon Josiah Smith represented the town. In 1802 he was sent to Congress, and while at Washington he contracted the disease from which he died April 4, 1803."

A letter addressed to his son, Elisha, while in Washington, enforces to us of the present generation the "old, old story" of "nothing new under the sun," in the desirability of influence in the matter of appointment under government. He writes: 3

"Washington, the 2 of February, 1802.

"Dear Children - Wonderful to think of, I am now more than 500 miles from old Pembroke and all that is near and Dear to me, and yet thro' the mercy of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe I do enjoy a good State of Health and Spirits; dined last Friday with the President. (Jefferson) Notwithstanding his ease and pleasantness, it is rather a burthen to me. I live well here, good and agreeable company at my Lodgings. You may aquaint Dr. Oliver that a Mr. Gray, of Virginia, quarters with me, who sends compliments to him. Gen. Varnum shew me this morning a letter from Mr. Carlton Relative to the Post Office in Salem, in which he mentions my letter to you. If I recollect right, I did not mention any names; if I did, it was to you, not to be made Public. He, Mr. Carlton, should have come forward with the Request of some of his friends of character of Salem; but to come forward by Gen. Varnum and myself, who know not the man but by Common Fame, without the support of any Person from Salem, will not do.

I write this to you in Confidence, not to be made Public. In his Letter he saith he can have support from a Number of Respectable Persons, and mentions their Names. Why does he do it?

Wishing you all Possible happiness, I remain, your affectionate Parent."

Josiah Smith"

The wife of Josiah Smith was said to have been a most estimable woman. She died November 15, 1813, and was buried in the family lot at Centre Pembroke. Her stone bears this epitaph:

"Calmly she looked on either life, and here Saw nothing to regret, or there to fear."

Joseph Smith 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(10),8(3) Lucia Wadsworth (1)
Bathsheba Torrey (2)

The following history of Joseph is quoted from "A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith And His Descendants" by Susan Augusta Smith: 1,2

"Joseph Smith, born November 22, 1740 ---- married, first, August 20, 1771, Lucia Wadsworth, ---- daughter of Dea. Peleg and Susannah Wadsworth. ---- He married, second, January 1, 1782, Bathsheba Torrey, born November 12, 1757, daughter of William and Mary (Turner) Torrey. Capt. Joseph Smith died August 11, 1811. His wife, Bathsheba ----, died January 24, 1849.

Capt. Smith began in his youth to follow the sea, and steadily progressed until the troublous times of the Revolution, when the following incident will serve to show the "stuff" he was made of. It was written by his great grandson, Willie Fisk, when a small boy of eleven or twelve. 3

"Exploit of the Sloop "Republic"

Soon after the evacuation of Boston by the British several privateers were fitted out from that city. The movement of Gen. Gage was entirely unexpected in England, and vessels were on their way to Boston loaded with clothing and supplies for his army.

The United States nation did not then exist, and the privateers received letters of marque and sailed under the Pine Tree flag of Massachusetts."

The "letter of Marque" is defined as a "license granted to a private person to fit out an armed ship to plunder the enemy". Refer also to page 1311 in Volume II. The story continues:

"One of the first of these was the sloop Republic which sailed from Nantasket, October 9, 1776. The name of the captain was John Foster Williams. The second officer was Joseph Smith, of Pembroke.

On the 22nd it took a prize of small value, which Captain Williams sent into port under command of his first officer.

On the 24th of October - lat. 42 deg. 50 min., long. 56 deg. 36 min. - the lucky privateer fell in with the transport Julius Ceaser, Capt. Uzuld, which was loaded with a valuable cargo, consisting of pork, beef, etc., bound from London to Halifax. The Julius Ceaser was larger and had more guns than the Republic; but being heavily loaded and entirely unsuspicious of an enemy, finally surrendered to the insignificant Yankee without firing a gun. Capt. Williams took Capt. Uzuld and twenty-two men on board the privateer, leaving on the Julius Ceaser two gentlemen passengers, the second mate and two hands. He then put on board the prize, Second Lieutenant Smith and fourteen men, with instructions to run into Boston if possible, and, if not, to run her ashore or burn her and take to the boats.

Off the harbor Smith was seen by a British frigate which was inshore of him, and which immediately gave chase. On seeing it he turned south, but as the frigate was the better sailer he was soon under fire.

About ten miles south of Boston, and distant two or three miles from the shore, is a dangerous ledge of rocks called the Minots, upon which a lighthouse now stands. Between the ledge and the shore is a channel deep enough for large vessels, but dangerous to those who are not well acquainted with it. Smith sailed outside the ledge with the frigate at his heels, then turned in toward the shore where the Englishman dared not follow, and then turned boldly north among the rocks, heading again for Boston. As soon as the Englishman understood the Yankee trick he also put about and made all sail for the harbor; but though Smith's route was dangerous, it was several miles the shorter, and he had the pleasure of taking his prize safely into port and making fast to "Rowe's Wharf"; and you may believe that the cargo was most welcome to General Washington.

Smith's share of the prize-money was a fortune for those days, though, being in "continental money", it soon lost much of its purchasing power. He bought a farm in Pembroke West Parish (now Hanson), where he ended his days, and where some of his descendants now live. And he had to pay a hundred dollars for a bushel of corn, and a hundred and fifty for having his horse shod.

An "old armchair", which was part of the cabin furniture of the Julius Ceaser, still remains in the family to remind its members of the brilliant piece of seamanship by which their ancestor secured the noble prize.

A word more of the plucky little Republic. The Julius Ceaser was her last prize. She was condemned as unseaworthy, and on November 16th Captain Williams was ordered to discharge her officers and seamen and dismantle the vessel ----."

"One grandson, Joseph Carver, of Bridgewater, in writing of his 4 grandmother, whom he distinctly remembers, says:

"We were very intimate friends, and I think she enjoyed talking to me of old times as well as I enjoyed listening. Her husband had impressed her very strongly with his own theological ideas, 1 which he had probably imbibed from his father and confirmed by his own experience. ---- Grandfather's religion was formed upon the ancient Persian foundation - a belief in two supernatural powers. He had lived several months in India, which country he fully believed to be under the control and government of that power which we consider the opposite of good; but of course that depends on the way we look at things. "Witness", said the judge, "did the stairs you are describing go up or down?" "Why, judge, one way they went upstairs and the other way downstairs".

"Grandma used to tell of the wonderful performances of the Indian magicians ---- which we call deception or optical delusion; but grandfather believed they were affected by the direct aid of his cloven-footed majesty.

Grandma was a devout believer in the efficacy of prayer. In the time of her parents there was a long severe drought which the prayers of the local ministers were unable to dispel, and a distant clergyman was obtained for the purpose. While he was praying a gentle shower came up, and he wanted to discontinue his petitions. The infatuated parish, however, insisted on proceeding, and the result was a freshet which destroyed property and life. Our age has broken many shackles of superstition."

11-2( ),10(13),9(10),8(9)

Nathaniel Smith 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(10),8(9) Elizabeth Wimble Bass

Our history of Nathaniel and Elizabeth is quoted from "A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith And His Descendants":

"Nathaniel Smith, born February 27, 1752, at Yarmouth, ---- married, February 27, 1806, Elizabeth Wimble Bass, born December 25, 1769, daughter of Moses Belcher Bass and Elizabeth Wimble, of Boston. Nathaniel was in the Revolutionary War, and a letter to his sister (probably Thankful) is dated "Roxbury Camp, the 8th of March, 1776," in which he describes the cannonading:

"We had a fatiguing spell since last Monday night. Saturday night we began a cannonading, and Monday night went on the hill, about two thousand and something better than three thousand teams. At three o'clock in the morning I went on, and the other half of our company there went, three thousand and five hundred riflemen and a number of artillery, which made a sight worth seeing. The cannon waring enough to split ones head, and the shells flew as thick as the stars, and we expected a Bunker Hill fight; but as soon as it was light they saw the hill covered with us, and they ceased firing, until about 12 o' the clock they gave us 10 or 12 shot which came very near; one of them broke three guns in the rank by me, another took off the skirt of a man's coat, and another broke two more guns; but they soon stopped firing and we went on with our work unmolested."

After the sister Thankful died, in 1798, for a period of eight years the two brothers Nathaniel and Edward lived much alone, with old "Peg" to attend them; but often one of the cousins would come to preside at the table. At one time, Cousin "Kit's" widow, formerly Miss Wilder, visited them; and numerous were the anecdotes she told of the brother's hospitality, when, forgetting or not realizing how long the home had been without a mistress, many dishes had been broken and not replaced, often guests would be asked to sit at table when hardly enough dishes could be found to serve them; but their hearts were just as warm and generous, and however situated all were welcome. So she covered all deficiencies by going without herself - for a Smith would never apologize.

In 1803 Capt. Nathaniel Smith was sent to the Legislature, also in 1805 and again in 1806. During these years he met Miss Elizabeth Wimble Bass. (Her) "father, Moses Belcher Bass, was a direct descendant of John Alden and Priscilla Mullins. ----". (Of her mother), "The next Christmas after the marriage of Moses B. Bass and Elizabeth Wimble the daughter Elizabeth Wimble was born, but the young mother did not live long to enjoy her little daughter. She died the next July, 1770, aged sixteen years and six months.

Moses B. Bass afterwards married ? Sprague, and their daughter, Margaret, married Elisha Smith.

It was said Capt. Smith met Miss Bass at a whist-table, and afterwards went frequently to her father's house to play cards. Evidently Hearts were trumps, for in 1806 they were married, and she came to preside at the Batchelors' Hall and revolutionize the home which had so long had men at the head of domestic affairs.

He died April 29, 1824, and after twenty-three years of widowhood, she died March 5, 1847.

Several persons who remember Mrs. Smith describe her as the most stately and handsome old lady they ever saw, and one says that with a lace turban on she was most queenly."

Edward Smith 606;11-2( ),10(13),9(10),8(10)

The reference to Edward in the history of his brother, Nathaniel, reveals that he lived with him during Nathaniel's batchelor years, at first with their sister, Thankful, tending to domestic affairs, but after her death, sharing batchelor quarters. It appears he continued to reside at the home after Nathaniel's marriage.

Susan Augusta Smith provides the rest of our history of Edward. 3

"Edward Smith, born May 16, 1756, ---- never married. Dear "Uncle Ned", as everyone called him, was one of the sweetest of men, and the delightful companion of my father's childhood. 4 He served a long term in the Revolutionary War, and many anecdotes have been handed down to us, as told by him. He was stationed most of the time during the War in New York State. He was one of the guards placed over Major Andre, at the time of his arrest, and so much sympathy did the brave young British officer inspire in his tender heart, that he used to confess he was almost tempted to release him, could it have been done honorably. He died at the old parsonage, June 25, 1826.

The following notice appeared in a Boston paper:

"Died at Pembroke, on the 25th inst., Mr. Edward Smith, in the 73rd year of his age. Mr. Smith was a man unostentatious in his manner, kind in his feelings, social in his temper and honest in his dealings. He died as he lived, a christian in profession and practice. Such men are justly appreciated in any age. "Let me die the death of the rightious, and let my last end be like his." "

(I remember as a child in North Haledon Grammer School during an early introduction to our Revolutionary War history hearing my teacher telling our class that Major Andre was such a fine gentleman that many Americans were very sad when he was sentenced to die.):WBM

ISAAC STEARNS 1210;12-2( ) MARY BARKER 2420;12-1( )

According to "Colonial Families of the United States", the name STEARNS appears to be a variation of STERNE affected in this country. From this source we find our brief history of ISAAC and MARY:

> "ISAAC STEARNS of Watertown, Massachusetts; d. 19th June,1671; came to America in 1630, in the same ship, as there is reason to believe, with Governor Winthrop, and Sir Richard Saltonstall, and settled in Watertown near Mount Auburn; he was admitted Freeman 18th May, 1631, which is the earliest date of any such admission, and he was Selectman several years; in 1647, he and Mr. Biscoe were appointed by the Selectmen, "to consider how the bridge over the river shall be built, and to agree with the workmen for doing it, according to their best discretion," that is, says Dr. Francis, in his history, "the first mention of a bridge over Charles River, at Watertown;" m. MARY _____, who d. 2d April, 1677; the birth of only three children is recorded in the town records, and it is probable that two, perhaps three, of them were b. in England."

The maiden name for MARY and her wedding year were written by hand by an unknown person in the blank space in the fourth line from the bottom of the above quotation.

ISAAC's pedigree, according to Bond, has not been ascertained, nor with certainty, his birthplace. It appears probable that he came from the Parish of Nayland, Suffolk, England, where records of the baptismal of two of his daughters have been found. 1,

Quoting directly from Bond:

> "It appears, from the appraisal of his estate, that he was in comparative affluence for those early times, considering that he had previously given respectable portions to each of his seven children; for it embraces 14 lots or parcels of land, amounting to 467 acres, with a due quantity of stock and farming utensils, provisions, and household goods."

A copy of the Inventory is on the following page:

ISAAC states in his will that "my kinsman Charles Sternes, shall have ten pounds of my estate." The relationship is not defined.

MARY STEARNS 1210;11-1(1)

Bond, in "History of Watertown", records the baptismal entry in the Parish Register of Nayland, Suffolk, England:

"Baptized Jan. 6, 1626, MARY, dau. of ISAAC STERNES"

MARY's history continues with that of her husband, ISAAC LEARNED.

STEARNS 1210

Hannah Stearns (1) 1210;12-2( ),11(2) Henry Freeman

With a variation in the spelling of the surname, the baptismal entry from the Parish Register of Nayland reads:

"Baptized Oct. 5, 1628, Anna, dau. of ISAAC STERNS."

Bond states that in the early records, Anna and Hannah "were very often used, the one for the other." He also states that according to the record, Hannah married a Samuel Freeman but adds without explanation that there is good reason to believe that it is an error. Henry is the son of Samuel Freeman and wife, Appia.

Henry married, second, Mary Sherman, and had three children. No record has been found listing any children of Henry and Hannah. He was admitted freeman, May 1645.

John Stearns 1210;12-2( ),11(3) Sarah Mixer (1)
Mary Lothrop (2) 605;12-3( ),11(1),10(4)

Bond names John one of the first settlers of Billerica, MA. Sarah is identified as the daughter of Isaac Mixer and his wife, Sarah, and sister of her husband's second wife's third husband. Mary is named as the daughter of Thomas Lothrop, the eldest son of Rev. John Lothrop, and as the sister of Bethia Lothrop who married John Hinckley. 1 2 7

After the death of John Stearns, Mary married Captain William French of Billerica by whom she had four children, the family table for whom, is on pages 2438 - 2439, Volume III. 3

Mary is a niece of ISAAC LEARNED, 1st husband of John's sister MARY. 5 6

The chart drawn on the bottom of page 2584, Volume III, shows the relationship between ISAAC and Mary.

Our brief history of John is quoted from Bond:

"John Stearns was town clerk of Billerica two years, and he was one of the Committee on the part of Billerica at the mutual agreement, in 1654, for the separation of Billerica (Shawshin) from Cambridge. In 1658, he was Constable."

Isaac Stearns 1210;12-2(4),11(4) Susannah (Sarah) Beers

Bond names Isaac's wife as Sarah, daughter of Richard Beers and wife, Elizabeth, and states that after Isaac's death she married, second, Thomas Wheeler, of Concord, on 23 July 1677. Isaac and Susannah settled in Cambridge Farms, now Lexington, MA.

The reference to Isaac in his father's will states: 1

"I give unto my son Isaac Sternes, seventy pounds, which being added to what he have had already, will be his proportion according to the rest of my children."

Samuel, referred to as Deacon, is identified by Bond as the son of Deacon Gregory Stone, of Cambridge, and states that he married, second, Abigail ? , who died in 1718 at Woburn, MA.

Isaac mentioned Sarah in his will saying: 1

"I give to my daughter Sarah Stone, forty pounds, which being added to what she formerly had, will be her proportion."

Samuel Stearns 1210;12-2( ),11(6) Hannah Manning

Hannah is identified by Bond as the eldest daughter of William Manning and his wife, Dorothy, of Cambridge, and the sister of 1
Samuel Manning, husband of her husband's sister, Elizabeth Stearns. 2

In "Colonial Families of the United States", Samuel is listed as Selectman of Watertown from 1673 to 1676, 1678 to 1679 and 1681 to 1682.

His father mentioned Samuel in his will as follows: 3

"I give to my son Samuel Sternes, seventy pounds, which being added to what I formerley gave him, will be his proportion with the rest of my children."

Bond states that John married, first, Anne Smith, daughter of John Smith, of Lancaster, where he first settled. They had two children. He soon returned to Watertown where he married, second, Abigail Stearns. John is named the son of Joseph Morse and Hester Peirce and uncle of Joseph Morse who married Grace Warren. John was admitted freeman on 15 May 1672 and was elected one of the first deacons of the second church (Angier's) on 30 June 1697. 5,4

Abigail is mentioned in her father's will: 1

"I give and bequeath to my daughter Abigail Morse, five acres of meadow, lying and being at Samuel's farm, to enjoy and possess for her and her heirs for ever, and my will is, that my daughter Abigail Morse, may take the said five acres of meadow, either next to Samuel's meadow, or next Capt. Mason's; and besides the meadow, I give to my said daughter Abigail, forty pounds, all which being added to what she have had formerly, will be her proportion.

Further, my will is, that my whole estate remain whole and unbroken for comfort and maintenance of my beloved wife, as above said, so long as she doth remain a widow - save only the five acres of meadow given to my daughter Abigail, which she is to enjoy presently."

Bond identifies Elizabeth as the daughter of John Bigelow and Mary Warren of Watertown, MA, (Mary is the sister of Daniel Warren who married Mary Barron) and Joanna as the daughter of Thomas Call, Jr., and Joanna Shepherdson, of Malden, MA, and widow of Jacob Parker. 1 2

Elizabeth is identified by William Law Learned as the sister of Sarah, wife of John's first cousin, Isaac Learned. The relationship is drawn in the chart on the following page. 3,4

John's birth is the first recorded in Billerica, MA. Hazen refers to John as Captain. Joanna was a witness in Court on 14 June 1726 and was termed a midwife. In "History of Billerica", Farmer says:

> "In this town he passed his days, ---- His long continuance in several offices, of a civil and military kind, affords a proof of the confidence reposed in him by his fellow citizens."

Samuel is referred to by Bond as "disabled, probably lunatic." In 1675, according to Bond:

"The Court ordered that Lieut. French, who had married (Samuel's) mother, should have charge of him. In April, 1722, the selectmen of Billerica presented a petition to the Court about Samuel Stearns, an impotent and discomposed person, who had been for some time taken care of by Capt. John Stearns and Isaac Stearns, 8 acres of land in the centre of the town belonging to Samuel, being in the possession of Isaac, that they (the selectmen) may have the same (land) towards his support. Feb. 24, 1702/3, Mary Mixer (Mary Lothrop) gave to her son, Samuel Stearns, 24 poles of land, a share of the estate of her first husband, John Stearns, which had been divided in Oct., 1687." 1 2 3,4 2 5

She died in Keene, NH, where she was residing with Sarah, the youngest daughter of David and herself. Ruth is the daughter of Jonathan Hubbard and Rebecca Brown.

The following quotation from Bond is evidence of the respect and affection towards David by the people of Lunenburg:

"This Monument,
Erected by the town of Lunenburg, is sacred to the memory of The Reverend David Stearns, their much beloved and respected Pastor, who departed this life in the joyful expectation of a better, on the 9th day of March, A.D., 1761
In his private capacity, he was a kind husband, a tender parent, an affectionate brother, and a faithful friend. In his ministerial character, his conversion was pure, entertaining, and instructive; his doctrines plain and scriptural, and his life truly exemplary. He was adorned with hospitality, with singular prudence, and a most endearing benevolence; with a good knowledge of men and things; with a fervent zeal for the glory of Christ, and the salvation of souls, and was governed by the united influence of these accomplishments.

Help, Lord, for the godly man ceaseth."

Mercy Jennison 1210;12-2( ),11(6),10(8),9(9) Stanton Prentice

Bond refers to Stanton as a Physician of Lancaster, MA. Stanton married, second, in Groton, MA, Rebecca Stephenson (Rebeckah Stevens) of Groton, on 5 January 1758. She married, second, Doctor Israel Atherton.

The epitaphs for Stanton and Mercy who were interred in the "Old Burial Field", Lancaster, MA, are as follows:

"In memory of Dr. Stanton Prentice, who deceased on y^{e} first of Dece^{r} Anno Domini 1769. AE ts: 58"

"In Memory of Mrs. Mercy, y^{e} wife of Dr. Stanton Prentice who Deceased on y^{e} 26 of Octob^{r}, A.D. 1756, in the 40th Year of her Age. In the character of a wife, she was kind and faithful, of a Parent, Tender, Provident & Conssientious. Of a Christian, chearful, charitable, & generous, humble, and self-denying. In her the poor have lost a Benefactress: The Sick a skillful Assistant: and her acquaintance a much regretted Friend. Her husband, he praiseth her: and her Children Rise up, and call her Blessed."

Each name prefixed by a plus sign, "+", represents a relative or spouse introduced in Volume III.

The absence of the plus sign identifies persons named in Volumes I and/or II for whom additional information and/or corrections are recorded in Volume III. For this reason, it is advisable to check the index for inclusion of any given name BEFORE seeking that name in Volumes I and/or II.

Otherwise, the DESCRIPTION OF INDEX OF ANCESTORS AND RELATIVES as presented on page 1752 of Volume II applies equally to the index of Volume III.
